

RUSSIA BADLY IN NEED OF CLOTHES

American Relief Administration. After Feeding Millions, Now Start Providing Clothing to Keep Them From Dying From Exposure.

New York, Nov. 15.—Unless the American Relief Administration and allied organizations which feed millions of Russian adults and children last winter are to see their work undone and a large percentage of those saved from famine die of exposure, clothing must be furnished at once. Colonel William N. Haskell, chief of the Russian staff of the A. R. A., has reported to Herbert Hoover, head of the organization. With fuel almost unobtainable, and clothing consisting of rags which beggar description, states Colonel Haskell, literally millions will be faced with death in a new form.

Even the children in orphanages and other institutions, who are fed by the A. R. A., are in need. In nearly all of these places, declare the reports, the children have but one garment—often made of flour sacks, and lack shoes, stockings, underclothing or outer clothes. In the children's homes they have recently been supplied with blankets for their beds, but cannot go out of doors because of the lack of shoes. Those children who live with their parents, say the reports, will be unable to go to the child-feeding kitchens to get the food which the A. R. A. and allied organizations provide.

Colonel Haskell's cablegram to Mr. Hoover stated that one million children are in extreme need of shoes, sweaters, stockings and bloomers, and urges that this minimum figure be increased as much as possible. Not only is there almost no clothing for sale, but the prices are so far out of reach that it would take a year's work to earn the cost of an overcoat—if one were able to go without eating or spending wages for anything else.

As a result of the report the American Relief Administration has initiated a plan for the sending of clothing packages into Russia in the same manner as food packages have been handled for some months. Like the food remittance system, individuals and organizations in America may send clothing packages to designated individuals and organizations in Russia, the A. R. A. handling the packages and securing receipts from the consignees or refunding the price of the packages. The minimum figure package will cost $20, and will include materials which cost actually more than that sum in some of the great New York or San Francisco department stores.

The package to be delivered to the beneficiary for each $20 clothing remittance will contain approximately the following clothing material: 4-2-3 yards of all wool cloth in dark colors sufficient to make one suit of clothes for either a man or woman, or two children's outer garments; 4 yards of lining; 16 yards of muslin sufficient for four suits of underclothing; 8 yards of flannel sufficient for two men's shirts or two women's shirt waists; and buttons and thread sufficient to make this material up.

The A. R. A. has arranged with the Soviet Government to provide warehouse facilities and transportation from the port of entry as well as to make concessions in the matter of duties.

In the case of food remittances—which to date total more than $5,000,000 in value, with but $60,000 returned to the applicants, because it was impossible to find the persons designated—several thousand banks, business organizations and individuals in the states agreed to receive the remittances and forward them to the American Relief Administration headquarters, 42 Broadway, New York City, have been asked to undertake a similar service in connection with the clothing remittances. They are as follows: Portland: First National Bank, Peninsula National Bank, United States National Bank, Northwestern National Bank, LaSalle and Tilton Bank, Hibernia Commercial and Savings Bank, and John W. Miller, 625 Lumberman's Building. Ashland: Citizen's Bank, Brownsville, Bank of Brownsville, La Grande, La Grande National Bank, Linton, First National Bank, Oregon City, Bank of Commerce, Salem, United States National Bank.

News Notes

Oregon expects to send nearly 5000 representatives to the National Convention of The American Legion in San Francisco next October by train, flivver, aeroplane and box car, according to plans being discussed following the return of the delegation from this state to the New Orleans convocation, concluded last month. Full cooperation will be given by the Department of Oregon to insure the success of the Pacific Coast Convention. From 10 to 15 live wire legionnaires will attend from everyone of the 112 posts in Oregon and it is expected from the large cities fifty to hundred will make plans to attend the national convention. A formal invitation will be extended by John R. Quinn, past commander of the Department of California, at the Oregon Convention at Seaside next September. Apparently the only way the ex-service men of the last war can make certain of a national bonus is to become the protectors of the next Pacific Legion.

A lot of us lay up money for a rainy day and then allow ourselves to be fooled by the first sprinkling of rain that turns the corner. —Pacific Legion.

VISIT THE SCHOOLS

"Visit the schools," is the slogan adopted by the American Legion and National Educational Association for the week of December 2 to 9, set aside this year as American Education week, for the purpose of bringing home to the people of the country the importance of proper schools.

Mayors throughout the country will issue proclamation concerning the week, clergy will preach on the subject of education on Sunday, Dec. 3rd, merchants will run "visit the schools" signs in their advertising.

Everywhere a sincere attempt is being made by the Legion and educators to stir up interest in the foundation of American ideals, the public school. Oregon American Legion posts will combine their forces with the National Educational Association for a dynamic drive to bring home to the people the importance of the schools. A national drive will be made Monday, Dec. 4th, with the slogan "American all by 1927," to help immigrants to become Americans, and start their education in the duties of citizenship.

The next day, Tuesday, will be devoted to patriotism, with the subjects of "universal" use of the English language in the United States, music as a nation builder, "the flag," the emblem of freedom, and "The citizen's duty to vote," being emphasized.

Better paid teachers, more school houses and the school's influence on the coming generation will receive attention Wednesday, Dec. 6th. The next day Thursday will be devoted to the cure of illiteracy.

The American Legion will endeavor to call the citizen's duty to teaching the illiterate to read and write. "This day will be a declaration of war on illiteracy." An equal opportunity for all in education will be urged Friday, Dec. 8. A nation-wide study will be made of rural and city schools in a comparative way, also of high schools and colleges.

Believing that a sick body makes a sick mind, attention will be called on Saturday, Dec. 9th, to physical education, the needs of playgrounds, and the great out-of-doors, the country's need in developing our forests, the conservation of our soil and play grounds for every community.

What might have proven a very serious accident, occurred on the highway just below the Wightman place last evening, when a collision occurred between the car of Rufus Pieper and one of the big gravel trucks. Mr. Pieper was returning home from Heppner, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. John Pieper, and Mrs. A. G. Pieper, at about 9 o'clock. Both truck and car were going very slowly at the time, but owing to the lights on the truck, Mr. Pieper was blinded, and could not see just where he was going and bumped into the heavy truck with sufficient force to smash one front wheel, bend the axle and knock off the fenders. The occupants of the car escaped injury, and Rufus is of the opinion that it is useless to try to knock a loaded gravel truck off the road.

WARNING TO PARENTS. Certain children known to the Postmaster and authorities are nightly opening postoffice boxes and committing other depredations in the postoffice. This has got to stop, any further acts of vandalism of this nature will cause their arrest and punishment. It is not my desire to cause anyone trouble but if the parents will not look after their children the law will.
