Boys and Girls Clubs Will Show Livestock

Substantial Prizes Offered by Pacific International Livestock Exposition

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Aug. 15.—Awards and expense money totaling $2100 will be distributed among boys and girls who take part in the club exhibits and judging contests at the Pacific International livestock exposition, November 6 to 13, in Portland. The premium list was prepared by O. M. Plummer, manager of the show.

The exposition management is providing the money, to be divided into parts of $1350 for awards money, and $750 for expense money for stock judging teams. Amounts of $200 will be divided into prizes for each of the three leading dairy breeds—Jersey, Holstein and Guernsey, and a beef breed, $100 for each of the four leading hog breeds—Poland China, Duroc Jersey, Berkshire, and Chester White, and $150 for sheep exhibits.

These contests and exhibits are open to club members from all states, who are enrolled in a club and who have carried on a project in accordance with club rules. No entrance fee will be charged and free pens for club members' animals will be furnished.

Traveling expenses up to $500 will be prorated among teams taking part in the stock judging contest. Only one team from each county, to be chosen as the county club leader or county agent sees fit, will be allowed to take part. Rating in the contest will have no bearing on the amount received. Medals will be the awards. The team taking first will get the O. M. Plummer prize of a free trip to the junior summer session of the college. Sleeping quarters and meals will be provided for the teams.

ing under the sun makes you do but human kindness. Courtesy springs from the heart; if the mind prompts the action, there is a reason; if there is a reason, it is not courtesy, for courtesy has no reason. Courtesy is good-will, and good-will is prompted by the heart full of love to be kind.

Only a generous man is truly courteous. He gives freely without a thought of receiving anything in return. The generous man has developed kindness to such an extent that

The mail order house never has a bargain—not for you, anyway. If there are bargains occasionally, the thousands of employees of the mail order concerns get them, they or their friends. Trade at home.

Your own home town merchant frequently has bargains and tells you about them through the paper, you read.

The mail order house that receives your order doesn't know you from Adam and doesn't care.

The home town merchant knows you as a neighbor and he cares. He cares enough for you and your trade that he goes to the trouble and expense of telling you about his goods and his bargains. He cares enough

SMILE AWHILE

SAFETY FIRST.

It was a pleasant enough house in its way, but the daughters were not famed for their beauty, and their matrimonial prospects seemed remote. Still there was one young man, supposed to partake largely of the "Johnny" species, who it was thought might be brought up to the scratch.

With this view the dowager asked him sweetly one afternoon: "And now Charlie, dear, I must really ask you what your intentions are?"

I'VE MOVED TO TOWN!

When a feller sells off his farmin' truck, and goes to live in town, he's actin' on the impulse that it's time to settle down. . . . The children's all growed up, you know, an' Mother needs a rest.—The farm ain't what it used to be—perhaps the change is best. . . . But still, there's little by-thoughts, which it seems is bound to come. . . . The painted cracker-box in town, don't seem to me like home! There ain't no mantel on the wall, nor fireplace anywheres. . . . The livin'-room is cluttered up with little, dinky cheers. . . . And then we've got a foldin' bed, that's built to set on end—I may be its companion, but I'll never be its friend! And then, it seems so lonesome, without any chores; the only bird I know of, is my neighbor, when he snores. . . . I want to tend a sow-an-pigs; I want to gill a snake! I want to hear my rooster crow of mornin's when I wake. . . . I'd feel a lot contenteder among the apple trees, than tryin' to squeeze myself, to fit apartments such as these. . . . But I must try to hold the pill—that I have swallowed down,—an' try to act like other's that's retired, moved to town!

From Uncle John.

'Father,' he groaned, 'we've been stung. Them ain't gold. They wouldn't stand the acid.'—Washington Star.

—DANGER AHEAD.

Speaking of white mule, two rustic sports were uncertainly flivvering their way home from the county seat.

"Bill," said Henry, "I wancha to be very careful. Firs' thing y' know you'll have us in a ditch."

"Me?" said Bill in astonishment.

"Why, I thought you was drivin'!"

—A TRUE PROPHECY.

One of the attractions at the county fair was a fortune teller's tent. A woman had taken her son inside and the seeress bent over the crystal ball.

"Madame," she murmured in deep, mysterious tones, "your son will be a noted man if he lives long enough."

"How wonderful," he breathed the lady. "What will he be noted for?"

"For his old age."—American Legion Weekly.

—AW, TAKE A CHANCE.

"Grandma, can you help me with this problem?"

"I could, dear, but do you think it would be right?"

"No, I don't suppose so, but you might have a shot at it and see."—American Legion Weekly.

—TOO LATE THEN.

"All through my trial you kept snarling, 'Your honor, I object,'"

"So I did, so I did," replied his lawyer, soothingly.

"When the judge sent me up for 10 years, why in Sam Hill did you object to that?"—Birmingham Age-Herald.

—JUNK!

A Scotsman anxious as usual to "make a bit," hit upon the idea of collecting old tin cans and pieces of scrap iron.

Having accumulated a good collection he sent them to a local junk store.

Somehow or other, however, they went astray and were delivered to the wrong place.

Imagine his surprise the next morning when he received the following letter from a garage:

"Dear Sir: Your motor car to hand. We have never seen a worse smash."
