Richard Lloyd Jones Says:

HEED YOUR CALL.

THE first object in life is to find one's self. No man is equipped to make good until he has found his own road to service. The impulse to do a noble deed and to be honored by men is the key to aspiration. In every disappointed heart there lurks this latent desire.

Every man is looking for his chance and a man's fixed place in the world rests with his capacity to see his chance and seize it.

He who resists the call to do the high and noble thing lives to regret.

A power above men placed before each man a worthy work to do. The world measures him by his treatment of that call. If he dodges it the world thinks little of him. If he accepts it he is esteemed.

When the voices in Domremy came to Joan of Arc she did not close her ears or curb her conscience because she had sheep to tend. There were others who could fulfill that duty but there was none that could rise to the needs of France.

When Jenny Lind heard the call to make the world glad with her song she left her knitting for others to do that she might sing.

Cincinnatus left the plow only that he might serve his country better than by making furrows in the field.

He who feels the call to preach is untrue to himself if he holds himself to the plow, but he is as untrue to himself who deserts the plow which he can handle to the good of himself and to the good of men and attempts to preach without a call.

The world is just as much in need of good salesmen as of good singers. It is a high art to be a true and useful merchant or manufacturer.

Before every man there is at least one road open to the high work of helping his fellow men. It matters little if that call be behind the counter or behind the plow, behind the pulpit or before the lathe. He who finds the road to human service and takes that road is he who responds to THE CALL.

CAUTION BUT NOT TIMIDITY.

HERBERT HOOVER, Secretary of commerce, gives sound advice in summing up the manner in which we should hold onto prosperity. The most encouraging note in his remarks of course lies in the fact that so astute an economist should state wihtout qualification that prosperity is with us, that it can be preserved, and that the existing business conditions are not in any sense comparable with the wasteful boom conditions of 1920.

Secretary Hoover calls for caution, for confidence, for courage, and marks emphatically the difference between caution and timidity.

This is a warning that might well be taken to heart by every local merchant in the land. Caution means sound buying and courage demands a realization that goods can be marketed.

He points out that efficiency in production has increased from 10 to 15 per cent per capita since the period immediately preceeding the war. Mathematically it means that America could supply each person the same amount of commodities consumed ten years ago and yet lay off 2,000,000 people from work. The answer is greater consumption which in turn means that the selling efficiency must be brought to measure to the standard of increased productivity. The live, courageous and progressive merchant has sound prosperity before him.—Clayton (Mo.) Watchman-Advocate.

OREGON PIONEER PASSES.

J. H. Filkins, father of fellow citizen H. W. Filkins, died at the old soldiers home at Roseburg last Saturday at the age of 84 years.

Mr. Filkins was well and favorably known over this section of the state where he lived for many years. He was a veteran of the Civil war, member of the G. A. R. and Elks, which societies conducted his funeral last Sunday. He leaves eight children and numerous friends to mourn his passing.—Ione Independent.

Poem by Uncle John

WHEN the average man fronts up to a hill, he aspires to level it down; when he views the broad valley—calm an' still, he mars its face with—a town! If he sees a stream in majesty flow, to nourish some languishin' flower, he'll conjure some intricate trick, ye know, to steal, an' harness its power. . . .

When the average man once fixes his gaze on the forest-monarch's heft, he's sure to connive in a dozen ways—till a stump and the leaves are left! If he runs up against the gigantic cliffs, of a gorgeous mountain height,—he'll calkilate the number of biffs, that can fetch its heart to the light!

When the average man—in a wonderful realm, inspects the immaculate plan, he loses no time in search fer the helm,—to change its course—if he can. . . . but, after his pygmy force is spent, an' his eagle eye grows dim—an' his form, with the ashes of earth is blent, what credit redounds to him?

From Uncle John

Slat's Diary

By ROSS FARQUHAR.

FRIDAY—Ma has ben sorely disappointed with her flours witch she planted over the spot where the dog had went and berried bones last summer. pa sed the ground wood be very rich and fertel on acct. of the acids and fertillis and ect. So just as the flours began to cum up nice the dog happend to think of the bones and he went and dug them up and then drug them up and eat them on the frunt steps. Well, ma dussent think much of pa's good judgmint any more.

Saturday—Ma sed she wisht she wood of married a man witch was lucky enuff to of ben borned with a silver spoon in his mouth as they say in the poplar slang of the present day. But pa sed he drether ben borned with a oil well in his back yard like they got in sum parts of the U. S. states.

Sunday—Pa is all ways herting the feelings of sum 1 ma says. Tonite 1 of ma's old gentlemen frends was here and they was a setting out on the porch in the open air & finely this guy says he was chilled to the bone. And pa gets up and went in the house and brung him out a heavy cap to put on his hed. So he went home.

Monday—Pa's curzen Lisha is a unlucky fellow. He has ben marryed 3 times and all his wifes has died. He just helped berry 1 last week and today he confided to pa that when she was took he lost 1 of the best wifes he ever had.

Tuesday—Are yung frend frum Boston went a swimming with us fellows today. But we aint got much use for him. We have voted him a sissy. He has to ware a neck tie, and a swimmin suit. And underclose in the summer time.

