HOW'D YOU LIKE TO DRIVE THIS?

This is a new motor car which Herr Rumpler, a German scientific inventor, has just produced. Rumpler took as his plan the shape of a falling raindrop and his car has the least resistance of any in existence. This effect is helped by the mud guards, which are placed so as to resemble rudimentary wings. The car has only a 10 horse power motor, but because of its reduced resistance it can make 75 miles an hour. Of course the cost of it is low, which is a prime consideration with the Germans at present.

SMILE AWHILE

SIMILAR.

"Did you ever hear anything so perfectly wonderful?" exclaimed the daughter of the house, as the phonograph ground out the last notes of the latest thing in jazz.
"No," replied her father. "I can't say I have, although I once heard a collision between a truck-load of empty milk cans and a freight car filled with live chickens."—Judge.

INFLUENCING THE DECISION.
"You're no judge of beauty." "Think not?"
"No; this is not the most beautiful infant in the baby show."
"My eye for beauty is all right. Have you seen the baby's mother?"
"No."
"Take a look at her."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A DIPLOMATIC HUSBAND.
The wife of a western congressman is sensitive on the subject of her deficient orthography and her demands for information as to correct spelling sometimes place her peace-loving husband in a delicate position. One day, as she was writing a letter at her desk, she glanced up to ask:
"Henry, do you spell 'graphic' with one 'f' or two?"

"My dear," was the diplomatic reply, "if you're going to use any you might as well use two."—Harper's Magazine.

STACKING THE CARDS.
"The beautiful chorus lady who is demanding $100,000 'heart balm' from a millionaire was washing dishes when interviewed by the gentleman of the press.
"What about it?"
"She has a sharp lawyer. I suspect he put her up to it."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

HARD BOILED.
The black-haired waitress, very much out of sorts, sailed haughtily up to the table at which sat the rouchy breakfast customer. She slammed down the cutlery, snatched a napkin from a pile and tossed it in front of him.
Then striking a furious pose:
"Whatcha want?" she snapped.
"Coupla eggs," growled the customer.

BATH NIGHT.
Pat was helping the gardener on a gentleman's place and, observing a shallow stone basin containing water, he inquired what it was for.
"That," said the gardener, "is a 'bird bath.'"

Dale West and His Winning Heifer

Dale West, of Klamath Falls, Oregon, came with the other boys' and girls' club members to the Pacific International Live Stock Exposition last year and entered his Shorthorn heifer, Mound's Baroness 33.
Well bred, in splendid condition and trained to stand and lead properly for the judges, both she and her master made a fine impression, and she was awarded first in the young class of beef breeds.
Dale was written to O. M. Plummer, manager of the great show to be held this year at North Portland, Oregon, Nov. 5-12, that he wants to be a part of the exposition, and he sent his check for $25 for one share of stock.
The boys' and girls' club exhibits at the Pacific International last year were very interesting, and perhaps as important to the nation as any division there.

"Don't ye be foolin' me," grinned Pat. "What is it?"
"A bird bath, I tell you. Why do you doubt it?"
"Because I don't believe there's a bird alive that can tell Saturday night from any other."—Boston Transcript.

FAIR EXCHANGE.

An enterprising tradesman sent a doctor a box of cigars which had not been ordered, with a bill for six dollars. The accompanying letter stated that "I have ventured to send these on my own initiative, being convinced that you will appreciate their exquisite flavor."
In due course the doctor replied: "You have not asked me for a consultation, but I venture to send you three prescriptions, being convinced that you will derive therefrom as much benefit as I shall derive from your cigars. As my charge for a prescription is two dollars, this makes us even."—Boston Globe.

ONLY WANTED IT ONE WAY.

The report in the Middle West of the United States of a "driverless automobile" station along the lines of the old livery stable, where one might hire a "rig" and drive it oneself, affords occasion for recalling a story about the earlier institution which may serve as a warning to any who would resort to sharp practice. According to the tale referred to, a traveling man once said to the proprietor of a livery stable:
"What is the price for a rig to go over to Blankville?"
"Ten dollars," replied the smart stable-keeper.

After the journey had been taken, the owner of the horse and carriage said: "Twenty dollars."
Asked to explain, he added: "Ten dollars over and ten dollars back."
The next time the traveling man came, he again inquired: "What is the price of a rig to go over to Blankville?"
"Ten dollars," again answered the liveryman.
Several days later the traveling man reappeared without the rig and

MEMORIAL MEDAL OF ROOSEVELT BIRTHDAY

The Roosevelt Memorial Association, organized to perpetuate the memory and ideals of the former President, adopts a seal in honor of his 63d birthday, October 2. The seal was designed by James Earle Fraser, who modeled the Victory Medal and the Buffalo nickel, and whose bust of Roosevelt is in the Capitol at Washington. The seal bears the words: "ROOSEVELT MEMORIAL ASSOCIATION. BETWEEN RIGHT AND PEACE. I CHOOSE RIGHT OVSNESS. MORE BRAVE."

Poem by Uncle John

Life vs. Death.
While I concede the dreadnaught's spear, it ain't of dreadnaughts I would sing . . . I spose we build one every year, or start a new one in the spring . . . Now, I have mostly been opposed to all machines fer killin' men, till one more question has arose: We build a college, every—when?
I love to think we've got the power to face the world and shake our fist. To know, that when the war-clouds lower, we've got the guns they can't resist . . . And still, I'm bound to hate the things they make fer killin' men—and through my ear this question runs: We build a school-house every—when?
Old Cato viewed the Holy Writ, beside the keen an' deadly knife—the one with fins of heaven lit,—the other shaped fer ending life . . . And I have learnt to love the means that lifts me to a higher plane, and so I've learnt to hate machines that only serve by giving pain . . . Instead of schemes to murder fast, it seems to me the nobler deed, while stretch of years is whizzin' past—to teach our boys and gals to read . . . I'd swap the dreadnaught fer the school, an' trade the sabre fer the pen, believin' in the gracious rule of Peace on Earth, Good-will to Men!

SUCCESSFUL IN BUSINESS, THOUGH CRIPPLED

handed the stableman $10.
"But where is my rig?" demanded its owner.
"Oh, it is over at Blankville," said the patron. "All I wanted to do was to go over."—Christian Science Monitor.

VERSAILLES TREATY AGAIN REJECTED BY U. S. SENATE

Evidence that the American people and the United States Senate have not changed their opinion on the Treaty of Versailles and the league of nations was afforded in the United States Senate on the day the separate peace treaty with Germany was ratified. This evidence was given in a test vote upon a motion made by Senator King, Democrat, of Utah, to substitute the Treaty of Versailles, with reservations, for the separate treaty with Germany. The motion was lost by a vote of 59 to 25, which was an even greater repudiation of the Treaty of Versailles than previously recorded in the Senate.

KING AMERICAN LEGION WEDDING BELLS

Rev. John W. Inzer, of Chattanooga, Tenn., National chaplain of the American Legion, announced that he would marry free of cost any American doughboy who brought his bride-to-be to the Kansas City national convention which convenes October 31. Caswell J. Cordle and Miss Esther Belle Meriwether of Green City, Mo., shown above, were the first couple to file for the honor. A Kansas City jeweler furnished all wedding rings free and the Legion paid for all licenses.
