

LOCAL HAPPENINGS

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Huebner, of Sand Hollow, were visitors in the city on Saturday.

J. W. Osborn, prominent farmer of Cecil, was a visitor in Heppner over last Friday night.

Tex McKinney, who makes his home near Salem, is in Heppner looking after business interests. He was formerly engaged in farming in this county and is now a retired capitalist of the capital city.

E. E. Edwards and wife are up from their home near Hillsboro and expect to spend the harvest season in this county. Mr. Edwards has secured a position with Snider and Ferguson of Blackhorse.

Clair Hopper drove in from Heppner Saturday evening and spent Sunday here and took in the ball game. Mr. Hopper makes his home in Heppner where he recently bought a tire shop.—Cotton Globe-Times.

Mr. Inall E. Harrison and Miss Grace Robinson, young people of Monument, were married at the parsonage of the Federated church in this city on Thursday, June 26. Rev. E. L. Moore, pastor of the church officiating.

The H. W. Collins Grain company of Pendleton is negotiating for the purchase of the warehouse at McNabb belonging to the Wilson Siding Grain Elevator company. It is thought the deal will be closed in a few days.—Jones Independent.

Frank Swaggart, who ranches out in the Lena country, was in the city yesterday. He is getting ready for harvest, his rice crop being in shape now to cut, and in about a couple of weeks he will tackle his wheat crop, which, he states, will make a very fine yield.

Dwight Misner brought in the first new wheat last Monday. It was hardly a fair sample, though it weighed 60 1/2 pounds to the bushel and was remarkably clean. He started harvesting in earnest Tuesday morning with two combines and two five speed trucks hauling the grain to the warehouse as fast as it comes from the machines. Misner will have his 2100-acre crop harvested and housed before some of his neighbors get started.—Jones Independent.

Henry Stender was up from his wheat farm out north of Jone on Tuesday. He is getting ready for the cutting on his grain and harvest will be on in earnest at the Stender ranch within a very few days. So far Mr. Stender has not been able to get hold of the required number of hands though there seems to be plenty of men out of work.

W. H. Cronk arrived home on Saturday evening from Portland and will be here for a short time looking after business affairs. He was accompanied by Mrs. Cronk who has been with him for the past two months. Mr. Cronk, who has been in a sanitarium at Portland for the past six months, is now greatly improved in health and should be able to resume his duties as manager of the Heppner branch for the Tum-A-Lum Lumber company. The many friends of Mr. Cronk here are pleased to note his improvement in health.

According to a report in the Cotton Globe-Times, J. B. Sparks had a narrow escape from death when his car plunged over a bank not far from Madras and turned turtle, plunging him under the machine, which caught fire. Another car was just behind Sparks and he was immediately rescued, but not until he had suffered severe burns on hands, arms and legs. He was taken to a Portland hospital to be treated for his injuries, which were found to not be very serious. The car he was driving belonged to Sam Ganger and the steering gear was evidently in bad shape.

Jim Ferrier, of Ritzville, Wash., made a short visit with old friends in this section while passing through the city last week. He was formerly located on Rhea creek where he owned a place of land. Some 34 years ago he left Morrow county, going up to the Ritzville country where he purchased land and was engaged in the horse business for a number of years, finally getting into the wheat raising game. He is now retired and enjoying some of the fruits of his labor. While here Mr. Ferrier made a visit out to Rhea creek, stopping over night with his old friend and neighbor, Henry Gay, and together they called up many old time reminiscences. Mr. Ferrier had been spending the winter at Los Angeles and was on his return to his home at Ritzville.

"Crops in eastern Oregon are in better condition now than they have been for years, and the people are looking forward to good times," reports Mrs. Pauline Quaid, who has returned from a month's business trip to Heppner. Mrs. Quaid has extensive holdings in eastern Oregon. "This hay is coming along fine," she says, "and prices are going to be low because of the big crop which will result from the heavy rains this spring. The sheep are in very good condition and, although the price of wool is low, selling at 19 cents, the people appear to be making the best of it. Farm labor is low compared with what it has been in the past few years. The laborers are receiving from $2 to $2.50 a day." During her stay in Heppner Mrs. Quaid leased 4600 acres to Frank Monahan for three years. She also bought a small farm for herself.—Oregonian.

The beautiful $100,000 home of Louis Simpson at Shore Acres, near North Bend in Coos county, was destroyed by fire early Sunday morning, and the occupants were barely given time to escape. Mr. Simpson was at home at the time, as was also his brother, Edgar Simpson. The origin of the fire is unknown. This was a very beautiful home and contained a number of very valuable paintings and many family heirlooms that can never be replaced. During the summer of 1918, when the State Editorial association met at Coos Bay, the delegates were entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Simpson at beautiful Shore Acres and all the members of the association from over the state who were present on this occasion will be prieved to learn of the destruction of the handsome country home of Louis Simpson.

FEDERATED CHURCH. Regular services as usual on next Sunday. In the morning at 9:45 the Sunday school will meet, and there is is a case for each member of the family. At 11:00 o'clock, regular preaching services. Union service in evening at Fair grounds. A welcome awaits you at all these services. E. L. MOORE, Pastor.

THINK what would happen if the Light and Power Company which supplies your community with electricity suddenly ceased to operate! The motor-driven machinery in busy factories would come to a standstill. The many little power-driven contrivances which add to the convenience of your shop or home would be useless. Even the lights by which you work and play would be snuffed out.

Yet the great service rendered by the Light and Power Company is too often forgotten. It has become so much a part of our everyday life that it is taken for granted. Only on the rare occasions when something goes wrong does the Light and Power Company receive even a passing thought; and that thought is perforce a damning one.

In the light of actual facts, the Light and Power Company takes on an entirely different aspect. Its welfare and the welfare of the community as a whole are one and inseparable. The extent and character of the service it renders influences to a considerable degree the establishment of new industries. And the more widely that service is used, the cleaner and brighter the community will become, for electrical power is clean power.—Literary Digest. PAID ADV.

RED CROWN GASOLINE

The Gasoline of Quality

THE remarkable engineering skill which built the Columbia River Highway opened a veritable paradise for motorists.

This highway follows the Columbia River from the Pacific Ocean—near Astoria—as far east as The Dalles, and leads the tourist through a country of indescribable scenic interest—high waterfalls, huge rocks, picturesque woods—an ideal vacation land for the motorist who appreciates nature at its best.

And on your travels along the Columbia River Highway you can always get "Red Crown," the gasoline of quality—an all-refinery gasoline with a continuous chain of boiling points.

Look for the Red Crown sign before you fill.
