Marshal Phelps was a passenger for Portland on Tuesday, going to the city to see about his discharge from Uncle Sam's Marine Corps. He has been at home on furlough ever since the armistice, having to report punctually each month to headquarters, and the time of his furlough expires this week. He hopes to be promptly discharged but does not know that he will be, as it takes time to unwind red tape.

business visitor in Heppner on Tuesday. He recently sold 1000 acres of his Cecil land holdings to Hafferty Bros. of Morgan, the consideration being close to $5,000. It was mentioned in these columns last week that Hafferty Bros. of late were the parties to whom Mr. Osborn sold. That was a mistake. Mr. Mackin and wife were in Heppner on Friday and called attention to the misstatement, stating that he had not received any such donation as a $5,000 ranch, neither was he expecting to. Mr. Osborn still owns lots of good farm land around Cecil.

Al Truedson, farmer of Morgan, was a visitor to Heppner over Saturday night, coming to the city to square himself with Sheriff McPuffee for the last half of his taxes. He is now hoping for another good rain so that he can get busy putting in the fall grain.

THAT APPROXIMATELY $700,000,000 is required by the public utility companies of the country to provide service for an additional million inhabitants is one of the interesting facts brought forth in the recently published report of Senator William M. Calder's Committee on Reconstruction and Production.

After a searching inquiry into the various conditions bearing upon the housing situation and the country's industrial production, the Committee finds that the business of public utilities has outgrown their plant facilities owing to the inability of the companies to finance improvements and additions necessary to take care of increased service demands.

"Prior to the war," states the Committee, "it is estimated that the normal annual requirements of electric railway, gas, and electric light and power companies for extensions, betterments, and improvements was about $500,000,000, proportioned as follows: electric railways, $250,000,000; gas companies, $125,000,000; electric light and power companies, $125,000,000.

The Committee has informed that for four years not over 40 per cent of such betterments has been made, leaving an accumulation of about $1,200,000,000. If to this sum is added the $700,000,000 required alone for service to new residential buildings held in abeyance, a total of approximately $2,000,000,000 seems necessary for the public utility program in the immediate future.

"The question of placing these businesses on a sound financial basis in order that credit may flow to them is the same question which confronts steam railroads and housing, but in the case of public utilities the situation is more difficult because there is no central body as now provided in the case of steam railroads which might adjust rates in proper relation to operating costs and capital investment. The utilities likewise suffer in their effort to secure new capital for necessary extensions of service by the almost insurmountable difficulty of having to compete for such capital with municipal, state and similar tax-exempt securities. Until these problems are solved the public should recognize this underlying reason for much of the faulty service and for the failure to provide the additional facilities urgently demanded to meet community needs."—PAID ADV.
