

Local Happenings

The fishing season opened on Tuesday, and Heppner's voters were busy getting their tackle ready and preparing to hike to the various streams hereabouts and drag forth the members of the finny tribe that have been living in perfect safety for months past. It is reported that the fish are very abundant in Willow creek and Rhea creek and many fine catches will be made. Pete Prophet has purchased a new "fish girder" that is decorative in appearance and contains an apartment of sufficient size to care for all the trout that are six inches in length, up to the limit of the catch. Pete states that the fish are so anxious to bite right now that it is necessary to hide behind a tree while you bait the hook, in order to prevent them coming right out to the grass and devouring bait and hook before one has the pleasure of making the cast.

C. M. Jones and wife of Fresno, California, are visiting this week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Valentine, having arrived here on Saturday. Mr. Jones is a linotype operator and a native of Umatilla county who has been living in the California country for a number of years. Mrs. Jones is the younger daughter of Mr. Valentine. After a visit of a week or so here, Mr. and Mrs. Jones will visit his people residing in Umatilla county and at Walla Walla, Wn. Though raised in this part of Eastern Oregon, this is the first visit of Mr. Jones to Heppner.

Oscar Edwards and Ed Bucknum returned on Friday from a trip to Bend. Mr. Bucknum visited the central Oregon metropolis to look over the situation regarding employment in his trade as plasterer, and may return there later to engage in work while Mr. Edwards was called to Bend to look after some business affairs. We had stated in these columns that Mr. Edwards would remain there if he found steady employment, but this was not his intention, he informs us.

L. J. Armstrong, traveling representative of the traffic department of the Port of Portland, was in Heppner on Tuesday. Mr. Armstrong is visiting the various towns and cities of the inland Empire and getting in touch with commercial bodies, shippers and producers and offering to them the cooperation of the Port of Portland. This body will be glad to offer assistance to shippers in solving their traffic problems at all times.

Ole Johnson arrived at Heppner this week and may decide to become a permanent resident here again. He has been living in Wisconsin for the past three years, going there to help care for an invalid sister. His opinion is that Oregon is a better state in which to live than Wisconsin; the winters there are too severe. Mr. Johnson was a resident of Morrow county long enough to be able to judge correctly.

Ernest Dethloff, the young man held in custody here on the charge of stealing a horse from Andrew Easley of Lexington, will have his case disposed of before Judge Campbell in the juvenile court as soon as his people can be heard from. His father has been located at Sacramento, Calif., but as yet has had no communication with the authorities here.

K. K. Baxter of Portland, was in the city on Friday and Saturday last, looking after business pertaining to the estate of the late Robert F. Hynd. Mr. Baxter is financial agent for a large number of people, makes mortgage loans on real estate, and is well posted on the farms and ranches of the Oregon country.

Clark L. Bargar, of Portland, is in Heppner in charge of the big sale at the Peoples Hardware Co. store. Mr. Bargar is an expert in this line and there is no doubt that the sale under his management will be an entire success. He is accompanied by Mrs. Bargar.

D. C. Wells, of the firm of Wells and Keithley of Pendleton, drove over to Heppner on Saturday to attend to some business. He was accompanied by Mrs. Anna Keithley who enjoyed a short visit with friends here. They returned home on Sunday afternoon.

Murderess

Beulah Annan, of Chicago, 23 year old wife, shot her lover, Harry Kolstedt to death in her husband's bedroom. Now Chicago is bragging that she is the City's most beautiful murderess.

Sherman Shaw is slowly recovering from a very severe spell of sickness, his affliction being mainly an attack of flu. This was complicated with asthma, an ailment Mr. Shaw has suffered more or less for a number of years. At this time he is reported to be getting better. His brother N. L. Shaw of Clark's canyon has been in the city several days helping to care for him.

Laxton McMurray, a business man and rancher of Ione, was here Tuesday to attend to business affairs. Mr. McMurray is quite well established in the grocery business in the Egg City and enjoying a good trade; also having in connection a pastime and hands out the soft drinks to the thirsty.

Everett Pattison, who holds a position with the big store of Liebes in Portland, came up from the city Friday evening and spent the weekend with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Pattison in this city.

Spring Time Is Saving Time

IN THE spring of Life prepare for the winter of old age. Such is the good counsel that each father and mother, who have weathered Life's storms and sunshine alike, should give to their offspring. Admonish your son and daughter to be Thrifty, to Economize without self-denial, and to learn the real value of every dollar saved as it pertains to the future.

There is likewise a lesson for the present day young woman and young man to learn. There may come a time when they will wish that they had saved some of the money that they now light-heartedly lavish on needless things.

Now is the time to save so that when the winter of old age rolls around there will be no necessity of added burdens through the tearing worries of financial troubles.
