

CASES DISPOSED OF IN JUSTICE COURT

Judge Cornett Kept Busy Past Week on Moonshine Charges

SEVERAL ARE FINED

Fourth of July Celebration Causes Carelessness in Displaying Booze; Officers Are on the Job

Numerous cases were heard before Judge Alex Cornett in Justice court during the week, many of them the outgrowth of too free indulgence in moonshine and bootleg whiskey. Some of the cases were offenses committed during the celebration at Parkers Mill, where booze flowed freely and disorderly conduct on the docket as charges for which the law violators were to be heard.

Lee Phillips pleaded guilty to charge of being drunk in a public place, and the judge thought his offense sufficient to call for a fine of $25, with costs assessed at $8.50. His disturbance was taken at Parkers Mill on July 5.

Earl Saling, for possessing intoxicating liquor, came before the judge on the 6th and he drew a fine of $25 and costs at $2.50.

Fritz Eader was arrested at the Mill and brought to court, but pleading the necessity of returning at once to the ranch to look after business, he was allowed to go on his promise to appear in court later on the 10th.

Jas. Wilkes and Raymond Thornton, who were caught by the sheriff were brought into court charged with unlawful transportation of liquor. The liquor was taken from a car belonging to Ed Adkins, and the sheriff confiscated this vehicle, which is now in the possession of the circuit court. Upon coming before Judge Cornett, Thornton pleaded guilty and was given a fine of $250 and costs at $25.

Frank Howell of Hardman, was drunk at Parkers Mill and raising a disturbance; his hearing will be on August 1st before Judge Cornett.

Carl Ylander, who is a powder man with the road crew up Hinton creek, was taken in charge for fighting; he was a little obstreperous when the sheriff served him with a warrant, not having yet sobered off, so when reaching the office of the justice at the court house the district attorney proceeded to swear out another warrant on the charge of being intoxicated, and the judge gave him $25 and costs of $2.50 for this offense, and he began to fight. The fighting charge will be heard later.

Alex Star, for disorderly conduct, drew a fine of $10 and $2.50 costs.

Veterans Bureau Is Doing Good Work

During the fiscal year just ended, the employment service of the United States Veterans' Bureau in Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Alaska developed many hundreds of employment opportunities which made it possible to place in positions all but a few of the 955 disabled veterans who completed their training courses during this period. During the next six months 730 more injured ex-servicemen will be trained under the direction of the government and be ready to fill responsible positions in a variety of occupations.

The job of putting this most important touch on the vocational rehabilitation of injured war veterans of this district is being tackled with untiring zeal, according to District Manager L. C. Jessup. Employees of the Pacific Northwest are urged to cooperate with the veterans' bureau even more earnestly than in the past in this campaign of placing in employment rehabilitated ex-servicemen. The load of training completions is now at its height and quick action is necessary in order that hundreds of war veterans of this district who are scheduled to complete their courses soon will be taken care of. Employees should get in touch with the nearest office of the Veterans' Bureau located in Seattle, Portland, Spokane or Boise.

Chambers of Commerce of the largest cities in the district and members of the West Coast Lumber association are actively supporting the drive to stimulate employment of these men who have learned new occupations to replace the ones they lost because of war service. Governors of Washington, Oregon and Idaho have recently issued statements urging the people of these states to meet this just plea for employment.

New Meat Market Is Open for Business

Henry Swartz this week opened up the Peoples' Cash Market in the building next door to the Calmus blacksmith shop on Main street, and has been quite busy serving the public of Heppner since. Before going into this building it was quite thoroughly worked over and completely repainted and papered throughout, and under the charge of J. H. Cox a sanitary cold storage vault has been installed, where all meats are kept cool and fresh. In the rear of the shop Mr. Swartz will have his sausage mill and rendering vats and what the place is put in neat and sanitary conditions in which manner the Peoples Cash Market is to be run.

Mr. Swartz, who has been engaged in the meat business at Heppner more or less for a number of years past, states that he can promise the best the market affords all the time to his patrons, and it will be his desire to please. Just at present he is butchering at the Lexington slaughter house, but will arrange to do this work at home a little later.

