Mrs. A. J. Chaffee returned the first of the week from a visit of several weeks with relatives residing at Pomeroy and Spokane, Washington.

Harley D. Sperry, grain buyer and warehouseman of Ione, was in the city on Monday. He was accompanied by Jack Ferris, barber of the Wheat City.

Miss Ruth Van Vactor was a passenger out for Ione on Sunday, going to take up her work as teacher of the school in the same district where she taught last winter.

Robt. Carner shipped out a small bunch of fat lambs to the Seattle market from the local yards on Sunday. Other shipments were two cars of cattle by Dillard French of Gardane. These went to Portland.

Lloyd Hutchinson, the well known merchant tailor of Heppner, was in town last Sunday showing a handsome line of fall and winter goods and taking orders for suits and overcoats.—Ione Independent.

Henry Stender has moved to town with his two daughters from the farm out north of Ione. They are occupying the Stender property here and the young ladies will enter the Heppner school for the winter.

Miss Vera Mahoney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, arrived home from Seattle on Sunday. Miss Mahoney is a graduate of the U. of W., and remained in Seattle for the summer taking special work at the university.

W. F. Honey, who is interested in lands owned in this county by the Oregon-Dakota Land Co., was in Heppner a few days the first of this week, looking after business interests. Mr. Honey makes his home at Gresham and is a retired capitalist.

Jack O'Neill arrived from Portland on Monday and it is understood that he will take charge of some of the sporting events put on by the Legion boys during the fair. He has been living in Portland since leaving Heppner six weeks or more ago.

A. M. Edwards arrived with his well drilled outfit from Marlin, Wash., the past week, and is now busy drilling at the ranch of J. O. Turner north of Swaggart Buttes. He has secured contracts for the drilling of a number of wells in that neighborhood.

Miss Marguerite Loughney arrived from Tacoma on Tuesday evening and will spend some two or three weeks visiting with her sister, Mrs. Walter Nourse, of this city.

Will H. Padberg, extensive wheat raiser and stockman of the Clark county section, was doing business in the city on Saturday. He has not finished with his harvesting yet, having spent a goodly portion of the season in threshing for his neighbors. He hopes, however, to get through with his own grain crops before the bad weather sets in.

C. E. and Leonard Carlson were in the city Tuesday and report that they have finished with the harvesting of their crop and now the big job is to get it to market. The roads into Ione from their place are very badly cut up just now, and will be in an almost impassable condition until rains come. They report a very satisfactory yield of good grain this season.

Mrs. Mattie B. Scribner returned the past week from Central Oregon, where she visited for a number of weeks at the home of her brother, William Meek. During her visit there Mrs. Scribner reports that the little two-year-old son of her brother was bitten twice by a rattler that had taken refuge in the barn. On search being made for the reptile, a big 3-footer was captured. The little boy received prompt treatment and was soon over his injuries.

William P. Wise, who was engaged in the newspaper game at Snohomish, Wash., at the time the war came on, and gave up the newspaper work to enter the army, was a visitor in this city on Monday. He is now with the Division of Rehabilitation of the Federal Board of Vocational Training, his territory being that portion of Dist. No. 13 covering the state of Oregon. His visit to Heppner at this time was to arrange for the coming of the Clean-Up Squad that will be here on the 24th of this month. This paper acknowledges a very pleasant call from Mr. Wise.

Wm. Hendrix was in the city Tuesday from his home on Rhea creek. He has just finished putting up the third crop of alfalfa and remarks that the hay crop is one of the best the place has produced for years. A fourth crop may yet be taken off if the present favorable weather conditions prevail. Mr. Hendrix is carrying about a badly injured hand, having tangled up recently with the cable that lifts the derick fork at the stackyards. His hand was very badly cut by the ropes and only the prompt arrival of assistance saved it from being severed from the wrist. His wounds are healing well.

Window Attracts Attention.

The window display at the Peoples Hardware company store, the handiwork of La Verne Van Marter, has attracted a great deal of attention and very favorable comment this week. This being the open season for hunting deer in Morrow county, Mr. Van Marter hit on the plan of making his display such as would call attention to that fact particularly, and further illustrate the fine line of guns and ammunition carried by the company. Three fine deer head specimens, placed on a background of green, in front of which is spread a fine white robe, the pelt of a Rocky Mountain goat with head and horns, forms the setting for the display of guns, cartridges, belts, etc., suggestive of the hunting season. The rug and one of the finest of the specimens of deer heads are the property of Rev. E. L. Moore, who, by the way, is a great lover of hunting and fishing and has gathered in numerous fine specimens, quite witness to his prowess as a hunter. It is a very pretty and attractive display.

THAT APPROXIMATELY $700,000,000 is required by the public utility companies of the country to provide service for an additional million inhabitants is one of the interesting facts brought forth in the recently published report of Senator William M. Calder's Committee on Reconstruction and Production.

After a searching inquiry into the various conditions bearing upon the housing situation and the country's industrial production, the Committee finds that the business of public utilities has outgrown their plant facilities owing to the inability of the companies to finance improvements and additions necessary to take care of increased service demands.

"Prior to the war," states the Committee, "it is estimated that the normal annual requirements of electric railway, gas, and electric light and power companies for extensions, betterments, and improvements was about $500,000,000, proportioned as follows: electric railways, $250,000,000; gas companies, $125,000,000; electric light and power companies, $125,000,000.

The Committee has informed that for four years not over 40 per cent of such betterments has been made, leaving an accumulation of about $1,200,000,000. If to this sum is added the $700,000,000 required alone for service to new residential buildings held in abeyance, a total of approximately $2,000,000,000 seems necessary for the public utility program in the immediate future.

"The question of placing these businesses on a sound financial basis in order that credit may flow to them is the same question which confronts steam railroads and housing, but in the case of public utilities the situation is more difficult because there is no central body as now provided in the case of steam railroads which might adjust rates in proper relation to operating costs and capital investment. The utilities likewise suffer in their effort to secure new capital for necessary extensions of service by the almost insurmountable difficulty of having to compete for such capital with municipal, state and similar tax-exempt securities. Until these problems are solved the public should recognize this underlying reason for much of the faulty service and for the failure to provide the additional facilities urgently demanded to meet community needs."—PAID ADV.
