

Local Happenings

I. N. Harrison and son of Top, were in town on Monday and Tuesday. They brought over a load of excellent potatoes which they found little difficulty in disposing of here. While in the city, Mr. Harrison laid in his supplies for the winter, reminding one much of the days of yore, when all the trade of Northern Grant, and the region farther beyond, came to this town with their produce and did their trading here. This condition would yet prevail if the people of the northern end of Grant county could get some satisfaction out of their county court in the way of a little money spent out of their taxes to improve the roads to the Morrow county line—and then the people of this side do a little more to help the good work along. Mr. Harrison hopes to see this come about and the sooner it is done, the better the people of his section will be pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson O. Bayless returned during the week from a visit of about two months in Idaho. Much of the time was spent at Parma, where Mrs. Guy Boyd, a sister of Mrs. Bayless, resides, but other points in the Boise valley were also visited, and Mr. Bayless thinks that part of Idaho is producing fairly well. O. A. Briana, formerly a resident of Morrow county, now residing near Nampa, is getting along well on his farm of 40 acres, states Mr. Bayless, and he and his little family are quite nicely situated. Alfalfa and garden truck are raised extensively at the section is under irrigation, and the little city of Parma is quite a market for produce, hogs and poultry.

James and Clyde Crawford of Shedd, Ore., are visiting with relatives in Heppner this week, being on their return home from Alberta and the Palouse country, where they spent several months of the harvest season. James Crawford has enjoyed visiting, also, with several of his buddies of the Navy, who were with him at San Francisco during the war. Among them were Bert Gardner, Glenn Jones and Harold Cohn, comrades at Coast Island station.

Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Ayers and Mrs. Anna Spencer, who spent the past week in Portland, returned home on Monday.

A wedding of interest to many Heppner people was solemnized in the Episcopal church at Walls, Wash., on Thursday, Nov. 1, when Mrs. Ella Vale became the bride of Nathaniel H. Webb. Mrs. Webb was formerly Miss Ella Ayers of this city, sister of Mrs. Percy Hughes and Jack Ayers. Mr. Webb is also well known here, for years being engaged with his father, the late Nat Webb, and his brother, Paul Webb, in the sheep business and owning an extensive ranch in the south end of the county. After a honeymoon of a couple of weeks at Portland and the coast, Mr. and Mrs. Webb will return to their home at Walls, Wash.

At the drawing on Saturday evening at the Central Market, the following received cash prizes: Thelma Starkey, $5; C. R. Mott, $3; Miss Kelly McDavid, $1.50; Dick Johns, $1. The Central Market is distributing four cash prizes every Saturday evening, and each customer is given a ticket for cash purchases made during the week.

Henry Hapold and family have moved to Yakima, Wash., to reside. Mr. Hapold has joined a detective agency at Yakima and it is reported that he will have charge of the bloodhounds belonging to the agency. Ray Oviatt returned from that city during the week, having taken Mrs. Hapold over there to join her husband.

Erik Bergstrom, who was in the city on Friday from his farm home in the Gooseberry section, states that there has been a great abundance of work for the farmers out that way this fall. A shortage in help has put the farmers up against it somewhat and made it necessary to put in long hours. The grain is coming along well, owing to the splendid weather conditions that have prevailed.

Delbert Ray Hiatt of Butter creek and Miss Delphia Pettijohn of Heppner were in marriage at the office of District Attorney S. E. Notson in the court house on Saturday. Judge Alexander L. Cornett officiating. Mrs. Hiatt is the stepdaughter of Henry Clark of this city and Mr. Hiatt is one of the sons of W. E. Hiatt of Kelso, Wash., formerly of this city.

Bob Thompson, while in Portland the past week attending the stock show, purchased a fine young short-horn bull from the famous herd of F. M. Rothrock & Co., of Sprague, Wash. The animal arrived on Monday and was taken out to the Minor & Thompson ranch, to become the head of the Minor herd. This bull was a champion in the junior class.

Lawrence Redding was in town on Friday from his Eight Mile home, where everything is moving along nicely because of the fine fall weather. A continuation of the warm sunshine for another week or so will work wonders with the fall seeding, in the opinion of Mr. Redding.

Oscar Edwards returned home on Sunday from a visit to the big stock and land products show at Portland. He went down to the city on Thursday and spent a couple of days taking in the fine exhibits of stock and grain. He pronounces the show a great exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Anderson were in the city from their home out in the Gooseberry section yesterday. Mr. Anderson says that weather conditions have been good in his part of the county for the fall work, though it was somewhat frosty for a couple of weeks past.

County Agent Morse spent the most of the past week in Portland, attending the live stock show and acting as clerk in the judging in the short-horn section. He also attended to matters of business pertaining to his official duties while in the city.

John Kilkenny, big Hinton creek rancher, shipped in a couple of fine short-horn bulls on Monday, purchased at the live stock show in Portland the past week. Mr. Kilkenny believes in improving his stock by the introduction of high class sires.

Ed McDavid was up from his ranch in Juniper Canyon on Tuesday and states that the stockmen and ranchers his way are well prepared to enter the winter, being provided with abundant feed and the stock in excellent condition.

Mrs. Florence Paul departed for Portland on Friday and will spend a couple of weeks in the city visiting with relatives and friends.

Proper Housing Means More Profits In Hog Raising

The Hog needs protection more than most domestic animals, because it lacks natural protection, and is very susceptible to the influence of cold, heat and drafts. Hog houses should have tight walls, roofs, doors and windows, abundant sunlight, well drained floors and plenty of fresh air without drafts.

They should be strongly built of good materials. Frame construction meets all these requirements and Tum-A-Lumber is recommended because it is carefully and accurately made, is strong, durable, dependable and will give life-long honest service.

Picture of Hog house shown here is only one of many properly designed styles that our architectural department has worked out.

Our detail blue prints and material lists are so complete that building can be done by yourself. These are furnished free with the material.

Drop in our office and let us show you other styles.
