

REVERE MEMORY OF MACEO

Negro Patriot said to Hold the Chief Place in the Hearts of Cuban Masses.

Graves in the cemetery of Santiago de Cuba are family affairs, built of cement and set with "stones" here, so that the coffin may see one above the other as their time comes, in perfect chronological order, writes Harry A. Franck in the Century.

Over the top, commonly a hate three or four feet above the grass, is laid a huge stone slab, preferably of marble, with immense brass or nickel rings at each corner by which to lift it and space on its top for a poetic epitaph to each succeeding occupant. As in all Spanish countries, the tombs of all but the wealthiest inmates are rented for a term of years, at the end of which time, if the descendants fail to renew the contract, the bodies are tossed into a common graveyard, to make room for those of greater memory.

Martí, the Cuban "Father of Liberty," is buried here, and Estrada Palma, promoted from humble pedagogue in an American school to first president of Cuba. But neither holds the chief place in the heart of the Cuban masses. That is reserved for Maceo, the negro general killed just before the dawn of independence during a foolhardy scouting expedition in the woods of Cabaiguán, in company with a bare half-dozen soldiers.

HAS SUPERB WATER POWER

That of British Columbia is Said to Equal Five Niagaras in its Possibilities.

The potential water power of British Columbia, experts declare, is equal to that of five Niagaras. Pouring down from the mountains comes enough water to develop 3,000,000 horse-power. Niagara falls, when all the water that is available on the Canadian side has been harnessed will produce only 650,000 horse power.

Only 127,000 electric horse power is now developed by the plants supplying Vancouver, New Westminster and the towns in the vicinity. This power turns the wheels of mills and factories, propels the street cars of these cities and provides lights for the streets and homes. If the entire wealth of British Columbia in water power were harnessed it would be sufficient to provide power, light and heat for 40 cities the size of Vancouver and New Brunswick combined. With this cheap power available, economists predict that some day the province will become one of the greatest manufacturing centers of Canada.

"MADE GOOD" WITH CAMERA

Kermitt Roosevelt's Photographs, Taken in Africa, Are Looked on as Masterpieces.

In 1900, when the Roosevelt expedition went to Africa on the greatest of all safaris, by the dropping out of the professional photographer, Kermitt Roosevelt suddenly was thrust into the position of official photographer to the expedition. I viewed this arrangement with many misgivings—because it was a task for maturity and long experience—but the young man made good. He made good 100 per cent, not only with the big game rifle, but in wild animal photography as well.

Mr. Kermitt's masterpiece is his best picture of a whole herd of elephants in a high but rather open forest. William Hornaday writes in Scribner's: "The light was none too good, but fortunately it was good enough. This real achievement was scored from a perch on a low limb of a tree, conveniently placed to drop the intervening brush out of view. Five tuskers appear in the front line, and the elephants are massed together in the composition as neatly and perfectly as if the hand of man had grouped them to get all the flankers into the picture."

Col. Theodore Roosevelt was very proud of this picture, and so were the editors of Scribner's magazine and the "African Game Trail" book.

Dorothy Gish in "Boots" At Star Theater Sunday

If you were a slave in a London boarding house, and your job was to take orders from every one who had lodged there, and if one of the boarders ordered you to feed her pet mice, and you did, and one of them got out of the cage, and ran right at you—! Well, now, just what would you do?

That is the situation that confronted Dorothy Gish when "Boots" her newest Paramount picture, which will be shown at the Star theater next Sunday was being made at the Hollywood, Calif., studios. And to make matters much worse, Miss Gish knew that the horrible camera was being turned every second and that all the attempts she might make to get away from that mouse would be indelibly registered on the film.

That had not been arranged for in the story, and it wasn't quite fair. Of course, she didn't think that all out during the moments when she was threatened by this tiny rodent running around loose on the stage, because she was trying to listen to Elmer Clifton, her director, and at the same time save herself from the ferocious beast that insisted on getting right under her feet every time it had the opportunity.

There were tables and chairs and other things in the room and Dorothy made good use of them. The mice, by the way, have a lot to do with the story, and when the scene was finished Miss Gish consented to go through a little more of the ordeal in order to have the whole thing in the picture. Miss Gish is splendidly supported in this photoplay.

U. S. DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE CROP REPORT

The total United States wheat crop for 1920, based on August 1, condition, is estimated at 794,147,000 bushels, compared with the final 1919 estimate of 941,000,000.

Oats: July weather conditions were favorable for the development of the oat crop, and the August 1 condition figure as reported by field aids, (96 per cent) indicates an average per acre yield for the state of about 41.0 bushels. With an estimated oat acreage of 350,000 the 1920 crop should amount to about 14,350,000 bushels. While very little threshing has so far been done, the heads are well formed and well filled and the prospect is very promising. Cutting is practically finished, except of some late sown fields. The 1919 Oregon oat crop was estimated at 11,194,000 bushels.

