American Leaders Prepare Articles In Great Series

Nation's Master Minds to Give Opinions on Problems of Vital Issue. Greatest Journalistic Feat In World's History Ready for Launching.

In announcing that THE GAZETTE-TIMES is to present to its subscribers and readers a series of articles gathered and edited by Community News Service, this paper feels that it is offering what will be known as the greatest feat in American journalism.

For many weeks and months Community News Service has been quietly combing the Nation for expressions from the men advanced in American industry, arts, finance, religion, drama and transportation relative to the possibility of securing a series of articles from those who are unquestionably recognized as the greatest leaders of the particular industry or profession to which they have given their lives such as members of the President's cabinet, generals in the Army, U. S. Senators, financiers, railroad executives and owners of the world's greatest industrial plants, governors, government department heads, labor leaders, political giants, insurance executives, transportation experts, industrial leaders and many others.

It needs but a glance at the names of the men who are the authors of the series to indicate to any one familiar with America and her leaders today that never before has such a galaxy of powerful and dominant men combined to give expression to the beliefs and hopes that have been and are today the guiding force in the nation's civic, industry, education and aesthetics. No individual paper, regardless of its wealth or power, could hope to secure written expression from a tiny fraction of the scores who under their signatures are about to give to the readers of THE GAZETTE-TIMES their personal viewpoints.

It makes little difference what your race, business, politics or religion may be. It makes no difference where your business interests may lie. If some of the men whose "stories" are to be published differ from you in any particular, if you disapprove of their methods or personality, the fact remains that each and every one of them is so high in his particular sphere that you cannot afford to ignore him, and what he has to say is important to you. Every walk of American life is represented by a leader whose ability is unquestioned, and who KNOWS his subject as no other man may know it.

The majority of the men whose articles are to be presented to you by THE GAZETTE-TIMES have long been in the limelight, long been the subject of speculation and comment, and time after time the whole nation has wondered what they thought and has sought to discover. In the series about to be printed these men will tell you what they think—will give advice that should be priceless, give reviews that are history, open gates that have been sealed, and tell in their own words the message that every great man has for his fellow.

As an American citizen you cannot afford to miss a single article, for America's greatest and best are their authors. As the member of a family or community you cannot afford to miss them, for here lies the expression of success, and word from heights to which you would be glad and proud to have your children rise. No minister, priest, lawyer or doctor can afford to miss them for they are human documents. No man who labors with his hands can afford to miss them for most of those who write and have risen once worked with their hands, and they can point the way to an easier, broader life.

Every branch represented is a branch whose many sides touch the life and work of every American and has a personal bearing on your business, success and home life. The very life of the nation is interwoven with its banking, its transportation, its agriculture, its schools, its insurance and distribution and manufacture of staples and from all these phases comes the leaders to give you a message as personal as a letter.

The greatest newspapers in America from time to time secure brief interviews from some of the men represented in the series, others they have sought to interview and failed. No paper has ever been able to secure a signed article from but a very few of the number whose contributions are to be offered to you. Magazines of national circulation would gladly pay large sums for a single article from any one of the men who have given their services to Community News Service's series. It was only the knowledge that the writers could reach every part of the United States and millions of readers, with statements that would be unchanged and unedited, giving to the nation the real beliefs of the writers, that enabled Community News Service to secure them and allows THE GAZETTE-TIMES to present them to you.

by Walter Pope made a short visit at Ellis Minor's ranch near Ione on Sunday.

Cecil Abalt who has been working around Cecil for several months left on Tuesday for California where he intends to visit friends during his vacation.

Mrs. Roy Stender of Selkousen gave a birthday party on Sunday in honor of her brother Leo's seventh birthday. An enjoyable time was spent by the large party present.

Miss Violet Hynd of Butterby Flats and Miss Doris Logan of Fairview, and Dick Logan of Four Mile are all visiting at their respective homes during the Teachers' Institute before returning to their studies once more.

The Mayor has once more returned home and settled down to work in earnest. The deputy, A. Henriksen, is still busy buying sheep and we heard him say he now owned the best sheep in the States, but we believe the extravagant language for we know he meant Morrow county, and then we heard a friend advising him if he valued his life not to repeat such a sheep story while in Jack Hynd's company, or the services of Constable John would be needed at once.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Duncan and their daughter Miss Mildred of Busy Bee ranch were visiting around Cecil on Saturday. R. E. was wearing a very smiling face and walking on air at the same time. His friends could not realize that it was the sedate Roy. On making inquiries we found the overjoyed feelings were not caused by moonshine, but by the fact that R. E. Duncan's bees at Busy Bee ranch could make honey that carried first prize on the best exhibit at the Fair, after only being able to carry second in his county fair, which certainly proves that a prophet has no honor in his own county.

SCHOOL CHILDREN WILL AID THE UNEMPLOYED

Portland, Ore., October 24.—A constructive plan designed to meet one phase of the unemployment problem by combating the high cost of living this coming winter, has been perfected and put into operation by the Union County Ad Club at La Grande, according to J. W. Nelson, Secretary-Manager of the La Grande organization who was in Portland recently conferring with State Chamber of Commerce officials.

The project as carried out in Union County is as follows, according to Nelson: The schools of the county are put on a competitive basis, and prizes are given to that school whose students have collected and stored the most vegetables and fruit products. Vegetables and fruits which are not of commercial value, and which ordinarily would go to waste, are donated by the farmers of the surrounding country. In the winter, when the condition of the unemployed is expected to be acute, this food is to be distributed at a very nominal cost.

Union county schools have taken up the idea enthusiastically, according to Nelson, and the Ad Club has provided automobiles on specified days for the transportation of the children to the various farms where the food can be obtained.

"I consider this a highly commendable project," said Secretary Quayle of the State Chamber. "Not only will food be supplied when it is most needed, but school children will be provided wholesome and character-building work during their idle time."

A letter outlining the La Grande project has been sent to every commercial club of the state urging immediate action along these lines, according to Quayle.

Poor Storage Spoils Potatoes.
A large number of potatoes were dug while the ground was still warm and hard and then often slightly bruised piled up in bins or in pits without cooling off. Storage rots are developing in considerable quantity reports the O. A. C. Experiment station, and unless these potatoes are cooled out and ventilated, serious losses are likely to occur. It is best to store potatoes on a slatted floor having ventilation provided so that fresh air may pass up through the potatoes and warm, moisture-laden air escape from the storage place. "Potatoes are too valuable this year to lose many from storage rots," says the report.
