The Charge of "Crookedness" and the Newberry Case.

The New York World, lamenting the Supreme Court decision which dashes Henry Ford's hopes of a seat in the Senate, says the Constitution does not prohibit a millionaire from buying a seat in the Senate if his money operates through a primary election. Senator Newberry was not convicted of "buying" a nomination, or corruptly using his money in a primary,—only of having had used in his behalf, in organization and advertising more than a certain stipulated amount. In the opinion of the World a man may own a newspaper and use a million dollars' worth of its space against a candidate without committing an offense but if the candidate thus assaulted, should buy more than ten thousand dollars' worth of advertising space to reply to the attacks he thereby becomes a criminal. He may use a federal machine, as President Wilson did in behalf of Ford, and let the people foot the bills, or he may use a sales organization, as Ford did, in behalf of the Ford candidacy, and that is virtue, but if the friends of the opposing candidate spend a small fraction of the amount necessary to perfect such an organization at their own expense, that is vice. The contention is hypocritical to the nth degree of contemptibility. It may be added that every state in the Union has common law and statute law enough to punish any man who buys a vote or conspires to corrupt a primary, and many of the states have statutes which regulate every phase of a primary. Any state may have additional laws on the subject whenever it chooses to enact them.

Nothing in the Michigan case was shown to be crooked except the effort to make Henry Ford the candidate of a party to every policy and principal of which he was opposed. He was asked to enter a Republican primary by a Democratic President, in order that by the crooked participation of non-Republicans a non-Republican candidate might be foisted on the Republican party. The effort was made to defeat the Republican cause by the supervision of Republican machinery, under a fool law which permits the voters of opposition parties to control the primaries of the organization they wish to defeat.—National Republican.

Jury Service for Women.

Among the five bills up for a vote at the June 7th election the most vital is one to permit women to serve as jurors.

Two outstanding features of jury trials by all-men juries is that almost no women are ever convicted of anything, and men do not convict each other for sex crimes.

The law provides that any woman drawn for jury service may be excused on her own request and that in criminal actions where the complaining witness or the defendant is a minor under 18, half the jury shall be women.

From the standpoint of human rights and moral responsibilities the woman juror bill is the most important one on the ballot and should receive earnest consideration.

Slats' Diary.

By ROSS FARQUHAR.

Friday—I was a tawking to Jane about when I get big enuff to go to call up on her & take her to the moving pitcher show. She jus kinda laffed & sed to me What wood you say if you was to come to are dore & nock at it & my mother wood go to the dore. I replied & sed I wood lift up my hat & say Good evening. Then she sed Suppose my father wood cum to the dore what wood you say. I sed I wood grab my hat & say Good nite.

Saturday—I herd a person say that sum thing made three mouths water I ast pa wat did they mean by saying there mouths watered & he sed Thats all they is for mouths to do since the Steenth amendment.

Home Transformations

That you can make yourself with paint, varnish or enamel

WE have established a service for women and men who want to do small jobs of interior painting, varnishing or refinishing of furniture, floors, bath rooms, walls, and bric-a-brac.

It's a free service. You simply tell us what you have to refinish, how finished now and what effect you want to get.

We tell you how to do it—in detail. What kind of material to use. What kind of brush. What method. Where to buy.

You can work transformations in home things that will surprise you. Old bedsteads, tables, chairs, woodwork, floors, bath tubs, etc. are old really, only on the surface. Paint, varnish or enamel them, and—they're new!

We make a special line of paints, varnishes, etc., for just this kind of home work—Fuller's "Home Service" Paint Products,—for you to use.

They dry perfectly, spread easily and smoothly, and give every desired result. You'll be surprised to learn what you can do—once you've used them.

THINK what would happen if the Light and Power Company which supplies your community with electricity suddenly ceased to operate! The motor-driven machinery in busy factories would come to a standstill. The many little power-driven contrivances which add to the convenience of your shop or home would be useless. Even the lights by which you work and play would be snuffed out.

Yet the great service rendered by the Light and Power Company is too often forgotten. It has become so much a part of our everyday life that it is taken for granted. Only on the rare occasions when something goes wrong does the Light and Power Company receive even a passing thought; and that thought is perforce a damning one.

In the light of actual facts, the Light and Power Company takes on an entirely different aspect. Its welfare and the welfare of the community as a whole are one and inseparable. The extent and character of the service it renders influences to a considerable degree the establishment of new industries. And the more widely that service is used, the cleaner and brighter the community will become, for electrical power is clean power.—Literary Digest. PAID ADV.
