REPUBLICAN VICTORY PROVES LANDSLIDE

Results Show Country Tired of Wilsonism—Solemn Referendum Shows Peoples' Stand on League of Nations Issue.

Warren G. Harding, United States Senator from Ohio, and Calvin Coolidge, Governor of the state of Massachusetts, were elected President and Vice-President, respectively, of the United States, in the election held on Tuesday, November 2.

The result of the election was not long in doubt. Early returns were so strong for Harding that there was no room left for doubt, and before midnight the Democratic headquarters had conceded the election of Senator Harding.

As Mark Sullivan says in his summary of the result, it was never in the cards for Cox to win. "The Des Moines speech of Senator Harding, the race issue where it appeared locally, and the last hour return of a portion of the Irish vote to the democratic fold, all these were mere ripples made by the light breeze on the surface, and it did not set back the tremendous and cumulative force of disapproval of Wilsonism and the democratic administration which began in November, 1918, and has been steadily increasing ever since.

The republicans held one card, which was not only a trump, but was ace, joker and half a dozen other cards combined. That card was resentment against Wilson, a belief that the democrats have mismanaged various aspects of the government connected with the administration.

The republicans could sit still, hold tight to that card and let Cox do his best.

As a matter of fact, of course, the republicans did not only do this, but conducted an extremely intelligent campaign. But that card alone was enough to prevent Cox from winning. It would be futile at so early a moment to attempt any generalizations. But a few things are clear. Among these the clearest is that Senator Harding's instinctive feeling about the league of nations as about the other issues of the campaign show him to be completely sympathetic to the common feelings of the average man on these subjects. A large part of the democratic campaign and especially a large part of the arguments of friends of the league of nations have been based on the assumption that Senator Harding chose his position on the league as a matter of intelligent artfulness and as a matter of political expediency. There is not enough art in Senator Harding's personality to do this. What he did was merely to take the position that was instinctive to him personally and it turned out that what he felt was the normal feeling of the average man. In his heart and in public addresses Senator Harding's greatest emphasis was not laid on the league of nations. It was laid on disapproval of what he called the autocratic government of President Wilson. It was a plea for a return of accustomed forms of government. That probably was the plea that went farthest to make him kin to the average man.

Within the first hour after the polls closed returns began to verify the expectation that it was decidedly the kind of election in which the tail goes with the hide. When there is such a drift as this it sweeps on and on. The republicans will control the president, the senate and the house. During the BOY GETS LEG BROKEN.

Roy Barlow, a young son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Barlow of McKinney creek, suffered a broken leg while at play at school on last Thursday. He and another lad collided with sufficient force to cause Roy's left leg to be broken between the knee and ankle. He was immediately brought to town and Dr. Chick being called found that both bones were broken. Proper surgical aid was rendered and the lad is now doing well at the home of his brother, Chas. Barlow in this city.

Lawyer Takes Position Here.

A. J. Fritz of Portland has taken a position in the law office of P. A. McMenamin in this city, to help handle the latter's increasing law business. Mr. Fritz is a graduate of the University of Indiana and practiced law for two years in that state. He was in the service for two years and since returning from overseas has been in the employ of the Portland Title & Trust Co. in their title examining department.

House Is Sheriff of Umatilla.

Reports from Umatilla county indicate that Zoe Houser has been elected sheriff of Umatilla county, defeating Jinks Taylor, brother of the late sheriff. Til Taylor, by about three hundred votes. All other candidates elected were republican with the exception of W. W. Green, who was returned as school superintendent.

Ladies of the Guild Will Meet.

There will be a meeting of the ladies of the Edgemoor Guild at the home of Mrs. A. L. Ayers on Thursday, November 11, at 2 p. m. All members and friends are invited to attend.

Baker Is Still Portland's Mayor.

George L. Baker will continue as mayor of Portland as the result of Tuesday's election. Returns indicate that Mayor Baker has been returned to office with a large majority.

C. C. Clark of Arlington president of the board of directors of the John Day Irrigation District, was in Heppner on Tuesday to attend a meeting of the board.

Nat and Paul Wells are down from Walla Walla this week, looking after business interests in Morrow county.

