When we consider the actual amount of the National State and County Farm Bureaus we are convinced that as farmers we seldom have an opportunity to invest that amount to a better advantage.

Many Cattle Pastors Returned at Home.
Pastor Matt last week purchased 100 head of yearling cattle at Astoria and will fatten them for the market on the Meacham ranch near town. They are being driven across country and should arrive by tomorrow or Sunday.

Lester McMurray is also fattening several hundred head on his ranch adjoining town and in the market before long. The low price of cattle has made feeding it more profitable than selling it—John Independent.

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Huston and daughter were visitors in the city Tuesday evening and enjoyed the big feed put on by Doc Latta No. 20, R. of P. The recent big storm, which covered the Eight Mile country with about 12 inches of snow, has resulted in much good and the wheat growing section has been thoroughly soaked with moisture as a result and Mr. Huston is looking forward to another productive season.

Walter Luckman took in the big feed at K of P. hall on Tuesday evening and remained in town over Wednesday. He states that all the snow is gone in the Lena section, slowly melted and the ground took up the moisture. Warm nights and days are bringing forth the feed on the hills and the net result of the recent big storm will be well to the good in the Sutter creek country.

A. J. Fritz, attorney, was up from Arlington a couple of days the past week. He is quite nicely situated and enjoying a good business in his new location. He expects Arlington to be on the map properly from now on, as the confluence of the John Day and Columbia River highways will make it a little city of some importance.

Uncle Billy Wilson, who was recently taken to a hospital at Portland, underwent an operation there the past week. He is reported to be improving somewhat in health but it will be necessary for him to have another operation, so his physicians state.

R. T. Jackson, connected with the U. S. Biological Survey, with headquarters at Portland, was in the city during the past week to assist County Agent Calkins in getting ready for a rabbit poisoning campaign. The big storm made it necessary to postpone definite action along this line and what will be done will be announced later.

The De Haven-Strong Entertainers will be here December 25th. Among their numbers are many impressions: Miss De Haven, who plays the harp and piano, and Leora Strong, who plays the violin, are both well known local artists and we are sure you will get your money's worth if you come December 25th.

Last Wednesday evening the Juniors emerged from the room, after a class meeting, with smiling faces and wishes that there had been "more of it." This caused much curiosity among some of the other classes, who wondered what "it" could have been. Others said it must have been a queer class meeting for the only discussion they could hear while passing through the hall was "Look out! he's taking more than his share." "Clear out, everybody; that's my piece." "Hey! You've got to divide up with me." "Don't you dare take another piece, you've had two already." "It's all gone, let's go."

A committee from the P. T. A. met last Tuesday and selected the pictures to be bought from the proceeds of the art exhibit. The committee consisted of the executive committee of the P. T. A. and Mrs. Gay M. Anderson, Mrs. T. A. and Mrs. Woodson, Mrs. S. S. and Mrs. Cohn. The pictures selected were: for the first grade, "Nat and Kittens"; the first and second grade, "The Treats"; the second grade, "Shooting the Hay Stack"; the third, "Children of the World"; the fourth, "Joan of Arc"; the fifth, "The Gleasers"; the sixth, "Santa"; the seventh, "Down"; the eighth, "The Coming of the White Man"; and the opportunity room, "I Hear a Voice." Those selected for the high school were "The Cathedral," "The Lake" and "Cicero's Oration to Catalina." It may be necessary to change some of the selections, as the exact price of the pictures was not known.

The self-winding clocks were back on the job last Monday morning after a week's vacation.

The majority of pupils were sad and faces on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week until they received their report cards. Needless to say, they all made attempts at smiling on Thursday and Friday.

On Monday each student in high school was requested to hand a list of the subjects they are taking to Mr. James. He will send these to Mr. Churchill, the state superintendent, who wants to get a list of the different subjects taken by different students in high school.

The basketball hall was cleaned, lines repainted and baskets put up last Friday morning by the boys who had sufficiently recovered from their Thanksgiving dinners.

Tuesday and Wednesday

King W. Vidors 'The Family Honor'

A picture that breathes of old traditions of drama, of love, honor and chivalry of swordsmen and men of might—of sinners and the men of noble blood. In spite of this description, we believe it is a fine picture for everyone to see.

SATURDAY

Robert McKim and Clair Adams in

"THE LURE OF EGYPT"

From the novel "There Was a King in Egypt" by Norma Lorimer. A picture of Romance beneath the burning skies of Egypt; of life and love among the mighty tombs of the Pharaohs. Also Comedy.

Sunday and Monday

A special cast including Colleen Moore and Kathleen Kirkham in

"When Dawn Came"

The Story of Stories, gripping, enthralling, clean. The greatest variety of interesting types ever seen in one picture, wonderful tints and tones of a new coloring process, superb acting and wonderful theme, make this one of the big pictures of the year.

We are holding this picture over Monday for the benefit of those who do not care to attend on the Sabbath. General Admission 20c & 30c. Reserved seats (Sunday only) 40c, on sale at Patterson's Drug Store.

ART ACCORD... IT'S A UNIVERSAL... "WINNERS OF THE WEST"

"WINNERS OF THE WEST"

Here is something entirely new in serials. It is a step forward in picture making that will have a far-reaching effect, both as entertainment and as a medium for interesting the young in history.

"Winners of the West" is based upon American history and the opening chapter contains enough action for a five-act feature. The serial is written around the adventures of Capt. John Fremont, pioneer of the West, and presents an authentic story of the trials through which he and his little band of followers passed in the gold rush to California in the days of '49.

The serial was directed by Edward Laemmle and the various historic American characters to whom some of the thrilling adventures of history happened, are enacted by a very competent cast. Myrtle Lind appears opposite Art Accord, while Bart Wilson, Burton C. Law, Jim Corey and Percy Pembroke have important roles. Accord is cast as a young Missourian who accompanies the venturesome Capt. Fremont.

Aside from its value as theatre entertainment "Winners of the West" should prove valuable in the classroom as a historical chronicle of early American history.
