Uncle John's Joke

MOST THINGS YOU START AT THE BOTTOM AND WORK UP—BUT NOT SWIMMING!

Poem by Uncle John

"THE UNEMPLOYED."
Each day abounds in mystery to tax the thoughtful mind, and add its bit of history to the lore of human kind. . . . Each problem up for solving demands a potent skill, and keeps the wheels revolving in life's perpetual mill. . . . To me the unsolved question is ever as before: dumbfound with its ingestion—bewilders more and more. . . . I grope amid its fastness, and tremble at its frown. . . . I marvel at its vastness—no soul can put it down!
The question I refer to, is of the "unemployed." . . . The ones a job is dear to—but seldom is enjoyed. . . . They cry aloud to Vulcan, and Agricola's King—they crave to strike a welkin which never seems to ring!

My soul is wracked in wonder—It is, so help me Mike! I have to work like thunder—I ain't got time to strike! The ardent prayer for leisure is ever on my mind. . . . I'd pour out all my treasure, for a job I couldn't find.

WATER SHIPMENTS LINKED TO FARMER

National Marine League Head Points Out Importance of Co-operation.

TRANSPORTATION IS FARMERS' PROBLEM

Shipping Interests Need the Votes of Agriculturists to Win Battle.

Editor's Note.—P. H. W. Ross is the president of the National Marine League. As chief of that body his investigations have led him to an exhaustive investigation of every phase of American industrial life and the results of that investigation have further led him to the fixed belief that the prosperity of America in the future must rest largely with the degree of co-operation that will exist between all forms of production in their boosting of "American Ships for American Goods," a slogan that means more than it says for it is only by active ship building, he thinks, that there will be shipping under any flag to give the required means of transportation to our ever-increasing exportations.

First—The interests of the farmers are bound up with those of the manufacturer to a greater extent than is generally understood. In fact, they are in the same boat and must sink or swim together. Whenever a carload of machinery or a crate of shoes is marketed abroad, the farmers' product has been marketed with it.

For instance: The greatest obstacle to prosperity for a farmer is the cost of the transportation of his products. The more that costs the less he gets. It may be stated broadly that it hardly ever pays a farmer to market this product in its raw condition.

I used to raise hay in the State of Washington. The cost of transportation was so great that we could not afford to bale the hay and ship it by railroad to market, except in the case of extra fancy timothy, and even then it had to be double compressed for the special Alaska trade; consequently we had to employ the services of a manufacturer, and the first to handle was the cow. We fed our hay to the cow who manufactured it into milk which, after being shaken up a bit, turned into butter, and then we did come out ahead, because the freight on butter in proportion to its value was much less than the freight on grain, hay or the average mixed grades of timothy and alfalfa.

We next found that the man was a much more profitable manufacturer for us even than the cow, and so we fed the man with our products and he in turn produced many things much more valuable than butter, and thus we found that the most profitable investment for the farmer was the industrial capacity of the intelligent working man.

Interests Are Joined.
I have gone into these extremely simple details to show how the sale of every pound of manufactured product of any description is really the ultimate sale of some farm product, and just as it was absolutely imperative to our interests that our manufacturing allies, the cow, the sheep, the ox, the pig and the hen should be kept in first class condition, kept calm, productive and contented, so

FORESTRY FOR NORTHWEST IS A NECESSITY

Col. W. B. Greely, chief forester of the forest service, is spending a few days in the Northwest, having completed an inspection tour of the western national forest districts beginning in May. He will deliver several addresses while in Portland at various meetings of lumbermen of the northwest.

Col Greely while in Portland gave out the following statement:
"The sawmills of the country are moving over the plains to the Pacific coast made by the forest service shows that the lumber cut has dropped off in all eastern states and increased in all the western states. This high southern pine country, which has hitherto been a great competitor of the northwest, is dropping off as a lumber producer and in the meantime shipment through the Panama canal from the Columbia river, Puget Sound and Grays Harbor ports are increasing very rapidly. Shipment of lumber through the canal in 1921 exceeded 190 million feet and charters already held for 1922 exceed 500 million feet, indicating that the west coast timber is very rapidly becoming an important factor in the eastern lumber market. The lumber census referred to above, put Oregon second, with Washington first, as a lumber manufacturing center; Oregon has nosed out Louisiana, which for a long time held second place. This sale of lumber is just what has taken place—sawmills are moving from the South to the West. This industry means more in the long run to Oregon than any other state, as it has larger forest resources than any other in the country. Oregon and Washington are going to be the main sources of lumber supply in a tremendous increase in lumber production to supply the lumber markets of the Eastern and Central states where the local supply of timber is rapidly

Homey Philosophy for 1922.

Fame is a wonderful thing. Think of the bird that first conceived the notion of starting a fire to keep warm before there was any fire. You know his name, of course. Then there was the boy who really owns all the gold in the world, the fellow who looked at a mountain, saw there was some stone in it, dug up the stone, saw there was metal in the stone and figured out how to get the metal out of the stone. You remember who he was, too. And the other boy, what's his name—the chap that fixed out words that carried meaning, and spoke them to the rest of the gang, so they could converse? Everybody knows who he was. There's no use talkin'. It's very important to get your name in the paper an' get a reputation.

Churchless Children

There are twenty-five million boys and girls outside of the Sunday School in this country. Every child in America should be in some Sunday School every Sunday morning. Every child should be accompanied to Sunday School by his parents.

The mother who doesn't bring her child into the world dedicated to God has committed a crime against the child. The father who doesn't lead his child to the altar of worship, reverence, and devotion has committed a crime against his child and against society; for he has left out of the child's training the greatest factor. Parents who refuse to bring their children to church, and who refuse to allow their children to unite with the church and become devout Christian workers are stumbling blocks; they are curses to their children.

There is but one remedy for the condition in this country, and that is salvation by Jesus Christ. There is but one place in which that salvation can be found, and that is in God's infallible Word. There is but one institution authorized to teach that Word, namely the orthodox Christian church.

Every child should be in Sunday School and in the church pew on Sunday morning sitting beside his parents. Children are never too young to be saved, but if they are neglected and grow to be old in sin and crime. It ened in sin they may become too old to be saved. It is extremely expensive to the government for a child to grow to be old in sin and crime. It costs millions to save an old man from the error of his way. A child can be saved at the threshold of childhood and thus save his soul and society untold expense.

The father who uses his automobile on Sunday to take his child away from the church not only breaks the Ten Commandments, but he is a curse to the child and his Sunday to this government.

The father who spends his Sunday on the golf links is a fraud so far as a religious influence is concerned, and he is a menace to the spiritual development of his child.

It is the business of the father to be in the Sunday School with his child, and it is the business of the child to be in the church pew by the side of his father.

Why do people neglect to bring their children to Christ and into the church? Such parents and such neglect are bringing untold sorrow and expense and reflection upon this country. The juvenile courts and the penal institutions are full of the children who come from such homes.

Parents, you are either a curse or a blessing to your children. If you neglect your Sunday duty you are a curse to them. Children ought to be in the Sunday School and church if the nation is to be saved.
