LEGAL NOTICES

NOTICE OF FINAL SETTLEMENT.

Notice is hereby given that the undersigned has filed her final account as administratrix of the estate of William L. Barlow, deceased, in the County Court of the State of Oregon for Morrow County, and said Court has appointed Tuesday, the 5th day of September, 1922, at the hour of 10 o'clock in the forenoon of said day, as the time, and the County Court room in the Court House at Heppner, Oregon, as the place, of hearing and settlement of said final account. Objections to said final account must be filed on or before said date.

MARY S. BARILOW, Administratrix. Date of first publication July 20, 1922.

IN THE CIRCUIT COURT OF THE STATE OF OREGON FOR MORROW COUNTY.

Terry Wendt, Plaintiff, vs. Otto W. Wendt, Defendant. (SUMMONS.)

IN THE NAME OF THE STATE OF OREGON: You are hereby summoned and required to appear and answer the complaint of the plaintiff in the above entitled suit, now on file with the clerk of the above entitled court, and you are further hereby notified that, if you fail to so appear and answer said complaint on or before the 12th day of September, A. D., 1922, the plaintiff will apply to the said court for the relief demanded in the complaint, namely: that the bonds of matrimony now existing between the plaintiff and the defendant be forever

BEEF TRUST GETS FAVORS FROM RAILROADS EQUAL TO REBATES

Small Producers Crushed

George L. Record of New Jersey, who once led Roosevelt's forces, tells how packers and coal barons control the trade.

Special to THE GAZETTE-TIMES By ROBERT FULLER Autocaster—Washington Bureau.

The Beef Trust and the Coal Trust are vicious in their methods of controlling trade in necessities of life. They crush the small producer and exploit the consumer, and must be dissolved, says Geo. L. Record, of New Jersey. The way to do this, he says, is for the people to own and operate the railroads.

George L. Record is a progressive seeking the seat of United States Senator Joseph S. Frelinghuysen. Mr. Record does not mince his words in his charges against the Beef Trust and the Coal Trust. Mr. Record says: "I had an instructive experience which supports the argument I am making that the Beef Trust, as well as the Coal Trust, depends upon railroad favors equivalent to rebates which are denied to competitors. The Federal Trade Commission has described this process in detail after an elaborate investigation.

"If he puts on the road his own cars the railroad managers delay them and divert them, and allow the ice to melt, and thus prevent prompt or adequate deliveries. A Farmer's Experience. "A man recently gave me his personal experience, which confirmed the facts which I had stated. He said he had been a letter carrier in New Jersey, but ill health compelled him to go to Florida and start a truck farm. "When his first truck was ready for dissolved and held for naught, and that plaintiff be granted an absolute divorce from said defendant, and the plaintiff will take judgment against you therefor, and for such other and further relief as to her court may seem equitable. That this summons is published in the Gazette-Times for six successive and consecutive weeks, being in seven successive and consecutive weekly publications thereof, commencing with the issue of July 20th, 1922, and ending with the issue of August 31st, 1922, pursuant to the direction of an order made on the 8th day of July, A. D., 1922, by the Honorable D. R. Parker, Judge of the above entitled court.

BEEF AND COAL

Jersey Progressive says government owned railroads would bust the trusts.

George L. Record, progressive aspirant to the seat now occupied by U. S. Senator J. S. Frelinghuysen of New Jersey, is advocating Federal ownership of railroads as a way to curb vicious methods of the beef and coal trusts.

The New York market he applied to the local freight agent for a car, and to his surprise was told that the railroad had no cars for perishable products, and that he must apply to the Swift concern across the street. "This is a simple illustration of how the Beef Trust has been able to build up and how it maintains its monopoly. "A conspicuous illustration, showing the utility of any relief from such methods, occurred during the last administration.

"The Federal Trade Commission, which was created to curb these trusts, made an exhaustive examination of the Beef Trust, and ascertained by an inspection of the records of the five firms constituting the trust, they were acting in concert to fix prices and dividing markets in violation of the Anti-trust act. "These profits were turned over to Attorney-General Palmer. When he examined them, he announced to the press that the facts were sufficient to send the leading managers of these firms to prison, and that he proposed to put them behind the bars promptly. "How Beef Trust Escaped. "Nothing further was heard of the matter until some time afterward when the Attorney-General appeared in court with the lawyers of the Beef Trust concern, and consented to the entry of a judgment by which the firms were forbidden to enter into certain lines of the grocery trade. "In due time it will be found that the trust concerns have one after another managed to evade the force of this decree.

"Regulation has failed to break up this monopoly because penal statutes have no terror for the trust magnates. The people must own and operate the railroads in order to break up the beef trust and other trusts, like the Coal Trust."

FAKE INDUSTRIAL FILMS ARE EXPOSED

Executive Warns of Moving Pictures Used in Stock Promotion.

