

Local Happenings

George Perry, lower Willow creek farmer, was in the city for a day or so the first of the week, looking after business. He states that everything is coming along fine down that way, some of the sheepsmen being in the midst of lambing and making a fine percentage. Vegetation is growing well, it being a month ahead of the usual season. Mr. Perry thinks that there is bound to be a shortage of water on the lower creek for irrigation this season because of the light fall of snow in the mountains.

Crocket Kirk went to the Heppner Surgical hospital on Sunday, and on Monday morning underwent a minor operation in preparation for a major operation he will undergo a little later. He is reported to be resting well and will be in good shape for the more severe ordeal. Mr. Kirk has been a sufferer for a number of years from bladder trouble and it is hoped that the operation will be the means of relieving him of this and restoring him to better health.

Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Wheeler of Pendleton were visitors here on Friday, on their return home from a trip to Portland. They were accompanied to Pendleton by Mrs. F. E. Sharkey, sister of G. B. Swaggart, who had been spending several days visiting here and at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Swaggart, north of Lexington, and will visit other relatives at Pendleton before returning to her home in Portland.

Frank Lluellen and family have moved to town from the Bill Hughes place where they have been residing the past year. Mr. Lluellen has given up the place and will sell off his stock and farming implements at public sale at the Hughes place on the 19th. N. F. Lawson and family have moved on to the place and Mr. Lawson will farm it for this year at least.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Rippee were here on Friday and Saturday from the ranch of Joseph Hayes on Big Butter creek. While in the city, Mrs. Rippee underwent an operation for the removal of her tonsils at the hands of Dr. McMurdo. Mr. Rippee states that everything is fine out on Butter creek, and the wool clip will be a bumper this season.

Mrs. Guy Anderson and Mrs. Chas. Cox and her sister were in Arlington on a brief business stay this week. They report everything flourishing in and around the Heppner country. Mrs. Anderson's husband is clerk of Morrow county and Mr. Cox runs the creamery at Heppner.—Arlington Bulletin.

R. J. Caraner, district representative of the legislature and candidate for state senator, is convalescing from a recent rather alarming illness at his home at Spry, states Dr. Jenkins, who has made several other trips to that vicinity this week to see sick folks.—Fossil Journal.

Mrs. Dufae, a milliner of Rockford, North Dakota, visited friends in Arlington Wednesday. She has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. C. V. Hopper of Heppner, for several weeks and was here to take the Spokane train for her home.—Arlington Bulletin.

How Oriental Rugs Are Made

Under the direction of a refugee teacher, these girls in a Near East Relief orphanage in Greece are being taught the art of rug weaving, using the methods handed down through centuries. The rug is made by tying knots of colored wool around the warp, each knot being composed of hundreds of thousands of single knots. An expert worker can tie as many as 13,000 knots in a day. Rug making offers a good means of placing the orphans on an eventually self supporting basis, the ultimate goal for each of the 60,000 children now under Near East Relief care.

Convinced that highway advertising signs detract from the natural beauty of the great routes of travel of the Pacific Coast, this Company has decided that it will erect no more such signs and that it will immediately remove all of its signs of this nature now standing. Hereafter the Company will confine its use of signs to commercial locations.

The Company feels that the splendid scenery so characteristic of nearly all of the highways of California, Oregon, Washington, Nevada & Arizona should be unmarred, and on that account is willing to sacrifice the advertising value of the signs.

ADEQUATE WATER SUPPLY REQUISITE

From State Board of Health.

Cleanliness covers the whole field of sanitation. It is the beginning and the end. Uncleanliness is one of the deadliest of removable causes of disease. Filth is dangerous because it may contain the germs of disease. Cleanliness or absence of dirt is not merely an aesthetic adornment, but is above all a sanitary safeguard of importance which has been learned by hard experience. Personal cleanliness is more important than public cleanliness. Avoidance of personal filth is far more necessary than for example cleanliness of streets, back yards, and the like.

And yet it must be remembered that public supplies are public dangers. A polluted water supply may infect no matter how scrupulously clean the residents of a city may be with respect to their persons.

An adequate water supply is absolutely necessary for the preservation of health. No obstacle should be placed in the way of providing the community with a pure water supply. One of the most important uses of water is probably its cleansing properties. Super-cleanliness is the first step toward efficient disease prevention.

Clean bodies and clean clothes are essentials of personal hygiene. Cleanliness is promoted by perspiring prior to bathing. The function of the skin in removing waste matter is not great, but a healthy skin demands frequent bathing. Warm cleansing baths followed by a cold shower or swim stimulate a normal individual and increase his resistance to disease.

The importance of washing the hands before meals cannot be too forcibly carried home to every individual. There is an accumulation of filth and infection in almost every type of work and health demands that everything that touches the food supply shall be absolutely clean. The hands, face, and finger nails should be kept clean, especially before meals. Internally, water is valuable in that it promotes elimination. Water is the great solvent and carrier of material from place to place in the body. Blood is nearly all water and carries food and oxygen to the muscles, brain, etc., and waste matter from the kidneys and lungs. Your blood demands a continuous supply of water. If sufficient water is not provided constipation will result. The improvement in individuals who habitually drink little water is often remarkable when they systematically drink water in sufficient amounts.

EARLY LESSONS ARE EASILY LEARNED

And hard to forget. The habit of saving is easy to acquire. Teach your children to save while they are young. The habit is a good possession and will be the means of "laying up" something for the future.

How much water should an average normal person drink in a day? A good rule is six glasses, one on rising, one at each meal, one in the forenoon and one in the afternoon. Larger amounts should of course be taken when freely perspiring. Free water drinking between meals and when the stomach is empty especially before breakfast, will do much to prevent constipation and assist in efficient elimination.

A TREAT FOR THE FAMILY

The wife and kiddies will enjoy a change from the monotony of home-cooked meals, so why not suggest coming here for dinner every one in awhile.
