And get more genuine chewing satisfaction, when you use this class of tobacco.

This is because the full, rich, real tobacco taste lasts so long, you don't need a fresh chew nearly as often.

And a small chew gives more real satisfaction than a big chew of the ordinary kind ever did.

Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

We All Labor and Are Free; "Old Glory" Is the Flag for All

The evolution of our flag is here shown in its four most important stages. The first, the "Grand Union Flag," was simply a British Union Jack, onto which six white stripes were sewed. The second, the "Betsey Ross," had thirteen stars on a blue field in a circle. Two new States added two more stripes and two stars May 1, 1795. But after July 4, 1818, the stripes were limited to thirteen, and new States were indicated only by stars.

In the horizontal position we usually drape the flag properly (as shown above) with the starry field at the upper left. Not so often, however, do we hang it as it should be in the vertical. The proper way is shown in the diagram in the company in a diagram, with the starry field now at the upper right. The flag has an inside and an outside. This is its outside.

No other flag should be hoisted above the national colors except the white triangle and blue cross of the church pennant, which is allowed to be at the masthead above the Stars and Stripes when religious services are in progress in a military chapel or aboard a ship of the navy.

Don't use the flag as a tablecloth. A Bible may rest on it. Nothing else.

How to Treat the Flag

The Rules in Brief

The man who is in uniform salutes in military style when the flag goes by, but when in civvies the best form is to take off the hat and hold it against the left shoulder. In draping the colors the simplest rule to remember is that the Stars and Stripes always claim the place of honor, the forefront, the right or the highest elevation. Another rule is that the colors should never be allowed to touch the ground or the deck. On Memorial Day run the flag to the top of the mast, then half-mast it until noon. From noon until sunset let it fly from the top of the staff.

Don'ts

Don't sew the flag onto a sofa pillow. Don't use it as a silk handkerchief. Don't twist it into fantastic designs. Don't use it in any form of advertising. Don't let it drag in the dust in handling it.

When you drape our flag with that of one of the Allies or with the banner of an organization, always place the national colors at the onlooker's right.

Before you half-mast the flag, and afterward before you haul it down, run it to the masthead.

When carried with other flags in a parade, the colors claim the place of honor—at the right.

To honor the flag's holding when in civvies pass the hat against the left shoulder.

Don't drape the flag (as in picture at the left) below the seats of a platform, or twist it into fantastic designs. Use bunting for the trick stuff.

Outside Students to Pay Tuition Fee

University of Oregon, Eugene, August 22.—A tuition fee of $60 will hereafter be charged students from states outside of Oregon, in addition to the fees now charged all students, following a joint action of committees of the board of regents of the two state institutions.

The tuition charge of the Oregon institutions becomes effective for all new registrants from states other than Oregon, beginning September next. The $60 will be payable in $20 installments at the beginning of each term. Men in the service of the United States during the late war coming to the university or the agricultural college from other states will be exempted from half the regular non-resident fee. The advisability of charging non-resident students tuition has been considered at various times but as long as the state institutions of Washington and California and other western states admitted resident and non-resident students on precisely the same basis it was not thought feasible for Oregon to adopt a non-resident tuition charge. Now that these and other states have decided to make a non-resident charge it will also be made at the Oregon institutions.

The fees will not only tend to prevent any undue influx of students from other states but will also help provide funds for building and other necessary purposes. Because of the large increase in student enrollment at the college and university there is already a shortage of room.

In fixing the amount of the fee it was the aim of the regents to avoid a merely nominal or a prohibitive charge. Some of the leading state colleges and universities of the country were asked their charge and the average of 20 was found to be $54.

SMILE AWHILE

CONVERSATION.

"Jim," she said, as he settled down for a comfortable smoke, "I've got a lot of things I want to talk to you about."

"Good," said her husband, "I'm glad to hear it. Usually you want to talk to me about a lot of things you haven't got."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

HER SENSE OF FITNESS.

Little Ethel had lost her grandfather. A few days after the funeral she asked her mother if she could play the piano a little while.

"No, dear, don't you know that we are in mourning?" her mother replied.

"Well," insisted the disappointed child, "I don't think it would be wickel if I only played on the black keys."—Judge.

BUT HE WAS LOGICAL.

"I don't like a friend to domineer over me," said the young man with the patient disposition.

Uncle John's Joke

MISS DE SWELL'S PET DOG DIED SO SHE GOT MARRIED.

"Who has been doing that?" "My room mate. He borrowed my dress suit."

"That's a good deal of liberty." "I don't mind it, but when he asked for my umbrella I told him I might want to use it myself. But he got it just the same."

"How?" "He simply said: 'Have your own way; they're your clothes that I'm trying to keep from getting spoiled, not mine.'"—Los Angeles Times.

ART CRITICISM.

Arthur, aged nine, returned from his first visit to the John Herron Art Institute with such a depressed air that his mother was puzzled.

"Didn't you like it, dear?" "Not much. Mostly there were people with their heads cut off."

"But there must have been some pictures of animals and trees and lovely country."

"Oh, a few, but," in disgust, "there were more people doing things they shouldn't."

"Things they shouldn't?" "Yes, some of them had taken off all of their clothes, even their union suits."—Indianapolis News.

THERE ARE OTHERS.

In a man's life there are three tragedies. The first is when he decides he's too old for Lord Fauntleroy curls and mamma decides otherwise because they're so cute. The second is when the high school Beatrix he can't live without marries and he doesn't die. The third is his shape in a bathing suit.—Boston Transcript.

ROOM FOR MORE.

Bishop Bratton, at a dinner in Jackson, was genially patronized by a millionaire.

"I never go to church," the millionaire said. "I guess you've noticed that, Bishop?"

"Yes, I have noticed it," said Bishop Bratton, gravely.

"I guess you wonder why I never go to church, don't you?" the millionaire pursued. "Well, I'll tell you why, bishop. There are so many hypocrites there."

"Oh, don't let that keep you away," said Bishop Bratton, smiling. "There is always room for one more."—Detroit Free Press.

GREAT IMPROVEMENT NOTED.

"Did you know," asked the proud resident of Terrell, Tex., "that this is a wonderful health resort?"

"Why, no," replied the traveler. "I hadn't heard about it."

"Fact. When I came to this city I couldn't walk and had to be carried from my bed."

"Remarkable! Remarkable! May I ask how long you have been here?" "Oh," said the citizen preparing to go home, "I was born here."—American Legion Weekly.

SOUVENIR.

A returned soldier found a pretty looking card in France and brought it home to have his wife hang in the parlor. It read: "Ici on parle Français."

"What's the idea?" she demanded. "That means 'French spoken here' and you know you don't."

"Well, I'll be darned!" ejaculated the ex-soldier disgustedly. "The guy that sold it to me said it meant 'God bless our home.'"—American Legion Weekly.