SCREEN MISUSED FOR INDIVIDUAL GAIN

Holds That Industry Is on Eve of Great Benefit to Honest Films.

By FRANCIS HOLLEY.

Editor's Note.—Dr. Holley is at the head of the Bureau of Commercial Economics, and is beyond doubt the greatest showman in the world. His bureau sends motion pictures to all parts of the world, and reaches more than one million people every week without charge, and invariably to audiences admitted free. These pictures deal with industry, trade, commerce, agriculture, public health, sanitation and travel, and are used to familiarize the peoples of one country with the activities and habits of those of another.

Since the revival of business a strenuous effort is being made in the industrial centers of the country to devise new methods for exploiting the goods and merchandise of the producer, not only for home consumption but in foreign trade. The motion picture seems to have come into its own, and is being employed very largely by various European countries in their publicity campaigns. The United States stands fifth in this line of effort, but if the plans of the various industrial organizations are carried out it may move up to first.

One of the difficulties in the matter has been the imposition practiced upon many of the large industries by the unscrupulous film makers who have by audacious advertising victimized scores of them to enormous expenses, and obtaining their money under false representations. This is also true of many who are using the screen for the sale of fraudulent securities.

Misuse of Screen. One of the functions of this bureau has been to detect and expose the films made to deceive the public. So far the only objection we have met with comes from makers of film who rob the manufacturer by subsidizing the advertising matter.

As you well know, a bank has the facilities for ascertaining the responsibility of a borrower; the merchant, the credit of a customer; the newspaper, the truth of an advertisement; but where may a preacher or a schoolmaster turn for light on these subjects? How may he know that the advertisements contained in the pictures he shows upon his screen are reliable? When a device, commodity or security, worthless bond or stock, Smoke preferred or Balloon common, is so questionable no bank will lend money to promote it, a respectable broker deal with it, or a reputable exchange trade on it, then the promoter seeks refuge in the celluloid in an effort to gain a bank roll, by fair or foul means. As he finds the means of the professional screen closest to his scheme, he resorts to the school-house or the neighborhood church, and there works his wiles on the confiding and unsuspecting members of the community. Such pictures may be shown under many misleading titles.—Discriminate! For instance, and detect the mining of nothing but coal; or "Gold," and show the mining of iron. Such men will stop at nothing to ensnare their victims. Now, who is morally responsible for the financial losses of these innocent and unsuspecting people? No Appropriation.

This bureau is constantly in receipt of inquiries from all parts of the United States, as to what Uncle Sam offers in the way of facilitating advertising in this and foreign countries. Uncle Sam has no proposition to make, for there is no appropriation available for exploiting any commodity of any individual.

It is not uncommon for employees of the government to seek to use his position to develop business for the producer of any industrial picture and use the facilities of the government in such a way as to impress the advertising manager with the thought that he is acting in behalf of the government, whereas, in truth and in fact, he is only exploiting and bringing his department into public ridicule.

They often use the automobiles of the various departments and the office facilities in outside agencies to mislead and gulfily the manufacturers, but all of this should be dismissed; for Uncle Sam authorizes no one to spend his appropriation except under sanction of any Act of Congress.

Taxes for Advertising.

It is unlawful for any government to use any public moneys whatsoever, in any manner, to advertise or exploit the goods, wares or merchandise of any person, firm or corporation, or lend or contribute the services or advice of any employee of the government, government "postal frank," or facilities pay any traveling or other expenses of any employe, in so doing, or use any instrumentality of the government or prestige of endorsement of any person, firm or corporation for his, her or its product or render or supply any effort at the expense of any public fund or appropriation in this behalf. Any person, firm or corporation who solicits or accepts any such co-operation or contribution in defiance of this fundamental basic principle of law may be deemed equally guilty, and redress may be had in the courts by an injured taxpayer or trade competitor. It is equally unlawful to use the instrumentalities of a government to promote sales of the product of a favored few as to pass in any legislative body class legislation. This is absolutely prohibited by statute.

All Grain Scales in Portland Recently Tested

It will, no doubt, be of interest to the grain growers of the state to know that the Public Service commission has just completed a testing of all grain scales located in Portland and used by its grain inspection department, states H. H. Corey, commissioner.

This inspection was the most thorough ever undertaken. The commission's scales expert, George H. Kaiser, accompanied by W. A. Dalziel, state sealer of weights and measures, and E. D. Jones, city sealer of Portland, during the month of July, inspected and caused to be placed in first class condition, ninety-five scales, seventy-five of which belonged to the grain dealers. These tests were made with a test load of 750 pounds of certified weight. The commission contemplates frequent inspection in the future.

We are also installing a master truck scale and as soon as completed all large hopper scales will be tested with several car loads of grain in order to get a correct test on these large scales. We will also have a meeting of all employees of the grain department at an early date and have them thoroughly instructed in the use and care of scales used in the weighing of grain, states Mr. Corey, and a careful inspection will be had over both the weighing and inspection of grain.
