C. H. Bartholomew and Roy Neill, leading citizens of Pine City, were in the city yesterday. Mr. Bartholomew has been in charge of some road work out in his district. Six miles of the road up the creek from Jarmon's has been graded and paved out of money raised by special tax and the balance of the sum thus raised has been spent on the road down the hill at the end of the Lexington-Jarmon market road and was sufficient to do the grading. Mr. Bartholomew feels they have made a record for the money they had at their disposal.

G. A. Bleakman of Hardman, who is a candidate for the nomination for county judge at the hands of the republicans of Morrow county, made a short trip to the north end of the county the first of the week, returning home on Tuesday. Where Mr. Bleakman visited he found business very quiet, and but little apparent interest in the local political situation. He anticipates that the "pot" will begin to simmer pretty soon, as the time is about ripe for the prospective candidates to cast their peribys and sombreros into the ring.

Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Taylor are Madras residents who are stopping for a few days at the Hot Lake sanatorium. They will return home some time this week, having spent several days on a trip to Portland and to Boise, Idaho. Registered with them at the sanatorium is Mrs. Taylor's sister-in-law, Mrs. Lillie Doty and nephew, Ritchie Doty. The nephew is accompanying the Taylors to Madras and will make his home with them this winter. Mr. Taylor is the agent at the O. W. R. & N. who succeeded Mr. Bryant.

According to a report published in Tuesday's Oregonian, Otto Leathers, wanted in this county for violation of the prohibition law, and who made a rather sensational escape from out officers about a year ago and has since been a fugitive from justice, was arrested at Vancouver, Wash., on Monday by a deputy United States marshal and taken to Tacoma. Leathers had been working in the plant of the Oregon packing company at Vancouver for some time. He was wanted by the federal authorities.

R. B. Rice of Spokane was a visitor in Heppner Monday, coming up from Lexington where he had been for several days, looking to business affairs. Mr. Rice was formerly the owner of the Newton artesian well ranch out north of Lexington. This ranch has been transferred a time or two since Mr. Rice owned it, but it has again reverted back to him, and he is here trying to make disposition of the place or arrange for its care. He may have to move on the premises again, so we have been advised.

Theo. Beck and wife returned from Walls Walls on Monday, passing thru this city on their way to Eight Mile. Mr. and Mrs. Beck had been spending about ten days at Walls Walls, being called there by the death of Mrs. Beck's mother, Mrs. Sophi Sprieder, who passed away on the 4th of February. Mr. Beck reports that crop conditions are very good in his part of the county and there is lots of moisture in the ground.

A sheriff's sale of farm implements, horses, mules and other personal property of the John Widdeman estate was held at the Vaughn farm of the late Mr. Widdeman on Monday, at which time about half of the chattels, held under mortgage by the Farmers & Stockgrowers National Bank of this city was sold. It is reported that the stuff sold brought very satisfactory prices.

John Nolan, who was an interested spectator at the meeting in Lexington Saturday, is one of the successful farmers residing several miles out southwest of here. He states that wheat is coming along mighty fine in his locality and there should be an abundant harvest there this season.

Sam Hughes was a passenger for Portland on Friday and has been spending several days in the city this week on business and pleasure combined. He accompanied his daughter, Mrs. Mildred Judy, who had been visiting here with the home folks for about ten days, and was returning to her Portland home.

W. O. Bayless this week purchased the property where he is residing from Dr. N. E. Winnard of Eugene. Dr. Winnard was in the city a couple of days this week for the purpose of making disposition of the place.

LOST or STRAYED—A small black and tan shepherd dog, in Heppner Saturday, Feb. 2. One hind leg broken. R. A. Thompson, city.

Charley Latourell thinks spring has surely arrived. He has disposed of five cars this week—three new ones and two used, and the demand seems to be increasing as Ford's have not yet passed out of style. The good weather must have something to do with it.

Among those attending the wheat men's convention here yesterday were Herald S. A. Pattison of the Heppner Herald, C. B. Cox, director Oregon Export League, W. P. Mahoney, banker, and William Padberg, Heppner wheat farmer.—Arlington Bulletin.

Jake Young came in on Sunday from his home at Aloah, Oregon. He went out on to his Eight Mile ranch to make arrangements to have some early spring plowing done. Mr. Young expects to move onto the place later with his family.

Ed Burchell, prominent Lexington farmer, was doing business in this city Monday. Mr. Burchell reports his little girl entirely recovered from the injuries received in an automobile accident about a month ago.

Frank Turner drove to Portland the last of the week with his truck to bring the household effects of C. A. Minor to this city. Mr. and Mrs. Minor are moving to Heppner to reside.

Herman Neilson, Rood Canyon farmer, was in the city on Wednesday. It would seem that spring has arrived in his locality, if present fine weather can be relied upon.

Thoroughbred Barred Rock Cockerels—Famous Holtermen and Klein-smith strain, at a bargain. Gerald A. White, Lexington, Ore.

