

Local Happenings

A little better weather conditions are prevailing at Heppner, and we have had some real spring days this week. Hope present indications will point to even better settled weather, and that grass will begin to grow on the hills. It has certainly been tough with the sheep man since lambing begun in the Heppner country, and much loss has been suffered. No grass for ewes, no milk for lambs, and then cold, stormy days and nights have added to the distress of both. We shall not be able to report a heavy percentage of lambs saved on most of the ranges. Shearing has been delayed for weeks, but will now get under way.

Henry C. Gay and family expect to move down on the Umatilla river, where they have recently purchased a tract of land from Waldon Rhea. This place is located a few miles below the Pete Sheridan place at the mouth of Butter creek and is ideally situated for raising alfalfa, keeping dairy cows, chickens and bees, and Mr. Gay hopes to build up a good home there. Mr. Rhea expects to locate on a stock ranch.

The lone orchestra will give an evening's entertainment at the Lexington high school auditorium, on Friday, April 21, under the auspices of the Lexington Parent-Teachers association. There will be several numbers on the program by Lexington people. The proceeds from this program will be used to finish standardizing the grade school. Admission 20 and 25 cents.

A. A. Moeller of Oregon City is a new arrival at Heppner. Being a ball player of some note, and a pitcher of ability, he has become attached to the Heppner team and assisted in the game at lone on last Sunday. He was a prominent player with the Willamette valley league last season, which walked off with the pennant.

At the Patron-Teachers meeting on Tuesday of last week a resolution was presented and unanimously adopted, endorsing Prof. Howard M. James and Mrs. James, and commending them for their good work in the school for the past two years. The annual election of officers will be on the program for the next regular meeting.

While George Sperry is not in the competitive egg producing game, still he is the owner of a Rhode Island Red hen that is no piker, and George has an egg of her production that measures 8 inches by 6 1-2 inches. If she will keep this up for a while she can be classed with that famous Leghorn hen of Judge Cornett's.

Miss Opal Briggs, Mrs. Lillian Turner and Mrs. Pearl Chidsey have been chosen as delegates from San Souci Rebekah lodge of this city to the Grand assembly of the order to be held in Eugene May 24th. Mrs. Turner has been honored with a place on the program for this event.

The C. E. society of the Christian church will serve a delightful May breakfast on the morning of May 5 from six to nine o'clock. The place has not yet been decided upon. This will be followed by a bazaar and baby show on Saturday, May 6. Don't forget these dates.

E. D. Paxson of Hood River had a car of potatoes arrive at Heppner on the last of the week, which he opened on the tracks at the Farmers Elevator Co. warehouse. He sold out the entire car in one day, and will arrange to place another car here shortly.

Another car of Netted Gem potatoes to arrive at Heppner soon. Watch for date in this paper. Anyone desiring different varieties of seed potatoes, write me and I will get them in this car. E. D. Paxson, Box 216, Hood River, Oregon. a20-tf.

Frank Turner reports that he will begin shearing on Sunday at the ranch of McEntire Bros., near Rhea Siding; this providing the weather remains warm enough. He has been set up and rearin' to go for some time.

Mrs. E. N. Crawford departed for Portland on Saturday morning, having in her possession a railroad ticket about a yard long that will take her to Fort Worth, Texas, and then back to Heppner. She will spend several months in the South.

Farm Meeting Well Attended.

During the past week the county agent attended the Hardman, Morgan, and Alpine meetings. All of these meetings were well attended here being close to one hundred present at each place. At Alpine the schoolhouse was packed.

The county agent made use of a moving picture machine which was borrowed from the extension service. O. A. C. Although the films were not just what we wanted yet it showed the possibilities for using the moving picture machine for winter meetings to great advantage. HEPPNER HI LIFE

Edited By JUNIOR ENGLISH CLASS

Juniors Enjoy A Delightful Scotch Party.

The juniors were given a real treat last Wednesday evening when Mrs. Barratt invited the entire class, and a few of its friends, to the Barratt home for a Scotch evening. The class has given several weeks to a study of the works of the greatest Scottish poet, Robert Burns, and all present were delighted to hear their favorite selections sung or recited with a true Scotch accent. Mr. and Mrs. Gibb were the chief entertainers, giving musical selections and a few readings. We persuaded Mrs. Barratt to read some of our favorite poems, and we certainly enjoyed them. Margaret Barratt recited a poem by a more modern Scotch poet, and showed that she, too, could read the dialect. After delicious refreshments of ice cream and wafers were served, we formed a circle and with hands joined, sang "Auld Lang Syne." The entire company departed for home with quaint melodies and bits of verse lingering in their minds, feeling that they would be able to understand Burns and the life he portrayed, much better after the evening devoted to his works.