Vancouver, B. C. Will Have Official Meeting

The International Northwest Law Enforcement Officials' meeting will be held at Vancouver, B. C., July 23-4-5-6, 1923, which will be attended by all law enforcement officials from the provinces of Alberta and British Columbia and the states of Washington, Montana, Oregon, Idaho, Colorado, California, Utah, Nevada, Wyoming and the territory of Alaska. The meeting will be an international anti-crime conference for the discussion of vital criminological matters that demand immediate attention, and to advise ways and means of installing modern systems of combating crime. Instructive talks of interest to every man engaged in the investigation of crime or the enforcement of law will be given by some of the most noted criminologists and officials on criminal investigation, identification, procedure, and crime prevention. There will also be great entertainment features for all visitors and President Harding will be there the last day of the conference.

District Attorney Nelson and Sheriff McDuwee are planning to attend this conference, the former being one of the speakers on the program for the first day.

CAPTAIN VISITS OLD HAUNTS.

Back once more amid the scenes of his college days, Everett May, captain of the regular army and former football star of Oregon Agricultural college, is here spending a two months' leave from duty. He is stationed at Clemson college, South Carolina, as a military instructor, and is delighted with the south and the treatment he has been receiving there. "Next to Oregon I never saw a place that so completely pleased me as does South Carolina," he said yesterday. "I did not like to leave Vancouver, where I was stationed with the 6th infantry, but after I got acquainted around Clemson college I was not greatly displeased."

Tack Kept Them from Middle of the Road

Four young women in knickerbockers and skirts, touring by Ford automobile from Oregon to the Yellowstone National park, were at the Coeur d'Alene hotel yesterday. They were Mrs. E. E. Clark, Miss Pauline Hoppold, Miss Odile Groshens of Heppner, and Miss Cecelia Adams of Portland.

"We are unable to stay in the road for 15 miles until we found a tack in a tire," said Mrs. Clark, who was at the wheel. She removed the tack, closed the hole it made and was on the way again and able to keep in the middle of the road states the Spokesman-Review of Monday, July 9th.

The young women left Heppner about a week ago, and seem to be progressing on their journey all right.

A Great Big River to Cross

CECIL NEWS ITEMS

Sunday, July 1, was the hottest day of the season, heat registering 103 degrees in the shade at Cecil. Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday cooler and very windy. Thursday, July 5, cool all day, rained heavily all night. Heavy showers occasionally during Friday, finished up at midnight with a tremendous downpour. Saturday fair but very cloudy. All harvest work at a standstill all ranches in Cecil vicinity at least.

We did expect "Wild" Palmater of Windybrook to have been the winner of the fat men's race at Ione on July 4th. Especially after allowing him to practice on the Cecil race track with Walter Pope as instructor for so many days in preparation for the big event. "Wild" retired from racing to start a game of Who Can Empty a Lunch Basket First.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Deew and family and Mr. and Mrs. Sherard and family from their ranches near The Willows were calling in Cecil on Wednesday evening. Mr. Sherard, who has a fine radio installed at his ranch was quite delighted with the results of listening in on the president's speech, the big fight, etc., during Wednesday afternoon, July 4.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Madden of Portland arrived at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Melville Logan at the Willows on Sunday and have been busy during their short vacation visiting all of their friends on Willow creek.

Mrs. W. H. Chandler and youngest daughter Miss Laura left on Sunday for Lebanon where they will visit for a few days. Mr. C. is too busy among his fine garden produce to go visiting at present.

Peter Bauerland left on Tuesday for London on route for Ritter Springs, so Cecil is now minus her right hand man, while Pete is enjoying his annual vacation, which we hope will benefit his health.

Francis Nash, son of Peter Nash, of Sheld, Ore., accompanied by his cousin John Logan of Four Mile, had a merry time on Sunday while on their journey of discovery around Cecil.

Jack Hynd and daughters Misses Annie and Violet of Buttery Flats and T. H. Lowe of Cecil, accompanied by the late E. F. Hynd of Cecil, sons of the late E. F. Hynd of Cecil, were visiting in Arlington on Monday.

Forest News Notes of the Gurdane District

A new telephone line has been constructed, leading southward from Ellis Ranger station to Rimrock, a distance of about ten miles. At Rimrock a horse pasture will be fenced and a small cache of fire fighting tools established.

K. P. Cecil and T. P. Flynn of the Portland office were in the Gurdane district a few days in connection with the construction of the Western Route road. The route between Ellis and Ditch Creek Ranger stations was decided upon and part of the way located and staked. Some location work was also done between Ellis and Ukiah. It is planned to clear the right of way and burn the brush this season, then next year to do the grading.