HOTEL IS LEASED BY FOLEY OF THE DALLES

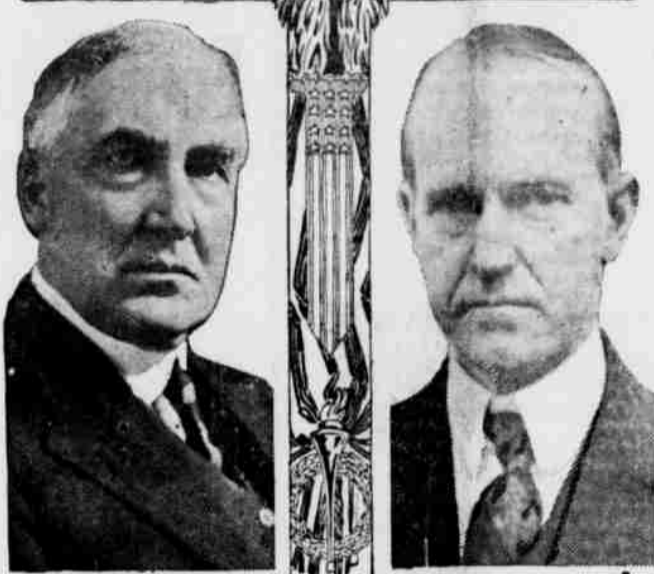

Directors Came to Satisfactory Agreement With Hotel Man and Local Hospitality Will be Opened to the Public in Near Future.

Heppner's new $100,000 hotel will soon be opened to the public, according to a statement given out today by C. L. Sweech, secretary of the Heppner Hotel Association, for an agreement has been reached between the board of directors and Pat Foley, a well known hotel man of The Dalles and La Grande.

Mr. Foley is a man of many years experience in the hotel business and operates two large hotels, the Foley at La Grande and the Hotel Dalles at The Dalles. He expects to have the hotel in this city open just as soon as furniture can be installed which will be in the very near future.

The new administration they will name four justices of the supreme court. The course of the country for a measurable period of its history will be colored by this republican victory.

LATE ELECTION RETURNS FAVOR STANFIELD

Late election returns received by The Gazette-Times from Portland show that Robert N. Stanfield has a lead of 12,000 over George E. Chamberlain for United States Senator. Republican headquarters in Portland believe that the total will be swelled to 15,000 when all precincts in the state have been heard from.

Warren G. Harding has been elected by the largest popular vote ever given a candidate for president. He carried the state of New York by more than a million votes and his strength carried into office Nathan Miller, republican, who will succeed Gov. Smith in New York.

LEGION BOYS WILL CELEBRATE ARMISTICE

Heppner Post No. 78 Preparing to Put on Several Stunts.—Japsan-Costello Benefit Match Will be a Feature.

Back to the Argonne. Back to the days of St. Michel and Belleau Wood. Back to the days when "Over There" and like songs were on the lips of the multitude. And back to the day when the big fight was over and the Germans signed the Armistice when they were about due for the worst licking of their lives. It will all be brought back vividly when doughboys sailors and marines of the late war will gather in Heppner to celebrate Armistice Day.

The local post of the American Legion has taken charge of the affair, so there is no room for doubt. The celebration will be one of the big successes. A feature of the Day will be the benefit wrestling match at the Star Theater between Nels Jepson the Canadian middleweight champion and Joe Costello, the undisputed middleweight champion of the Atlantic coast.

This match will start at the Star Theater. It will be preceded by a big football game at the Depot grounds between the teams of Heppner and Fossil high schools. These teams met at Fossil a short time ago and Heppner was victorious. There may be a different tale to tell this time, but in any event it gives promise of being an exciting contest and should draw a record breaking crowd.

In the evening there will be plenty of entertainment with a dance at the Fair pavilion where those in charge say every taste will be satisfied with refreshments of nearly every sort and every minute will be filled with sixty seconds of jazz and fun.

Birthday Party at Nell White Home.

Mrs. Nell White entertained for her son, Neil Vivian White at the White home five miles north of Lexington, on October 28. The affair was given in honor of Neil Vivian's second birthday. The party was from three p. m. until after dark and the house was tastefully decorated in pink and white with white chrysanthemums. At luncheon, the same color scheme was used. The rooms were darkened and Jack O' lanterns lighted, giving a true Halloween effect. Mrs. M. F. Parker and Miss Zola Leach sang and Miss Leona Leach played the piano. Master Neil Vivian was the recipient of many presents.

Those present were Mrs. J. A. Aurburn and son, Mrs. Louise Marquardt, Mrs. Minnie Leach McMillan and daughters Leona and Zola; Mrs. E. Thompson, Mrs. J. M. White and Mae Gentry; Mrs. Millard F. Parker, Mrs. George White, Mrs. George Peck and son Kenneth; Mrs. E. R. Fredericksen and children; Mrs. E. L. Christensen and children; Mrs. Clark Davis and son Clayton, Mrs. G. M. Allyn and son Melvin Lyle; Mrs. Harry Duval and children, Wiford and Erma; Mrs. Jim Ritchie, Mrs. W. G. Scott and Cecil and Vernon; Mrs. J. J. McManis and children, James and William; Mrs. Claude Devine and children, Earl and Lois Olive; Mrs. John McMillan and son Lester Maurice.

