Roads as Good, at Half
Price, Said to Result.

That roads should be paid for by the people who use them and not posterity; and that it is cheaper to pay for roads now than in the future, are the guiding ideas in the scheme now being tried in San Diego County, California.

This county has agreed, through its board of supervisors, to construct ten miles of highway, 20 feet wide, paved with concrete, under the "pay-as-you pave" plan. Thirty miles are to be built. Past experiments in paved highway construction in this county have shown that such roads can be built on a cash basis for $25,000 a mile, as compared with $51,275 a mile ultimate cost under the forty-year, sper cert, bond issue plan usually adopted for road building financing in the Western States, California in civided.

The plan was invented after three years atody of road building by George Heaton, treasurer of the county. Since its adoption, at the first of the year, one road, the Powsy Grade Highway, has been completed under it, and the plan found to work out exactly as predicted.

The plan is based on the conclusion that it is better business to increase the tax rate for the purpose of obtaining founds for highway building than ing founds for highway building than that it is better business to increase the tax rate will be approximately one-half of that under the bords are paid have been worn releases future generations from the burden of paying for bonds the receipts from which were used for building roads which to the improvement under the burden of paying for bonds the receipts from which were used for building roads which to the improvement under the burden of paying for bonds the receipts from the half the burden of paying for bonds the receipts from which were used for building roads which one the interstate Commerce and the proposed by the for the construction of reads, but the read and the proposed by the form the burden of paying for bonds the receipts from the half the proposed by the proposed by the proposed by the proposed by the propose ment under the Interstate Commerce building roads which by the time the bonds are paid have been worn out and rebuilt, not once, but in all probability two or three times.

These roads will necessarily have a mifarm excellence of construction and reputation.

STYLES in furniture change with the times, just as do styles in dress. That is why many ingenious housewives rely on Fuller Enamels and Decoret Varnish Stains to bring their furniture up to date.

For refinishing the surface in imitation of natural wood such as Dark Oak, Rosewood and Walnut, use Decoret Varnish Stains. The newest colors when painted furniture is in vogue will be found in Puller's Art Decorative Enamel.