Forest Examiner Botcher who is in charge of improvements was at Ellis Ranger station and supervised the location work on the Ellis-Blinn-Red telephone line. Ranger Fred of the Heppner district assisted in the work of construction.

L. M. Bowles who is in charge of the warehouse and dispatcher at the last of the week. Mr. Bowles, in company with Ranger Woods, visited at Arbuckle lookout and familiarized himself with the lay of the land and the fire hazard.

Mrs. Fred Castrol and the boys moved from Abbee to Ditch Creek Ranger station the first of the week to be with Mr. Castrol during the summer.

An attractive, new fence of peeled poles has replaced the old yard fence at Ellis station. The work being done during the rainy weather, at odd times.

DR. RASMUS AT SPOKANE.

Dr. Henry I. Rasmus of Long Beach, Calif., former pastor of the Central Methodist church, preached in his old church yesterday to an audience that filled the edifice almost to capacity, stated the Spokane Spokesman-Review of Monday last.

Dr. and Mrs. Rasmus are guests at the home of their daughter, Mrs. E. Z. Smith, on Walnut road, Opportunity.

Miss Viola Brown, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orve Brown, was successfully operated on the first of the week for the removal of adenoids and diseased tonsils. She is practically recovered from the operation at this time.

LOCAL NEWS ITEMS

The families of Peter Prophet, E. Abbe and O. H. Hendrix, who went to the mountains Tuesday last week to enjoy a few days of outing, were marooned at their camp near the mouth of Potomac on the John Day river, when the big rains came and caught them there. The roads and grades were made so soft that it was not possible to get out with the machines, and the campers did not get back to Heppner until Monday.

Rain and hail made it very unpleasant much of the time, but they got their share of the fish just the same. Mr. Hendrix, who is foreman at the Herald office, has been somewhat indisposed since arriving home and not able to do the machine work on the paper, making it an uphill job for Pat to get out his edition this week, and he had to call on the G.T. to machine some of his copy for him.

Robert Nelson, student at Willamette University, and captain of the university debating team the past winter, arrived home on Thursday and will spend his summer vacation with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Nutsen. Robert made a good showing on the debate team this season, and is the only member of the team when they took a trip through the Middle West and South last winter and carried off the laurels in five out of six debates they had with other colleges.

Mrs. D. E. Gilman arrived home on Sunday after a visit of several weeks in Portland with friends. She remained at Portland after attending the W. R. C. convention in Grants Pass in May. We understand that Mrs. Gilman is receiving endorsement for national president of the Relief Corps and will be pushed for that place at the national convention this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, daughters Doris, Kathleen and Patty and Mrs. Kenneth K. Mahoney departed by auto on Sunday for a visit at Spokane, Wash., and Bonners Ferry, Idaho, expecting to be absent for a week.

Miss Viola Brown, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Orve Brown, was successfully operated on the first of the week for the removal of adenoids and diseased tonsils. She is practically recovered from the operation at this time.

Woman and Kiddies Ride Horseback to Meacham

In order to be on hand at the big celebration at Meacham and to see the President and Mrs. Hugh Carrin and kiddies of Pilot Rock, saddled up their ponies and made the long journey on horseback, arriving in good time and taking in the doings at the top of the mountain. They met President Harding and Mrs. Harding, and when Mrs. Carrin explained to them that they had made the long trip on horseback he complimented her as being a brave woman. They returned home in good time after the celebration and suffered no inconvenience from the pioneer mode of travel.

The president's language was very gracious, but when the trip was reported to Jerry Brosnan, father of Mrs. Carrin who resides in this city, his comment was somewhat of a different nature. Jerry has a way of expressing himself very forcibly and in eloquent terms.

Farmers Elevator Co. Holds Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Farmers Elevator company was held at the office of the company at the elevator on Monday. The business affairs of the company were gone over for the year, the financial report showing a very satisfactory condition and a substantial profit for the year's business.

W. G. McCarty was re-elected president for the coming year and R. W. Turner secretary to take the place of E. R. Huston. C. N. Jones was chosen as a director and Chas. Swindig as the city manager. The Heppner flouring mill property, owned by the elevator company, and which has been standing idle for some time, will be disposed of, either by sale or on lease, the company now having a prospective buyer in view, and in event this is done the mill will be put in operation again, in the opinion of one of the officers of the company.

