LOOKING AHEAD
 NATION'S industrial situation shows itself, as a rule, in the statements issued by the banks of the country. Thus, periods of prosperity are marked by increases in commercial as well as savings deposits. Periods of readjustment, with their accompanying problems of unemployment, show themselves in a decline of commercial deposits and a slight change of savings deposits. And as times become better and the future looms big with possibilities, bank deposits grow again and business comes to life.
 As we look ahead the best advice that this bank can give is: "GET YOUR FINANCES WELL IN HAND. BUILD UP YOUR CHECKING ACCOUNT. PREPARE YOURSELF TO MEET OPPORTUNITY WITH A CASH RESERVE AND CREDIT POSSIBILITIES."

THIS IS EDUCATION WEEK IN OREGON
 This is Education Week, proclaimed so by the President and so recognized by various states and institutions. Oregon, no less interested in education than her neighbors, is employing it as an occasion for review of her educational progress, and as an opportunity to visualize a more complete system of education for the future. It is easy to recall much of commendable advancement during recent years, and equally easy to recognize the need for further development. Education is dynamic and must keep pace with industrial and social progress. In order to plan wisely for the continued growth of the educational system of the state, it is necessary that present conditions be thoroughly understood. It is the desire of those interested in education in Oregon to plan for the improvement of the educational system from kindergarten to the university. Naturally, in viewing the entire system, the thought is inclined to linger upon its foundation, the elementary school. In order to plan effectively for the improvement of the public school system, it becomes immediately apparent that two features enter prominently into the development of the schools. These are the material factor on the one hand, including adequate equipment in buildings, school furniture, course of study and text books; and the vital factor on the other hand, consisting in properly trained and cultured teachers. There can be no efficient school system, no matter what the organization, without properly trained teachers. At the present time, the state of Oregon requires a limited amount of professional training for all teachers entering the profession. This is one of the features of Oregon's superiority educationally. The institution provided by the state for the training of teachers for the elementary schools, the Normal School at Monmouth, is limited in its capacity. The demand for trained teachers is now outrunning the ability of the Normal School to prepare them, and the demand for students desiring to prepare for teaching has become greater than the Normal School can meet. More students are applying at the Oregon Normal School for admission and training than can be properly accommodated with its present equipment. This year, the increase in enrollment is more than fifty per cent above that of the corresponding date in 1921. Last year, the total attendance was more than fifty per cent greater than for the preceding year. Thus, within two years, the attendance has more than doubled. Everything points to a continuation of this increase. Notwithstanding the crowded conditions, practically the same faculty, with only one additional member, aside from critic teachers, is endeavoring to carry on the increased work. A number of classes register more than one hundred students. At least two-thirds of the classes in the Normal School are much larger than they should be, and entirely too large to do the work required of them. It will be impossible to meet the requirements of efficient training of teachers without increased facilities. Moreover, the standing of the Normal School is rather a strange subject for me to discuss, and yet it is a subject which is very timely. Ministers will wince, some will get angry, some unsophisticated preachers will deny that there are dishonest preachers, and the dishonest preachers will pretend to be exceedingly pious, and will hurl their pious bricks at anyone who makes the suggestion. The fact remains that there are dishonest preachers. We are not referring to men who fail to pay their debts, although there are many preachers who do not understand that an engagement must be kept on the day the note falls due. We are talking about the blasphemous, premeditatedly dishonest preachers who remain in orthodox pulpits and draw their salaries from orthodox members of the church while they preach rationalism, socialism, heresy and anarchy every Sunday. Any rationalist preacher who stands in the pulpit and denies the fundamental doctrines of God's infallible Word and continues to draw his salary from the treasury of orthodox churches is dishonest. He is not, these-servicing, salary-grabbing opportunist, and financially dishonest. He is getting money under false pretenses, is living before the public a lie, and is practicing a fraud upon the congregation. He is drawing his meat and bread from the pockets of honest, orthodox men and women. Why isn't he honest enough to resign the pulpit? Why doesn't he go to his own crowd and ask them to give him a crust of bread and clothe his unworthy body. No, he defames God, and demands of God's people that they support him. If that isn't dishonest, then I do not know the meaning of the word. The time has come when every church in this land composed of honest, consecrated, orthodox Christian men and women should rise and drive from their pulpits such dishonest men. Send them to the fields to eat grass. Kick them out of your pulpits; cease to feed and to employ men who deny the infallibility of God's Word, who deny the Deity of Christ, and reject His vicarious atonement. Drive from the pulpit these dishonest, these-servicing, salary-grabbing opportunist.

among other similar institutions, as well as its standardization with the U. S. Department of Education, is jeopardized. There is immediate need along these particular lines, not to speak of plans for future growth. These imperative needs are additional members of faculty, a new training school at Independence, and increased living facilities for students. Additional class rooms will be a requirement of the near future. Oregon is at the present time inadvertently neglecting her Normal School and allowing herself to fall far behind other states in her facilities for training her teachers. By way of comparison, states not as large or as populous, nor as wealthy are providing considerably more for normal school support than is Oregon. Idaho, with a population of only a little more than half that of Oregon, furnishes three times as much each for normal schools as does Oregon. Other states are making corresponding provision for the training of teachers for their elementary schools. Colorado, with a population gives approximately six times as much for normal schools. California, with four times the population and three times the assessed valuation, grants over eleven times as much for its normals. It is believed that when the people of Oregon know the imperative need of their own institution established in the interest of the boys and girls in the primary and grammar schools of the state, they will not withhold the meagre sum necessary for the adequate support of that institution.

Railroad Men Visit University.
 University of Oregon, Eugene, Dec. 12—Twelve railroad men, including those most directly responsible for the success of the $1,000,000 advertising campaign launched by the Burlington Route, the Great Northern and the Northern Pacific, visited the University of Oregon campus recently. The visitors spent an hour at the University, going first to administrative offices in Johnson Hall, and later to the Woman's building. Here they admired the Murray Warner collection of Oriental art pieces. The entire building was inspected, the party remaining for a time in Alumni Hall. Afterwards they toured the campus, and the Northern Pacific railway men in particular expressed interest in Villard Hall. The building was named in honor of Henry Villard, the builder of the Northern Pacific railroad, and was constructed as a result of a $50,000 gift made to the University in 1885. Included in the party was Harlan Smith, special representative of the roads and a well-known writer. The roads plan to tell in the great national magazine the story of the Northwest, its history; its development; its economic position and its economic possibilities.

The Sunny Southland
 WHERE the sun shines most of the time. Out-of-door life all the time.
 Thousands of miles of paved highways through picturesque semi-tropic settings make motoring wonderfully exhilarating.
 Most attractive ocean beaches on the Pacific Coast.
 Most complete system of hotels, apartment houses, cottages, bungalows and small suites for tourists of any country in the world, and all costs reasonable. Room for everybody.
 Representatives of the UNION PACIFIC SYSTEM will gladly furnish instructive and beautifully illustrated booklets giving complete information about the glorious playground of the West. Let them tell all about hotel rates, railroad fares, through car service, the famous Circle Tour through San Francisco and Salt Lake City, or a part of the way by ocean trip. No journey of equal interest in America.
