

Local Happenings

FOR SALE—A country home lighting plant; 1000-watt. See Starkey.

Percy Hughes, Butter creek farmer and stockman, was in Heppner for a short time on Wednesday.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Henry Peterson at their home on Eight Mile, Wednesday, January 25, 1922.

The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Cason has been suffering from an attack of congestion of the lungs the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Padberg of lone were in Heppner on Saturday last delegates to the district assembly of the Rebekahs.

Neil White, who is one of the successful young farmers of the Lexington section, was doing business in this city on Saturday.

Ray McAlister was one of the "sisters" from Lexington attending the district convention of the Rebekahs in Heppner on Saturday.

H. E. Warner of Lexington was a visitor in this city on Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Warner departed on Wednesday for Portland for a visit of ten days or two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Whetstone of Pendleton were in attendance at the Rebekah district meeting in Heppner Saturday. Mrs. Whetstone is state president of the order.

Mrs. C. C. Chick has been confined at the Moore hospital in this city for the past week, suffering from the effects of a severe cold. Dr. Chick and wife are getting moved into their recently purchased residence but owing to bad weather conditions moving operations have been pretty slow.

Gladys Allstott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Allstott of Eight Mile, is at the Moore hospital in this city, rapidly recovering from the effects of an operation for appendicitis performed on Thursday last by Dr. C. C. Chick. Miss Allstott was taken suddenly very ill and had to be brought to town late in the night.

We wish to apologize to Messrs. S. W. Spencer and John Higley in overlooking to mention their scores at the last rabbit shoot in our issue of last week. Our attention was called to this by Wm. Beymer, who states that Spencer landed 12 and Higley 8. After such a hard day's work, Mr. Beymer felt that it was not fair to these gentlemen to have them overlooked in this manner.

A. M. Edwards, well driller, was in the city a short time on Monday from Lexington. He just recently returned from a visit of a month at Spokane, during the freeze up and found weather conditions up there much more severe than here. Upon returning to Lexington last week he finished the well he was putting down for Claude White and found a fine flow of water at 113 feet. Just now his outfit is frozen in.

FOREST NEWS FROM THE GURDANE RANGER DIST.

S. R. Woods, District Ranger, recently made a trip to Ellis Ranger Station and the snow stakes. About the same amount of snow was found on the high ground as at this time last winter.

The severe wind storm in November wrought havoc with the Forest Service telephone lines. The roads and trails are badly obstructed by wind-thrown timber. The work required in the spring to put the telephone lines in serviceable condition and to make the roads and trails passable will be fully twice as much as usual.

A large amount of nice green yellow pine trees were blown down by the November storm. These trees will be disposed of under Free Use permit for fuel or improvements upon application to the District Ranger.

The blank applications for permits to graze live stock on the Umatilla National Forest have been sent out. Persons desiring to apply for permits and not receiving a blank should apply to the Forest Supervisor at Pendleton. Applications should be filed at Pendleton not later than February 10.

IONE CLOSES SUCCESS-FUL JACKRABBIT HUNT

The lone rabbit hunt closed Saturday night, the members of the two teams turning in the tails of 3,550 jackrabbits. While there were 86 members on each team it will be remembered that many of these did not live in sections where the rabbits were plentiful and spent their time in killing the rabbits closer to home. Dwight Misner's team won by a margin of 516 rabbits. Misner was high man with 425 rabbits to his credit, while Mrs. Misner was his valuable aid in turning in 165 which she had killed with her twenty-two. Taking it all in all it was a most successful event. Between three and four hundred people took in the free show besides the feed, and participated in the dance which was paid for by the losing side. No doubt arrangements will be made to put on a similar event the coming year.

CECIL ITEMS OF INTEREST

Ed Melton of Rockcliff was a visitor in lone on Thursday and Friday.

R. E. Harbison and son were calling in Cecil from Morgan Flats.

Geo. W. Wilson of Butterby Flats spent Sunday with friends at the Willows.

Herbert Hynd is busy working against time hauling wood from Cecil depot.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stender of Sel-don were doing business in lone on Tuesday.

Galen Faulkner of Eight Mile is now busily working for the Mayor at Butterby Flats.

H. V. Tyler from the Curtis ranch near Rhea Siding was doing business in Cecil on Thursday.

C. A. Yambert who has been visiting around Cecil for several weeks left for The Dalles on Saturday.

J. Maloy, blacksmith at Morgan, was a busy man on Saturday following his trade at Willow Creek ranch.

Mrs. A. Henriksen of Willow Creek ranch was visiting with Mrs. Geo. Krebs at the Last Camp on Tuesday.

Miss Annie C. Hynd and Miss Eleanor Furney spent Saturday and Sunday with friends at the county seat.

Miss H. Craig of lone arrived in Cecil on Tuesday and will assist at the home of Everett Logan for some time.

Ben Patterson and several other shining lights from Heppner were chasing rabbit tales in Juniper canyon on Sunday.

