Samuel E. Notson returned the first of the week from Portland, where he took in the state meeting of district attorneys. Apparently Mr. Notson did not get very much excited over the big speech made by Governor Pierce before that body, as he expresses the opinion that it was taken far more seriously by many of the county attorneys present than was necessary. Like some of the other utterances of our governor, it was evident that he did a lot of talking on the spur of the moment and will do his thinking later. However, much time of the convention was consumed over the governor's speech, and a number of other important matters, that in the opinion of Mr. Notson should have come up for discussion, were of necessity crowded out.

A. M. Edwards, well driller, who was in town Saturday, reports that he has just recently made an extension in the deep well on the Charley Porter place, near Wells Springs and brought in an excellent flow of water which should be perpetual. The old well was 201 feet deep, and for a time furnished plenty of water. The past year, however, the well was dry and Mr. Porter had to resort to hauling water. In an extension of 37 feet plenty of water was found, and it is the opinion of Mr. Edwards that those who put the well down originally quit drilling just that much too soon.

Harry Duncan arrived home on Thursday evening after an absence of about two months, spent in Southern California. He enjoyed a visit at the home of Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Patterson in South Pasadena, and then spent a month at Hollywood, where he enjoyed himself immensely. Mr. Duncan found lots of hustle around Los Angeles, much activity being manifest in real estate matters, and plenty of people with nothing to do and apparently broke. From a personal standpoint, however, he is not much struck with the Southern California section.

Among sheepmen from the Heppner country attending the woolgrowers convention in Pendleton on Monday and Tuesday of this week, we note the following: Frank Monahan, W. H. Cleveland, Joe Hayes, C. L. Groshen, Arthur Keene, Emmett Smith, Geo. D. Anderson, W. B. Barratt, G. S. Barratt, Frank Williams, John McIntyre, R. A. Gulick, L. V. Gentry, Frank Wilkins, W. P. Mahoney, R. A. Thomson and W. H. Padberg, making about the largest delegation recorded from any section of the state.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Latourell motored over to the Umatilla river on Tuesday, where Charlie spent several hours fishing for salmon. He found the river quite muddy and only succeeded in landing a big sucker, but expects to make another trial at the salmon a little later when he will no doubt meet with better success. He feels, however, that the trip was not an entire failure, as on the return home he killed three coyotes whose pelts should be worth at least twenty-five dollars.

Joe Simas got in from his home below Monument on Sunday and spent a day or so here looking after business affairs. Mr. Simas states that it is some trip out to Heppner these days, when it is necessary to come via the John Day highway to Arlington and then up to this city, and with all other residents of the Monument section he would be glad to have closer connections with Heppner by a more direct route. Conditions of stock are excellent, reports Mr. Simas.

Mr. and Mrs. John Patterson arrived home the end of the week from their short vacation, spent with their son, R. R. Patterson at Pasadena. Ben is doing fine there, and Mr. Patterson states that he never before witnessed so much prosperity in such a small section of country as is apparent around Pasadena. Mr. and Mrs. Patterson enjoyed their trip very much.

Mr. John W. DeNoria, representing the Cook & Gill company, of Portland, who are Northwest distributors of the Paige and Jewett cars, was a visitor in Heppner today. Mr. DeNoria anticipates a fine trade in cars this season, and the fact that the Paige company has increased its output greatly will enable the Portland distributors to take on a much larger trade territory than they have handled hitherto.

Cecil Llesallen, state traffic cop, has been spending several days in Heppner and vicinity, in pursuance of his official duties. Cars still displaying 1923 license plates should keep off the road until such time as they have affixed the 1924 signs, as it is understood that the state traffic officers are now working under orders to enforce the law.

Albert Miller, bookkeeper for the Standard Oil Co., drove over to Heppner Saturday, bringing his sister, Miss Thelma, home. Miss Miller had been visiting in Walls Walls since Thursday with relatives and friends. He returned home on Sunday.

Phelps Grocery has been undergoing a "spring cleaning" during the week. Messrs. E. R. Huston and W. O. Dix being the artists wielding the paint brushes, and they are entitled to credit for doing an excellent job.

A. A. Agee and family were visitors in the city on Monday from their home near Wells Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Olden of Rhea creek were visitors in this city for a short time on Wednesday.

Mrs. Willis McCarty and children came up from The Dalles on Tuesday for a visit at the home of her mother, Mrs. Eugene Campbell, and with other relatives in this city.

Thoroughbred Barred Rock Cockerels—Famous Holterman and Klein-smith strain, at a bargain. Gerald A. White, Lexington, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ritchie of Ione, were visitors in this city on Tuesday.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.
Whereas, it has pleased God, in His wisdom, to call from our midst our brother Claude Haney, and to remove from our lodge an esteemed and respected member, and,
Whereas, Brother Haney was a faithful member of this lodge for several years and had proven himself a faithful and upright Elk, it is fitting that we, members of Heppner Lodge No. 358, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, make fraternal and merited acknowledgment and record of the high esteem and fraternal love in which we hold him.

Resolved, that while we humbly bow to the decree of the Exalted Ruler of the Universe, we mourn the passing of our brother and share with each other our mutual sorrow in his untimely departure.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this Lodge, a copy be transmitted to the widow of the deceased and copies furnished the local press for publication.