Wensday—Pa sed to ma this evning. I got a question for you. And she says Well what is it and he ast her How does wimen xpress there a fection for animals of the beast creation. And she laffs with a smile and says By marrynig them I gess. Well they was no farther riddels ast enny more.

Thirsday—Pa has changed his place to by gasolean. He sat for a 1-2 gallon today and the fellow sed. You better take a hole gallon Mister because that ford is to old to ween now. Pa says he is threw with him from here after.

HIP POCKET MENACE.

NO one doubts for a moment that the carrying of concealed weapons is a menace to the peace and happiness of a community. The hip pocket as a revolver case is not only a disgrace to the individual as the curse to society. The hip pocket revolver case is not in any measure as great a menace to society or as great a disgrace to the nidividual as the hip pocket flask.

The young man who today fills his hip pockets with flasks containing intoxicating beverages is himself a curse to society and a direct enemy of the Constitution of the United States. He is unfitting himself for any position of responsibility. He no doubt thinks the hip pocket flask is an evidence of smartness and the essential equipment for a lark. Such a young man enters your parlors with his hip pocket flask and one of his first introductions to your daughter is to notify her of his possession of the flask. His next step is to tempt her to drink. If he succeeds he puts her in a very dangerous position and makes of himself a social curse. It is almost impossible to protect girls from the hip pocket menace.

Young men seem to think that they can violate the constitution, trample the laws of the land under their feet, forget the amenities of life, repudiate the doctrines of morality, and violate every known rule of society.

Talk about a crime wave! The hip pocket flask menace is the incubator of the crime wave which is sweeping society, damning young men, and destroying many young women. Cursed be the hip-pocket-flask crowd of America.

Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Luttrell were over from Grass Valley the first of the week, remaining here for a day, guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. D. Clark. On their return home they were accompanied by Mrs. Mary Barton, mother of Mrs. Luttrell, who will spend the summer at the home of her daughter.

NOTICE OF SHERIFF'S SALE OF REAL PROPERTY UNDER EXECUTION.

Notice is hereby given that under and by virtue of an execution in foreclosure duly issued out of the Circuit Court of the State of Oregon for Morrow County by the Clerk of said Court on the 5th day of July, 1923, pursuant to a judgment and decree entered and rendered in said Court on the 2nd day of July, 1923, in a suit in said Court wherein D. E. Gilman was plaintiff, and Emma H. Cummings, and Donald Nursery Company, a corporation, were defendants, and in which suit plaintiff recovered judgment against the defendant, Emma H. Cummings, for the sum of $925.90, with interest thereon from the 30th day of December, 1912, at the rate of ten per cent per annum, the further sum of $125.00, attorneys fee, the further sum of $240.50, with interest thereon from the 24th day of May, 1923, at the rate of six per cent per annum, and $17.50, the cost and disbursements of said suit, I will on Saturday, the 4th day of August, 1923, at the hour of 10:00 o'clock in the forenoon of said day at the front door of the Court House at Heppner, Morrow County, Oregon, sell at public auction to the highest bidder for cash the following described real property, situated in Morrow County, Oregon, to-wit:

Lots 9 and 10 and that part of lot 11 of Block 2, Looney's Addition to the Town of Heppner, Oregon, lying North of Willow creek, as same is platted and plat recorded in the office of County Clerk of Morrow County, Oregon; also all that part of lots 1, 2, 3, and 4, Block 2, Shipley Addition to the Town of Heppner, lying South and West of a straight line running from the Southeast corner of said Block 2 of said Shipley's Addition diagonally across said Block 2 and Block 4 of said Shipley's Addition to the Northeast corner of said Block 4 of said Addition, also Lots 5, 6, 7, and 8 of Block 2 Shipley's Addition to the Town of Heppner. Also Lots 1, 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, and 8 of Block 3 of Shipley's Addition to the Town of Heppner. Also all our right, title and interest in and to all that part of Shore Street lying West of the property herein described, all our right, title and interest in and to Stearling Street lying South of the property herein described and all our right, title and interest in that portion of Clark street lying South and West of said straight line running from the SE corner of lot 2 to the NW corner Block 4 as described. Also all that part of Lots 7 and 8, Block 2, Shipley's Addition to the Town of Heppner, lying South and West of a straight line drawn from the Southeast corner of Block 2 of said Shipley's Addition diagonally across said Block 2 and also Block 4 of said Shipley's Addition to the Northwest corner of said Block 4 of said Shipley's Addition, save and except therefrom that certain tract or parcel of land heretofore conveyed by D. E. Gilman to Heppner Farmers Union Warehouse Co., on the 8th day of November, 1912, which deed was on the 7th day of December, 1912, recorded in Vol. 27, page 150, Record of Deeds for Morrow County, Oregon.

Also save and except from the above described piece or parcel of lands the following, to-wit: That certain piece or parcel heretofore conveyed by D. E. Gilman, et ux., to the City of Heppner, Morrow County, Oregon, on the 8th day of November, 1912, which deed was on the 31st day of December, 1912, recorded in Vol. 27, page 174, Record of Deeds for Morrow County, Oregon.

The above described real property is levied upon and sold as the property of the defendant, Emma H. Cummings, and ordered sold in said suit, and I will sell the same subject to confirmation by the court.

Dated this 5th day of July, 1923.