Mrs. Karl Farnsworth who has been visiting friends in Heppner for a few days returned to her home at Rhea Siding on Thursday.

W. A. Lowe returned to Cecil on Saturday after spending several days in Heppner under Dr. Vaughan, having some dentistry work done.

Mrs. Jack Hynd and friend Mrs. F. Tollason of Heppner, were the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scott at the Lookout on Monday.

Our sympathies are extended to Mrs. Jack Hynd who received word of the death of her mother, Mrs. John Shaw at her home at Damascus, Ontario, Canada on January 19.

Thursday was the coldest day of season. No definite degree of frost can be reported truthfully as every ranch reported differently, varying from 10 to 26 degrees below zero.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Keenan of Heppner were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hynd on Sunday at Butterby Flats, also Mr. and Mrs. Tollason and children. Mrs. Tollason and children remained till Wednesday.

Leon Logan of Four Mile was a passenger on the local flyer from lone on Thursday. Leon had been at the Egg City leaving his car to be overhauled at one of the garages in town.

Tom Merrill, camp tender for Minor & Thompson, arrived in Cecil on Wednesday and was soon at work cleaning and preparing the Shepherds' Rest ready for Bob Thompson and his lambing crew who arrived on Friday with a fine band of 1,600 ewes which will be wintered in Cecil.

There has been some "crooked crooks" who have been traveling some crooked miles around Cecil vicinity during the last few days seeking rabbit tails. Every thing said and done, so mother Bonnie informed us on the safety of her tail, was crooked with the exception of her offspring's tails which were straight goods when secured by an lone crook.

SMILE AWHILE

NOT IN RITUAL, BUT—

General Pershing tells the story of a volunteer battalion of rough backwoodsmen that once joined General Grant. He admired their fine physique, but mistrusted the capacity of their uncouth commander to handle troops promptly and efficiently in the field, so he said:

"Colonel, I want to see your men at work; call them to attention and order them to march with shouldered arms in close column to the left flank."

Without a moment's hesitation the colonel yelled to his fellow ruffians: "Boys, look wild that! Make ready to thicken and go left sideways! Tote yer guns. Git"

The maneuver proved a brilliant success and the self-elected colonel was forthwith officially commissioned.—Boys' Own Paper.

LOST ARTICLES DEPARTMENT.

Mollie, who had administered the culinary affairs of the household for many years, was sometimes torn between her devotion to her mistress and her loyalty to the small son of the house.

"Mollie," said her mistress one day after a tour of inspection, "what ever happened to those fine red apples I bought yesterday?"

"Well, now, ma'am," answered Mollie, "I couldn't rightly say, but if ye can find where me loaf of ginger-bread is, them apples would be lyin' right on top of it."

A PARTICULAR CUSTOMER.

"You are very young to be a registered pharmacist," said the lady with a massive jaw. "I wish the proprietor to wait on me and not any young clerk."

"Where is your prescription?" inquired the proprietor, coming forward.

"I have no prescription. What I want is five 2-cent postage stamps."—Detroit Free Press.

AN EXAMPLE.

We note that a Chicago man murdered his wife because she was too extravagant.

We hold this is going altogether too far. Not for a minute would we endorse or countenance or approve such drastic methods, but we see no objection in every married man reading the item aloud to his wife as a warning.—Detroit Free Press.

WHEN THE DEVIL WAS SICK—

"Two old gobs had been at odds ever since the day of their enlistment. They were due for discharge within a few days when one of them was taken seriously ill and the doctors broke the news to him that he had small chance to live. He summoned his old-time enemy to his bedside.

"Mac," he said plaintively, "they tells me I'm goin' to kick over. If I do, will ye fergit all our fights and sort of let bygones be bygones?"

"That'll be a right," said Mac, in great embarrassment.

"And, Mac"—here the old gob's voice grew stronger—"if I ever get well and ye remind me I ever said that, I'll knock that fat wooden block off yer shoulders."

OASES.

Whatever else may happen since our country has gone dry

The sailor still will have his port and the farmer have his rye;

The cotton man will have his gin, and the sea coast have its bar,

And each of us will have a bier no matter where we are.

Do You Fire Your Doctor When You Get Deathly Sick?

Of course not! You hire a few more and do your best to obtain the most expert talent available to cure your ailment.

Why, then, when your business gets sick, do you fire the best doctor you can possibly use to overcome the malady—DR. ADVERTISING?

The famous Philadelphia and New York merchant, John Wanamaker, has said a great many times and in a number of ways, "When business is poor, that is the time to increase advertising, and to this policy we owe a large measure of our success." What applies to the merchandising business in the large centers applies with equal force to business in the smaller communities.

Business in Heppner is not the best, but it is improving. It can be made a great deal better if business would assume a more optimistic attitude, and push itself forward vigorously and confidently. Advertising will go a long way toward curing the ills that business is suffering from, and a liberal application will make a wonderful difference.
