BUYING AT HOME
Strict adherence to the policy of buying at home is rarely seen in any community; for, however it may smack of loyalty to local interests, it is not practical as a fixed practice. It might work if every community were sufficient unto itself.

Merchants who complain most that persons who should be their patrons go to other places to do much of their buying are not usually those who have modernized their business, and who seek to expand this business by regular advertising.

Dealers themselves find it necessary to send to other towns for goods, and the money which was thus spent comes back only in part to benefit the community in which they live. Local manufacturers can not depend alone on the home market.

Merchants who make a study of the needs of the people within their trade area and who set forth in the columns of their home paper the merits of the goods they have to sell, will hardly fail to have response more effective than urging residents to buy at home.

There are many reasons why it pays to patronize home dealers and these reasons, to be effective, must be on a strictly business basis, and not on any plea of loyalty to the home town. The merchant in the small town who carries the goods and lets the people know it by advertising, will get his share of business.

2000 COYOTES KILLED IN 22 MONTHS
By C. C. Calkins, County Agent
Reports come to this office occasionally from stockmen who have seen three or four coyotes in a bunch. What is the greatest number of coyotes you have seen running together? How would it look to you to see 316 coyotes in one band? Any farmer or stockman who could see such a bunch would readily affirm that it would be worth ten dollars a piece to have them killed, and facts will show that their destruction would save at least twice that damage done.

The passage of the measure which was on the ballot for Morrow county, providing for funds with which to continue such work is worthy of commendation.

This office has just asked for a report from Mr. Jewett, predatory animal inspector of Portland, as to the number of coyotes killed in Morrow county during the time that we have been in cooperation with that agency. His report shows that 316 coyotes have been killed, and in addition five bobcats were taken and thirty-five unborn coyotes destroyed since January, 1921.

During this same period approximately 1600 coyotes have been killed and bounties paid on same. Morrow county stockmen have been protected from the ravages of nearly two thousand of these coyotes during that period. Good progress is being made and should be kept up.

Only those counties putting up funds have government hunters at present. Harold Ahalt is operating in Morrow county and will be located where the demand is greatest and where the most good can be done.

If the coyotes are bad in your section, report the condition to the County Agent's office.

Cooperative Council Revises Constitution
To aid farm marketing associations in marshaling more effectively their full united strength in promoting organized marketing in Oregon the Oregon Cooperative Council has revised its constitution and by-laws, is a statement from the Department of Industrial Journalism, O. A. C.

The list of members, who represent their community through public authorities, has been somewhat enlarged, with further provision for their replacement by selected delegates if thought best at any time. Some purposes of the council are stated as follows:

Coordinate effort among all agencies supporting cooperative marketing; foster understanding and sympathy through education of the public in its advantages; investigate proposed new associations; mediate when desired in settlement of disagreements between associations and members; devise plans for support of movement; seek favorable legislation; study transportation problems; gain confidence of public by conservative course.

The council will keep records of all approved cooperative marketing associations, and grant certificates for satisfactory activities.

President of the farm bureau, farmers' union, and state bankers' association, directors of state college extension service and bureau of markets, chairman agricultural committee Portland chamber of commerce, and presidents, managers and directors of commodity marketing associations, are members.

Wm. Huebner and wife of Lower Sand Hollow visited in the city on Friday, and this office acknowledges a pleasant call from them. Mr. Huebner was preparing to take a trip to the Hot Springs to get some relief from rheumatic troubles, expecting to leave this week.

Red Cross Winning In Fight For Health
BETTER, STRONGER CITIZENRY NOW EMERGING OUT OF WORK IN THE UNITED STATES.

The American Red Cross as an evangelist of better health has looked its problem square in the face. How it accepted the task revealed to it in the nation's physical condition as brought out during the World War, and conscientiously applied its activities to correction forms a chapter in the forthcoming annual report. Historically and practically, nursing is a basic work for the Red Cross. In its public health nursing service, in instruction in home hygiene and care of the sick, nutrition classes, first aid and life saving courses and health centers, American Red Cross is applying effectively the lessons learned during the war and making for a healthier, stronger and better nourished citizenry.

The task of the Red Cross Public Health nurse in the 1,240 nursing services now operating throughout the country instructing their communities in health essentials and disease prevention is demonstrating the possibilities of human betterment and the great benefits of enlightenment.

During the last year 313 new public health nursing services were established by Red Cross Chapters, and several hundred services so convincingly proved their effectiveness that they were taken over by public authorities. In order to promote this work $30,000 was allotted to provide women to prepare themselves for