Mrs. May Case, deputy county clerk, went to Portland Sunday to receive optical treatment. She returned home Tuesday evening.

C. R. Gunzel, cashier of Bank of Lone, accompanied by Mrs. Gunzel, visited this city for a short time on Tuesday afternoon.

Chas. Thomson of Thomson Bros. this city, is spending the week in Portland on a combined pleasure and business trip.

Dr. N. E. Winnard, Eugene physician and formerly a local practitioner, was a business visitor here the first of the week.

Geo. Ritchie, Hap Woods and Baldy Higgs were prominent residents and business men of Lone in this city on Wednesday.

Mike Marshall, leading sheepman of the Boardman section, was in this city looking after business on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Ball and Mr. and Mrs. Phill Griffin of Eight Mile were visitors in this city yesterday.

Oscar Edwards returned Saturday evening from a short vacation trip in the Willamette Valley.

FOR SALE—Good as new bed day-ent. Price $35.00. Young's Second Hand Store.

Fred Ashbaugh was down from the Hardman section on Wednesday.

"Big" Engelman, lone business man, was a Heppner visitor Monday.

New Football Coach Chosen at University

Former Michigan Mentor Secured by Oregon; Has Made Record of Successful Work.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Feb. 12 (Special).—Joseph H. Maddock, a product of "Hurry-up" Yost's coaching system and one of the greatest tackles in Michigan's football history, succeeds "Shy" Huntington as coach of the University of Oregon football team. He was elected by the executive council of the Associated Students upon the recommendation of Virgil Earl, University director of athletics, who made a tour of the country interviewing twenty-two applicants for the coaching position.

Walter Camp and every other leading critic selected Maddock on the 1904 All-Western team. He was named by others on the All-American eleven. Camp said of him: "Maddock is a powerful ground gainer, strong on defense and in breaking up plays, and showed well in his final and important contests."

The new Oregon coach has had an excellent coaching record. He was first assistant to Yost in the seasons of 1920 and 1921. Before joining the Michigan coaching staff, he was director of athletics and physical education at the University of Utah for six years, taking charge of football, basketball and track. During this period, 1906 to 1912, Utah had championship teams.

A successful business man as well as a coach, Maddock has an interest in a chain of mercantile stores in Idaho. His home town is Idaho Falls. During the last two football seasons he coached the Idaho Falls high school team, giving his service gratuitously. Idaho Falls won the championship of the state. He was as successful as a basketball coach. The Idaho Falls quintet won the interscholastic championship of Utah and Montana two years ago, defeating Montana State College at Bozeman in one game.

"Maddock is one of the greatest tackles that I have ever known," Yost informed Director Earl. "I consider him an excellent football coach with fine enthusiasm and personality."

"Maddock has a mighty fine record and personality," Director Earl informed the student council. "I recommend him unhesitatingly. He is a man with lots of drive and power. He stands about six feet and weighs about 215 pounds. I am sure he will prove to be a successful coach."

Maddock began his athletic career with the Albion (Mich.) college team, and was a member of football, track, baseball and wrestling aggregations. He won the intercollegiate championship in wrestling for two years in the Michigan intercollegiate association which included seven colleges. He was half back on the Albion football team.

Entering the University of Michigan in 1902, he was a member of the championship football and track teams of that year, and he retained his title as intercollegiate wrestling champion of the state. As a football man, he was without a peer, as a line-man. Not only was he chosen by Walter Camp as All-Western tackle, but he was named by Yost and Casper Whitney as All-American tackle in 1903. He had the reputation of being the best all-round athlete at Ann Arbor in his time.

The All-Western team on which he was chosen included one of his teammates, Heaton, one of the greatest football players in history. The All-American team on which Maddock was named was as follows: Rafferty, Yale, left end; Maddock, Mich., left tackle; DeWitt, Princeton, left guard; Hooper, Dartmouth, center; Bloomer, Yale, right guard; Hogan, Yale, right tackle; Bowditch, Harvard, right end; Harris, Minnesota, quarter back; Heaton, Mich., left half; Mitchell, Yale, right half; and Schoekopf, Harvard, full back.

Coach Maddock is 42 years old. He is ready to report to the University for spring football practice.

Let Your Back Yard Provide Fresh Vegetables All Summer

START as early as the ground will permit with radishes and lettuce. Then plant some peas and beans. Eight or ten days later plant some more radishes and lettuce so they will be coming along while you enjoy the first lot. Next, sow beets, carrots, turnips, onions, followed by the vine crops—squash, cucumber, melons. And don't forget early, medium and late varieties of delicious Sweet Corn. By a little planning you can have fresh vegetables all through the summer—and enough to cold pack some for winter.

When you select your seeds, the smallest item of expense, guard your gardening efforts by choosing a branded line known to be reliable. Northrup, King & Co.'s Seeds have satisfied professional and amateur gardeners for 39 years. It is easy to select them from the Sterling Seed Boxes.