After entering our junior civics classroom Wednesday, Mr. James announced that he wanted us all to go on a picnic Friday if the weather was good. The class was unanimously in favor. However, as it rained Friday, the outing was postponed until Friday.

At a student body meeting held last Wednesday at 1 o'clock, it was decided to raise the rest of our pledge for the Armenian Relief by free contributions from the students. Friday was given as the day when all the money should be in; by Friday we had enough money to keep an Armenian child for 1 year and some over, which, of course, will also be sent.

Upon Mr. Heard's suggestion it was decided to have the treasurer's books audited once a year. A committee to confer with Mr. Heard was appointed to see about the auditing of the books.

At the same meeting it was decided to have a student body picnic if spring ever came so that we would have decent weather for it.

At a junior class meeting held last Tuesday it was decided to start preparations for the junior-senior banquet. Committees were appointed, and have since been industriously making plans for what we hope, will be one of the most successful events in school history.

Everyone is looking at annuals from other schools to see if they cannot get an inspiration for something new to use in the Hebisch.

There was a splendid response from the students for the Armenian Relief fund last week. On Friday morning only $22 besides the $16.67 from the smoker had been handed in. By Friday evening the amount reached $62.92. This money was put with the $67 which the grades raised and will be sent to headquarters in Portland this week.

Last week the juniors had the pleasure of studying the different kinds of government paper money as a civics lesson. Mr. James made a collection of all the different specimens and they were viewed by the class. Since some of this money was contributed by a few of the fortunate students, they were a little bit worried as to whether this collection would "be" permanent or not.

All those eligible for membership in the "Letter Society" met last week and elected Francis Doherty president, Fay Ritchie, vice president and James Clabough, secretary.

Members of the second year sewing class have completed their silk dresses. Miss Norris reports that some very good work was done on them.

On account of a third grade window being broken the other day, Mr. James forbade the grade children to play ball. The youngsters do not like this very well but we are surely glad for it will make it safer to walk instead of being in constant fear of a ball.

The junior-senior play cast began hard, earnest work Wednesday upon their play, "Martha-by-the-Day," which they will present to the public about the middle of May.

Dry Smut Treatment Is Bringing Good Results

L. Redding from Eight Mile, reported to the county agent's office that the wheat treated last fall with the copper-carbonate, which is the new dry treatment, can be picked out from a mile off in his field. The stand is not only thicker but the wheat is stronger.

C. L. Ashbaugh who lives in the same community reports that his wheat treated with the copper-carbonate is the only wheat that is amounting to anything this spring. His wheat was sowed late receiving the dry treatment in good shape with a good stand, the other wheat will probably have to be reseeded.

Similar reports are coming from other co-operators. A real test, however, will be the degree to which it controls smut. The following farmers have made tests with copper-carbonate: Jeff Jones, Bert Peck, Jess Turner, John Wightman, E. M. Hulden, Rufus Snyder, Heppner; Ralph Finley, Gerge Peck, Joe Devine, Ed Burchell and S. L. Stephens, Lexington; Carl Bergstrom, John Nolan, Dwight Misner and Troy Bogard, Lone; C. L. Ashbaugh, and Floyd Adams, Hardman; Oscar Keithley and L. Redding, Eight Mile; C. D. Morey, Echo.

Watch these about harvest time.

Millions In California Gold For Foresighted Investors

Since the days of '49 California has produced hundreds of millions in gold, and for twenty years past its average yearly production has been about $23,000,000. It easily leads all other states in gold output. Most anybody can have it by digging for it in the right place and in the right way.

Fifty business men and citizens of Richmond, California, all of the highest standing in the community, have purchased a gold mine at Alleghany, in Sierra County, California, which now promises to soon become a wonderful producer of the yellow metal that all the world wants and they offer unit interests in that mine at $100 each, payable in $25 installments. Deeds to the interest are issued when payment is completed, upon a basis of a valuation of $125.00 for the whole.

Adjoining this mine on the same 20-foot ledge of ore is the Kate Hardy mine, now one of the famous rich gold mines of California, and whatever the Hardy has, this mine, the Contact, must also have, the only difference being that one is equipped and developed and the other is not, but soon will be. Men are at work now on the Contact, opening up the bodies of gold ore, and are taking out good milling values already. Ore from the Hardy runs as high as $20,000 to the ton, and apparently unlimited quantities. On the other side of the Contact, on the same ledge, is the Gold King mine, also very rich. Thus the Contact is between two splendid gold mines of proven riches.

To raise a $25,000 equipment and development fund these interests are offered. Half of this fund has already been raised and upon completion no more sales will be made or offered.