PATRON-TEACHERS NEXT TUESDAY.

The November meeting of the Patron-Teacher Association will be held in the high school auditorium Tuesday, Nov. 9, at 2:30.

Children of the first grade will represent books, a musical drill will be put on by the second and third grades. Elinor Cohn will give a reading, and Mrs. George Thomson will give a talk on good books for children's reading. There will be gift books on exhibit from the State Library and book lists will be distributed.

Everyone is invited to come and help with the plans for the betterment of the school and community.

R. N. STANFIELD

United States Senator Elect of Oregon.

Ed Rietmann came up from Ione Tuesday to attend a directors' meeting of the John Day Irrigation District.

Elmer Griffiths, who helps keep the peace down Ione way, was in the city attending to court matters today.

Ed Miller and Milt Morgan, prominent Ione citizens, were Thursday business visitors in Heppner.

L. P. Davidson, county commissioner elect, was a Thursday business visitor in Heppner.

Mr. and Mrs. John McFerrin have been visiting with relatives and friends in Heppner and Lexington during the past two weeks. Mrs. McFerrin is the mother of Carol Morrison, bookkeeper in the First National Bank, and of Mrs. W. O. Hill of Lexington.

Henry Stender, extensive wheat raiser of the Ione section, has become the owner of residence property in Heppner, having purchased the home place of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Dinns in this city. The deal was closed up on Saturday and Mr. and Mrs. Dinns departed on Sunday for Corvallis, where they have purchased property and will make their future home. Mr. Stender does not expect to move to Heppner until later and has rented the property.

Dick Johns was called to his old home in Grant county last week on account of the serious illness of his father.

Miss Gwendolyn Darbee, who is a student at the Washington high school in Portland, spent a few days the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Darbee of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eubanks of the Lexington country are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine daughter, born to them at the Moore hospital in this city recently. Dr. Chick reports mother and daughter as doing well.

J. J. Wells, county assessor, will leave Sunday for Salem, where he will attend a meeting of the state tax board, where officials and tax payers will meet to consider county ratios for basing state and public service corporation taxes for next year, and all sides of the problem will be presented.

Ed Buckman is busy this week in making a change in the stairway leading to the basement of the Masonic building at the rear end. It is hoped that when the new wall is put in the water that comes down through the alley way between the Gilman building and the Masonic structure will be kept out of the basement. It has proven a great nuisance in the past.

Three furnished housekeeping rooms for rent. Inquire The Gazette-Times. The home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Valentine, six miles below Heppner on the Willing creek road, was the scene of a most enjoyable affair last Saturday evening when they were host and hostess to a large number of their friends from Heppner and neighbors nearby. The evening was spent in having a social good time and a big spread prepared by Mrs. Valentine was the feature of the evening.

HEAVY VOTE IS CAST IN MORROW COUNTY

Victory for All Republican Candidates in County Is Overwhelming—Stanfield Leads Chamberlain by Nearly 400.

The November 2 election found Morrow county voters going to the polls in heavy numbers. Probably the highest percentage in the history of the county was reached when 1732 out of the 2189 registered voters in the county cast their votes Tuesday.

While there were but two contests in the county for county offices neither was close enough to arouse interest. L. P. Davidson has been elected county commissioner to succeed E. L. Padberg. Mr. Padberg was his opponent in the election but neither made a campaign, and Mr. Padberg came into the race at a late hour as a result of a number of friends petitioning his name for the ballot.

George McDuffee beat C. B. Sperry for sheriff by a final total count of 1071 to 540. In the other county offices there was no contest. J. A. Waters, county clerk and candidate for reelection, polled the largest vote of any candidate, receiving 1465 votes.

Senator Harding received a total of 1188 votes in Morrow county as against 455 votes for Governor Cox, thus giving him a lead here of 733 votes.

Robert N. Stanfield has the lead over George E. Chamberlain in this county for United States Senator by 151, as the final count stands Stanfield 1019, and Chamberlain 629.

In the city election Oscar Borg was elected mayor with M. D. Clark, L. E. Blisbee and Chas. Thomson as councilmen. Thos. Hughes, present incumbent, defeated Alex Cornett for recorder in a fairly close race. L. W. Briggs was elected treasurer, a position which he has held for the last several years.

Miss Gwendolyn Darbee, who is a student at the Washington high school in Portland, spent a few days the past week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Darbee of this city.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Eubanks of the Lexington country are rejoicing over the arrival of a fine daughter, born to them at the Moore hospital in this city recently. Dr. Chick reports mother and daughter as doing well.
