

Local Happenings

U. of O. Sculptor Completes Four Creations

Symbolic Group to Honor Mothers and Inspire Youth to Be Placed on Campus

Joseph Ekelson was in the city Saturday from Lexington. He has been spending the past couple of months on the farm with his son, James. Being here on a pleasure trip he has plowed 225 acres for his son, as the boy was not able to get the necessary help, and he is ready to do the job when the Old Oregon Trail association is ready to set up highway guides.

The Oregon sculptor is modeling a series of monuments for O. A. C. men who were killed during the war. The memorial is to be a bronze tablet seven feet high and 25 inches wide. It has been ordered by the O. A. C. class of 1923 as a gift to the college.

He has prepared a model for the symbolic group designed to honor all mothers and to inspire youth to hold fast to the mother's ideals. When the life-size work is completed it will be placed in a central position in the woman's quadrangle on the University of Oregon campus.

The second model is a soldier's monument to be erected on the University of Oregon campus in honor of University fighting men who served in the war. It will be an outstanding feature of Memorial Court, a future development of the University.

Professor Fairbanks recently prepared a sketch for a proposed marker for the Old Oregon Trail. It was prepared at the suggestion of Walter

Egbert Young, who was in the city on Saturday from his farm on Eight Mile. He states that the weather has been ideal for the grain and it is coming along fine; if anything it is just a little too rank and some "toughening" weather might prove beneficial.

Sam McCullough was down to the city from his Balm Fork ranch on Saturday. He states that the grass on the hills was never better, and his grain is all coming along fine. The good price for sheep and wool is also pleasing to Mr. McCullough.

Chas. Thomson and family motored to Pendleton on Friday, returning Saturday afternoon. Mr. Thomson attended the doings of the Dukes in that city on Friday night, at which ceremonial a number of tyros tread the hot sands.

Tom Driskill was in the city a few days this week. He is now running a "traveling" butcher shop, peddling meat up and down Butter creek to the ranchers, and expects to make Heppner his headquarters for the summer at least.

J. J. Wells is county assessor of Morrow county and lives at Heppner. He was here today to visit his brother, D. C. Wells, who recently moved to Pendleton from Heppner—Pendleton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson arrived home on Sunday from Portland having spent the past week in the city, where Mr. Patterson attended the convention of Rexall dealers.

O. H. Ferguson was in town Saturday, notes that wheat is showing up fine in the Sand Hollow country where he resides, and he is looking forward to a bumper crop.

Erik Ekelson, who is the proprietor of one of the newest little ranches on Willow creek, was up to Heppner Saturday from his home near Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Akers of one were in the city Sunday evening and attended the baccalaureate services at the Christian church.

Mrs. Josie Jones departed for Portland on Thursday last, expecting to spend a couple of weeks in the city visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their home on Balm Fork on Saturday, May 19.

W. G. Scott, Lexington banker and warehouseman, was in this city to attend to business matters on Saturday afternoon.

Andrew Patterson and wife of Portland are having a visit in this city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Patterson.

Born—May 19th, to Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius McLaughlin, of Blackhorse, a daughter.

Robert Wilcox, Lexington rancher, was a visitor in the city on Saturday.

And the nicest part is that you can easily do the work yourself and enjoy it thoroughly.

For finishing every part of the kitchen there is a Fuller product just suited to its needs. Fuller's Washable Wall Finish can be kept clean by occasionally wiping with a damp cloth. For wood-work, there is Silkenwhite Enamel or Decort, and for floors, Fuller's Rubber Cement Floor Paint.

For 74 years W. P. Fuller & Co. has been producing paints, varnishes, enamels, wall finishes and stains. A local dealer has them. Our Service Department will gladly give you advice and mail a little "Home Service" booklet without charge. Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose.

ISN'T it wonderful what a little paint will do? How it seems to flood the room with sunlight, sweep it with breezes, and leave you singing over the dreariest, "drudgier" task a kitchen can know!

For finishing every part of the kitchen there is a Fuller product just suited to its needs. Fuller's Washable Wall Finish can be kept clean by occasionally wiping with a damp cloth. For wood-work, there is Silkenwhite Enamel or Decort, and for floors, Fuller's Rubber Cement Floor Paint.

And the nicest part is that you can easily do the work yourself and enjoy it thoroughly.

For 74 years W. P. Fuller & Co. has been producing paints, varnishes, enamels, wall finishes and stains. A local dealer has them. Our Service Department will gladly give you advice and mail a little "Home Service" booklet without charge. Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose.

W. P. FULLER & CO.
301 Mission Street, San Francisco
51 Branches in Pacific Coast Cities
Factories: San Francisco and Los Angeles

FULLER
PAINTS & VARNISHES

PEOPLES HARDWARE COMPANY
Heppner, Oregon

Mencham of Baker, president of the Old Oregon Trail association. The design for the marker shows a covered wagon drawn by an ox-team. A pioneer family is looking westward from their seat in the prairie schooner. The design is submitted for consideration when the Old Oregon Trail association is ready to set up highway guides.

The Oregon sculptor is modeling a series of monuments for O. A. C. men who were killed during the war. The memorial is to be a bronze tablet seven feet high and 25 inches wide. It has been ordered by the O. A. C. class of 1923 as a gift to the college.

He has prepared a model for the symbolic group designed to honor all mothers and to inspire youth to hold fast to the mother's ideals. When the life-size work is completed it will be placed in a central position in the woman's quadrangle on the University of Oregon campus.