Central Market Puts on Service for Farmers

Grover Swaggart, proprietor of Central Market, has put on a service for the delivery of meats to the farmers in the Heppner territory. The Ford car fitted up properly to carry the meats and produce is in charge of Earl Miller, and is in the hands of Mr. Swaggart. Each all the farming section tributary to Heppner or less well supplied for their harvest needs. Look out for the Ford with the blue house on it.

Mr. Swaggart has also started up a delivery from the market in town and all orders will be promptly filled and delivered from his shop in his own car.

Mrs. Lena White, daughter of Mrs. W. W. Smead of this city, and formerly a resident here, has been appointed to the position of house mother of one of the homes for children being created by the state W. C. T. U. at Corvallis, and will take charge of her work at once, according to announcement appearing in the Sunday Oregonian. Two cottages have been constructed on the farm, and one of them will be in charge of Mrs. C. T. Webb, wife of the superintendent of the home.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hemperly, recently from China where Mr. Hemperly was a representative of a Portland flouring mill and looked after the trade of his company in that foreign country, spent several days in Heppner this week, visiting at the home of Joseph Snyder and wife, Mrs. Hemperly is a sister of Mr. Snyder.

Ike Howard of Ione is in the city today. The recent heavy rains have delayed the harvest to some extent there, according to Mr. Howard, and it will be several days yet before harvest will be generally under way. The storm at Ione on Tuesday afternoon was light and no damage was done.

Fred Tash and wife and several members of the family made a trip over to Walla Walla during the week for a visit with the parents of Mr. Tash, Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Tash. Fred brought home with him his automobile which he left at Walla Walla late last fall.

W. J. Gooding, a young man from Boise, Idaho, is in Heppner this week. Mr. Gooding engages in the sheep industry in his state and is here at this time looking up the market for lambs, considerable number of which he has purchased from local sheepmen.

Reform Is Needed in Rural School System

Superintendent of Fresno, California, Schools, Points Way to Improvement in Country

University of Oregon, Eugene, July 6.—Reform in the rural school system, the weak link in the chain of American education, is necessary if the public schools are to attain the results expected of them. William J. Cooper, superintendent of schools in Fresno, Cal., declared this morning in an address before the summer session assembly on the subject "Why the Public Schools?"

"The main defect in the American public school now," said Mr. Cooper, "is that the child in the rural district has not the opportunity of the city child. You can easily see this by simply taking a look at some of the buildings to which the rural child is sent."

Short terms, poor building facilities, inexperienced teaching staff, all contribute to the inefficiency of the rural school, according to the speaker. He quoted statistics showing that the city child receives education for a much longer period of each year than the child in the rural district does. Figures quoted from Kentucky, selected as a typical and not exceptional case, indicated that in the first eight years of schooling there was available for the child in the city district a total of 72 months of school against an average of 48 in the country. "This," said Mr. Cooper, "makes it necessary either for the rural child to do one-third more work in the time he is in school or to remain in school for one-third more year. Few are able to do either one or the other."

Figures quoted from recent educational research indicated that of native-born whites ten years old and under, 1,031,000 live in cities and an equal number in the country. The number of illiterates of the 30,000,000 in the cities was given at 21,000 or seven tenths of one per cent, while in the country districts, the number was 1,031,000, making the percentage of illiteracy 3.4 per cent or nearly five times as high. In the case of the negroes, illiteracy ranged from 13.4 per cent in the city to 28.8 per cent in the country.

The speaker pointed out that each child in the public schools is a factor, according to Mr. Cooper, and serves to explain much of the inequality of educational facilities between city and country.

"The answer to the problem," said Mr. Cooper in conclusion, "is the spreading of the burden of school support over the state as a unit—to raise the money where the wealth is and spend it where the children are. Then you may have equal opportunity for every American child."

The policy of state support for schools should be carried out, believes Mr. Cooper, in spite of the influence of large corporations making big profits by outlying counties, sending few children, who protest against being taxed for the education of children in other districts.

$8,000 Shortage Incurred in Mountain Pageant

A deficit of about $8000 is facing the communities that staged the Old Oregon Trail celebration at Meacham July 3 and 4, according to incomplete checks made Sunday at a meeting of the general committee at Grand.

L. C. Scharpf, chairman of the committee from this side of the mountains, attended the meeting.

An accountant is now making a check of expenditures and expenses, and a detailed statement will be ready within a day or two. Communities cooperating in the celebration represented four counties, Baker, Union, Wallowa and Umatilla counties. Presentations are that Pendleton and Umatilla county will have about $2500 to pay toward satisfying the deficit.