The United States oat crop for 1920 is now estimated at 1,402,000,000 bushels as compared with the 1919 estimate of 1,322,000,000 bushels.

Harvesting the Crop.

When the German Army broke into Belgium and swept through the country one detachment was billeted in a farm house. A private, wandering through the fields, came upon a young girl sowing seeds.

"Yah!" he sneered. "You shall sow, but we shall reap." "I shouldn't be at all surprised," she replied sweetly. "You see, I'm sowing hemp."—American Legion Weekly.

Splendid Musical Revue Coming.

Crist and Costa's delightful musical revue, "The Dancing Kewpie Dolls" will be the offering at the Star theater Saturday. This company is a departure from the ordinary run of musical shows that have been touring in these parts and their offering is the odds and ends from all the principal musical comedy production now appearing in New York City and is the same calibre of acts that are featured over the Orpheum Circuit and the Pantages' as well. The principal players who are appearing with the "Dancing Kewpie Dolls" are such well known and versatile entertainers as Merrill La Velle, Albert McDonald, Misses Lillian Leslie and Dorothy De Vere. The company carries a most sumptuous production and the costumes are all of the latest design and lend class to their offering as well.

There is much fun and laughter throughout the entertainment with comical situations that cause no end of laughter and the song numbers are all direct from the big shows and are new and catchy. "The Dancing Kewpie Dolls Revue" is entertainment worth while and is playing to full capacity houses in every city which it has visited this season, and this rule should also prevail here.

Returns From Portland.

Mrs. L. G. Herren has just returned from Portland, where she went some two weeks ago to take the finishing work in the Gossard School of Corsetry.

This school is an innovation in that it accepts only women who have had practical experience, and who are ready to take the finishing work.

The Gossard School of Corsetry is the oldest and foremost institution of its kind in the United States, and its graduates are accepted as expert authority in modern hygienic corsetry. The women of Heppner may well deem it a privilege to have the services of Mrs. Herren at their disposal.

Would Come to Heppner for Flights.

Postmaster Richardson received an inquiry by telegraph yesterday asking him if it would pay to bring a passenger carrying airplane to Heppner, how long since such a machine had been here, and how about a landing field and gasoline. The inquiry comes from the Webfoot Aircraft Co. of Salem. Mr. Richardson replied that it had been about a year since such a craft was in Heppner, that he did not think it would pay to bring a machine here now. We have plenty of gasoline and the landing field is about two miles from town on the hills.

Just what the company will decide to do after getting Mr. Richardson's reply, remains to be seen.

Hart Wastes Time Avers Cowpuncher

An old puncher, grizzled and gaunt, drifted into the set at the Hollywood ranch of William S. Hart, where he was working on "The Money Corral" an extraordinarily thrilling Artcraft Western drama which will be shown at the Star theater next Friday. The puncher watched Bill shooting and doing other stunts for a while and then shook his head.

"That feller's wastin' his time in pictures," he averred. "But he makes more money than he could punching cattle," suggested a cowboy.

"Don't you like his pictures?" "Sure I like 'em. But after all— they're pictures. Now up at the Bar Q ranch they need men like him. I wish he'd come up there a spell and try his hand at the real thing."

And they couldn't convince the old chap he was not entirely right. Jane Novak is Mr. Hart's leading woman in his new photoplay.

Mrs. Lulu Johnson, formerly of this city, is now filling the position of county nurse under the auspices of the Red Cross and Tuberculosis Association, for Wallowa county, having entered upon her duties the first of this month. Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left Heppner for Wallowa county some two months ago, Mrs. Johnson being sent there by the association to take charge of this work. Arrangements are being made which will assure her of a permanent position in this work in Wallowa county, and for which she is well qualified.

The editor of this paper enjoyed a very pleasant visit with our old-time friend, Green Mathews, on Saturday last while coming up on the train from Ione. Mr. Mathews, accompanied by his son, Earl, was on the way to Boise to look after some business affairs, and meeting with car trouble was compelled to lay over at Heppner for a few days. He now resides in Portland, having lately closed up his sheep business in Idaho at a good profit. Mr. Mathews and family left Heppner 21 years ago and went to Idaho.

M. R. Morgan has offered to donate to the Ione school district sufficient ground adjoining the Ione high school building for the erection of two or more residences for the accommodation of the teachers in our school. There is a crying need for suitable facilities for them and if the school board sees fit to accept this offer and comply with its terms it will prove a great boon to the teachers and should be a good investment for the district.—Ione Independent.