The second model is a soldier's monument to be erected on the University of Oregon campus in honor of University fighting men who served in the war. It will be an outstanding feature of Memorial Court, a future development of the University.

Professor Fairbanks recently prepared a sketch for a proposed marker for the Old Oregon Trail. It was prepared at the suggestion of Walter

University of Oregon, Eugene, May 16.—Arard Fairbanks, assistant professor of fine arts in the University of Oregon in charge of classes in sculpture, has completed models of four significant creations.

He has prepared a model for the symbolic group designed to honor all mothers and to inspire youth to hold fast to the mother's ideals. When the life-size work is completed it will be placed in a central position in the woman's quadrangle on the University of Oregon campus.

The second model is a soldier's monument to be erected on the University of Oregon campus in honor of University fighting men who served in the war. It will be an outstanding feature of Memorial Court, a future development of the University.

Professor Fairbanks recently prepared a sketch for a proposed marker for the Old Oregon Trail. It was prepared at the suggestion of Walter

Egbert Young, who was in the city on Saturday from his farm on Eight Mile. He states that the weather has been ideal for the grain and it is coming along fine; if anything it is just a little too rank and some "toughening" weather might prove beneficial.

Sam McCullough was down to the city from his Balm Fork ranch on Saturday. He states that the grass on the hills was never better, and his grain is all coming along fine. The good price for sheep and wool is also pleasing to Mr. McCullough.

Chas. Thomson and family motored to Pendleton on Friday, returning Saturday afternoon. Mr. Thomson attended the doings of the Dukes in that city on Friday night, at which ceremonial a number of tyros tread the hot sands.

Tom Driskill was in the city a few days this week. He is now running a "traveling" butcher shop, peddling meat up and down Butter creek to the ranchers, and expects to make Heppner his headquarters for the summer at least.

J. J. Wells is county assessor of Morrow county and lives at Heppner. He was here today to visit his brother, D. C. Wells, who recently moved to Pendleton from Heppner—Pendleton, O.

Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson arrived home on Sunday from Portland having spent the past week in the city, where Mr. Patterson attended the convention of Rexall dealers.

O. H. Ferguson was in town Saturday, notes that wheat is showing up fine in the Sand Hollow country where he resides, and he is looking forward to a bumper crop.

Erik Ekelson, who is the proprietor of one of the newest little ranches on Willow creek, was up to Heppner Saturday from his home near Lexington.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Akers of one were in the city Sunday evening and attended the baccalaureate services at the Christian church.

Mrs. Josie Jones departed for Portland on Thursday last, expecting to spend a couple of weeks in the city visiting with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Thompson are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their home on Balm Fork on Saturday, May 19.

W. G. Scott, Lexington banker and warehouseman, was in this city to attend to business matters on Saturday afternoon.

Andrew Patterson and wife of Portland are having a visit in this city with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. C.

Patterson.

Born—May 19th, to Mr. and Mrs.

Cornelius McLaughlin, of Blackhorse, a daughter.

Robert Wilcox, Lexington rancher, was a visitor in the city on Saturday.

And the nicest part is that you can easily do the work yourself and enjoy it thoroughly.

For finishing every part of the kitchen there is a Fuller product just suited to its needs. Fuller's Washable Wall

Finish can be kept clean by occasionally wiping with a damp cloth. For wood-work, there is Silkenwhite Enamel or Decort, and for floors, Fuller's Rubber

Cement Floor Paint.

And the nicest part is that you can easily do the work yourself and enjoy it thoroughly.

For 74 years W. P. Fuller & Co. has been producing paints, varnishes, enamels, wall finishes and stains.

A local dealer has them. Our Service Department will gladly give you advice and mail a little "Home Service" booklet without charge.

Whatever your painting need, W. P. Fuller & Co. makes a paint for the purpose.

We are offering MASON CORD TIRES which were purchased before the advance at these prices as long as our present stock lasts:

| | | |
|------------|----------------|---------|
| 30 x 3 | Fabric | $8.50 |
| 30 x 3 1-2 | Cord, Regular | $11.50 |
| 30 x 3 1-2 | Cord, Oversize | $13.00 |
| 31 x 4 | S. S. Cord | $23.70 |
| 32 x 4 | Cord | $25.00 |
| 33 x 4 | Cord | $25.50 |
| 34 x 4 | Cord | $26.00 |
| 32 x 4 1-2 | Cord | $31.00 |
| 33 x 4 1-2 | Cord | $32.50 |
| 34 x 4 1-2 | Cord | $33.50 |
| 35 x 4 1-2 | Cord | $34.50 |

HEPPNER TIRE & BATTERY CO.
Formerly C. V. HOPPER TIRE SHOP and BATTERY ELECTRIC SERVICE STATION

ed left arm which the angel supports is a roll to be engraved with the names of the dead.

The tablet will be completed this term and sent to New York for casting. It will be unveiled at commemoration.

WOOL PRICES 25 YEARS AGO.

From an old newspaper file of May 1898, it was found $1.00 cents per sheep was paid $1.00 cents a pound.

T. H. Heron says that Wm. Penland of Heppner sold 150,000 pounds at $4.

cents to Frank Lee of San Francisco.

The year before the same grower sold his clip at 6% cents. All of which reminds us that the "good old times" of twenty-five years ago had a few disadvantages—to wool growers, anyhow!—Globe-Times.