All the buildings that were erected on the grounds have been sold, and all except the dance hall have been wrecked. The work of tearing the structure down started this morning.

Morrow County Picnic Is Postponed Again

As sometimes happens in Portland, it rained Saturday, July 7, the day the Morrow County Reunion association was to have held its annual picnic at Laurelhurst Park in Portland, and of necessity it was again postponed.

After duly consulting the weather man, the executive committee have set Saturday afternoon, July 21, for this annual event.

We have the promise of good weather on that date and with the additional assurance afforded in the tradition that "the third time's the charm," it is confidently expected that the attendance will be large and the event will be an unprecedented success.

FILES SUIT FOR DIVORCE.

Cruel and inhuman treatment is given as the reason why she should be granted a divorce from her husband, Charles J. Bookman, in a suit filed this week in the circuit court at Pendleton by Lulu J. Bookman.

They were married in Heppner in 1898 and have two baby girls, custody of which is asked by the mother. The divorce suit was filed on Monday.

There will be a special meeting of Heppner Lodge No. 99 on next Saturday evening, the 14th. It is desired that a large attendance of members be present, as there will be work in the third degree.

WHEAT GROWERS GET FINAL SETTLEMENT

Association Pays Balance Due Farmers on 1923 Crop

PRICE UNFAVORABLE

Adverse Conditions in Marketing Last Year Hoped to Be Overcome This Year.

Checks in final settlement for the 1922 wheat shipments were received in this county the past week by the members of the Oregon Wheat Growers association. Along with the checks was a full statement covering the transactions, and from what this paper was able to learn, the price received by the association members was not altogether satisfactory.

We note from the Producer, organ of the association, that on the average the price received this year was about equal to that paid through the association in the 1921 settlements. This was regardless of the difference in the relative values of the varieties of wheat handled. Last season red wheats brought more money on the whole than the white varieties while this season the latter varieties were the better sellers.

The association officers attribute this change to the fact that this season, due to the fact that the associations have increased the wheat cost prices as compared with the middle west, large quantities of Montana red wheat grown by unorganized producers were dumped on the western markets, lowering the price for the red varieties. With the largely increased membership in the Montana association which has been secured during the last three or four months, it is hoped that this dumping will not be continued in the future.

However, the Morrow county members seem to be pretty much disappointed just at present in the final results of the 1922 crop prices, and they will doubtless make this known to those who have the management of the selling end of the association, if we are to judge from numerous remarks heard on the streets here Saturday last, when a considerable number of the farmers were in the city holding a consultation over the matter.

Navy Band Plays in Portland August First

Oregon folk will have the opportunity of hearing the famous Navy Department band when that organization plays in Laurelhurst Park, Portland, August 1, according to an announcement made Saturday by Lieutenant-Commander Daniel E. Barby, navy recruiting officer of the Portland district.

This band is officially known as the President's band and is now on board the U. S. S. Hancock at the Alaskan tour with President Harding. The band will arrive in Seattle the latter part of July and is due to arrive in Portland, where the concert will be given August 1.

The band which is rated as the best in the United States, consists of 30 pieces and is directed by Bandmaster C. A. Benter. U. S. navy, Laurelhurst Park was chosen for the concert because of the crowd that can be accommodated at that point.

During the concert the Portland navy recruiting office will exhibit two reels of motion pictures. One is entitled "Rolling down Rio" while the other is the "Navy in the Near East."

Governor Walter M. Pierce and his staff have been invited by Lieutenant-Commander Barby to attend the concert and view the pictures.

After the Portland concert, the only one to be given on this coast by the famous band, the band will leave for Washington, D. C. A concert will be given at Salt Lake City, August 4.

OFF FOR CRATER LAKE.

A party consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Turner, Mrs. Julia Rohbit, Bobby Turner, Ruth Turner, Mrs. R. W. Turner, Miss Anita Turner and Miss Ora Gentry departed by auto this morning on a trip to Crater Lake and for a cruise of the great Oregon and other points of interest. They expect to be gone for about two weeks. Harry Turner and family just returned from a trip of several weeks into Washington and Idaho, making the circuit of the wheat growing sections of that state, where they found crop conditions in all lines of agriculture very promising.
