

Local Happenings

K. L. Beach of Lexington was knocking about the court house for a short time Monday afternoon. We understood he was contemplating making his declaration to become a citizen, or something of that sort; it may have been that he only desired to change his registration and get lined up to vote at the coming primaries, for all these long years Karl has been an ardent prohibitionist and always registered as such, and this year his party is out of business, in this county at least and if he does not change his registration he will have no vote coming until someone else has said whom he shall vote for. There may be a number of others similarly situated, and they should do as Mr. Beach is doing and get in line to vote at the primary.

Sheriff McDuffee was down in the north end of the county Tuesday where he assisted Traffic Cop Liuallen in landing a few of the speeders along the Columbia highway. Mr. McDuffee states that the rebuilt macadam in the north end of Morrow county is now a beautiful piece of work. The new filler used as a binder is perfect and the surface of the highway is just like pavement. The road is widened to 20 feet and this is also a great improvement in providing for the traffic. The temptation to speed over this piece of highway seems irresistible and the traffic cop is picking up a lot of violators and will land more as the traffic increases. Justice Goodman at Boardman is not easy with them and has no hesitancy in assessing heavy fines.

Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Morgan and Mrs. Fred Murray of Lone were visitors here on Saturday afternoon. Mr. Morgan left a petition here for signatures of republicans, placing his name on the ballot for the nomination of county judge and his announcement appears in another column of this paper. He has many warm supporters in the lone section who are quite confident that Mr. Morgan will be in the race for the finals in November.

Pat Doherty, Butter creek sheep man, was a visitor here yesterday. His camps are busy now taking care of lambs that are arriving at a rapid rate, he said. He does not expect the peak of the season to be reached in his camps until about March 25. The percentage of increase is very satisfactory, he declared, and the lambs are fat and thriving. The wool clip promises to be exceptionally good, according to Mr. Doherty.—East Oregonian.

Bert Mason, mayor of Lone and leading merchant of that city, was a visitor here Monday. He reports business rather quiet in the north end of the county but prospects are good for crops. Apricot and peach trees are out in full blossom and Mr. Mason fears that they may be the victims of late frosts. Escaping this contingency, however, there will be an abundant fruit crop in the lower Willow creek and Ribes creek sections.

Mrs. W. Y. Hall returned from Portland on Saturday, leaving her mother, Mrs. J. H. Cox, feeling much better than when she left Heppner the middle of last week. Mrs. Cox is at the Portland Sanitarium, 60th and Belmont streets, for the present, and Heppner friends who happen in Portland should not fail to call on her. W. P. Cox, who accompanied his mother and sister to Portland, returned home on Friday.

Nels Justus was in town Saturday from the sheep ranch of D. O. Justus & Sons and states that the lambing season will begin about the first of the month, with all conditions favorable. Mr. Justus states that it has been a very fine season for the sheepmen and he hopes for the continuation of good weather conditions throughout lambing and shearing.

Barney Doherty came in from his big Sand Hollow ranch on Sunday and was here for the St. Patrick's day ceremonies. Mr. Doherty is fast becoming one of the most extensive wheat raisers in the county, besides being largely engaged in the production of sheep and wool, and he is making a success of the farming game.

Lou Davidson, county commissioner, was here Saturday, accompanied by his son-in-law, Harlan McCurdy. Davidson and McCurdy will soon be in the midst of lambing at their big ranch in the Gooseberry section. Lou is again a candidate for commissioner from his end of the county and is not likely to have any opposition.

Ray McAllister of Lexington spent a few hours in the city on Saturday. He has but recently returned from Portland, where he spent some time in a sanatorium. He is much improved in health as a result of the treatments he took while under the care of physicians in the city.

Chris Sautter was down from Milton-Freewater Tuesday with a load of produce. He says that the peaches and apricots are all in full blossom now in that big fruit section and there is prospect of a wonderful crop, providing the frosts do not get in their deadly work.

Clyde Wells, realty dealer and insurance man of Pendleton, was in the city for a short time on Saturday, being accompanied by George Roberts and another gentleman from the Umatilla capital. Mr. Roberts is a brother of Al and Mike Roberts, former well known residents of this city.

J. A. Lytle was a resident of the Boardman project who was called to Heppner on Monday to look after business matters. He states that the alfalfa fields down that way are looking mighty fine just now and give promise of a big yield of hay.

George Krebs of the Last Camp ranch at Cecil, where he is engaged in sheepshearing and alfalfa production along with his brother, was a visitor in Heppner on Saturday and reports everything coming along fine in the Cecil country.

POISONS WITHIN RAVAGE HEALTH

From State Board of Health.

There are poisons that are developed within the body. The life processes produce poison as by-products. The liver destroys these poisons and the skin, lungs, kidneys, and bowels eliminate them. These poisons cause old age and eventually death. Were it possible to insure perfect elimination we might live indefinitely. It is therefore important that elimination be promoted by efficient kidney-action, regular bowel movements, and an active skin.

It is not alone important to eliminate the poison produced within the body, but it is just as important to keep out of the body poison from outside. Drugs, self-administered as medicine, and habit forming drugs are important causes of physical impairment. The type of self-medication which is particularly harmful is the taking of headache powders, which in no instance effect a cure of the underlying cause. The abuse of purgatives and laxatives is another type of poison.

However, the most common form of poisoning is infection. Infections are due to the growth in the body of minute animal or vegetable forms, commonly known as germs. Infections enter the body through the skin and mucous membranes. These germs are carried from person to person and the diseases which they cause are known as "catching." Most of these germs develop in the body and leave by way of the discharges. Mouth sprays, sneezing, coughing, and kissing may convey the infection to others. Infected persons and carriers may through their discharges infect water, food, and eating utensils. Infection is spread by unclean hands and promiscuous expectorating. Water supplies are infected by sewage.

Avoid infection by keeping away from congested places during epidemics. Keep away from persons who are sick with acute infection. Know that the persons who are handling your food are not "disease carriers." Use no water or milk that is not carefully safeguarded by the health department. Milk that is not properly pasteurized may contain dangerous germs. There is danger of infection from germs in swimming pools that are not constantly filtered and chemically purified.

Although most healthy people's germs are not disease germs and are therefore harmless to other people, it is hard to tell when even healthy people may get disease germs from some one else. Try not to let other people pass on their germs to you, especially if they have any fever, measles, etc. Persons having on them or in them, germs of communicable disease, must be controlled. To do this properly means intimate attention and supervision of infected persons by health authorities who know their business and do nothing else. Do not allow poison or infection to enter your body.

A SAFE INVESTMENT is the investment that adds to your wealth of health. It is more essential to safe-guard and build up strength than it is to add to your wealth of gold. To an underweight child or anemic adult SCOTT'S EMULSION three or four times daily would be an investment that would yield splendid returns in strength and vigor. Scott's Emulsion is concentrated, tonic-nourishment, ideally suited to a growing child.
