"The Treasure Hunters' Is Well Received by Local People

COMEDY MAKES HIT

Beautiful Scenes and Clever Acting Combine With Singing to Com-plete Pleasing Program

"The Treasure Hunters," a comic operetta, was presented by the Hepp-ner High School chorus last Tuesday evening at the Star theater before a large and appreciative audience. With a musical number before the curtain, and several numbers between the two acts of the play, the program was full of high class musical entertainment.

The scene of the operatta was laid in Hocus Pocus, a small island of the Philippine group, and the stage set-ting was made resplendent with the bright costumes of the players, surrounded by the evergreens representing an outdoor scene on the island.
The theme of the story was told in songs by the main characters, with dialogue, which held much of the comedy, carrying minor situations.

Julien Benevente, a young American inventor, and Madeline Luce, the daughter of an American millionaire, daughter of an American millionaire, were very well taken by Alvin Boyd and Velma Case respectively. In the play, J. Winner Luce, the American millionaire, played by Philip Mahoney in stellar manner, had stolen the patent on a diving suit invented by Blake. Luce with the help of a master diver, Jimmy Squabs, well played by Paul Alken, was on his way to Hocus Pocus to search for sunken of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Body of Emmett Jones Laid to Rest Tuesday

The funeral of Robert Emmett Jones, victim of Sunday's auto accident on the highway between Heppner and Lexington, was held in the Christian church on Tuesday afternoon, and was very largely attended by the citizens of the community. It was in fact one of the largest attended funerals held in this city for many years, the new church building being filled to capacity as an expression of the sympathy and esteem in which the deceased was held in this city and surrounding country where he had resided for the past thirteen years or more. The funeral address was delivered by W. O. Livingstone, pastor of the church, and the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters orders to which he belonged, attended in a body. At the grave the beautiful Pythian burial service was used, the officers of Porie Lodge No. 20 officiating. The floral offerings were abundant and beautiful, and during the hours of the funeral the husiness houses of the city remained closed. Robert Emmett Jones was born in Ciifton. N. C.
