UNDER FULL STEAM. THIS is a weird presidential year.

A business has so far turned from its usual practice to lay off and go into politics. The first quarter of 1924 exceeded the first three months of last year in bank clearings, car loadings, people employed, industrial production and total trade.

Some of the textile mills are not running full time, but manufacturers of agricultural implements have turned out more machinery for the farmers than during the fore part of last year.

This is, of course, taken to mean that farming is more hopeful, especially since no particular reductions in prices of agricultural implements have been announced.

In January and February of this year automobile makers produced 665,234 motor cars and trucks, as compared with 530,473 the first two months of 1923 and 213,793 the first two months of 1922.

Building contracts thus far this year have been considerably in excess of those of the first quarter of last year. Railroad equipment contracts have been unexpectedly large.

These facts indicate, of course, that the tremendous vitality of the United States is staging a remarkable comeback, which overleaps the usual obstacle of a presidential campaign and uncertainty as to what the future may hold.

At the same time, there is a national sentiment in favor of reduced prices for the necessities of life. We still pay too near the war level for the things we eat, wear and use.

American efficiency is challenged to reach a price level more equitably to all and yet sustain employment. Oregon Journal.

NEW MEN. THE sole ray of hope from Washington in recent days has been the deliberate manner in which President Coolidge has ignored professional politics in selecting men to fill the Cabinet vacancies.

It does not guarantee success that a man lacks a national reputation, but it may indicate that at least he does not belong to the old gang. One of the illuminating disclosures of the investigations is that it is always the old gang that is involved—the same old hangers-on of both parties, the same old office-seekers, even the same old newspapermen.

Government seems to have been building for the last twenty-five years within a limited circle. There have been no new, copious, purifying drafts made on the American people.

The "new blood" which is sought by a change of parties, has not yet been acquired. New people are not brought into the government by swapping one party for another. The only way by which new drafts of men can be brought in is by the renewal or rejuvenation of the parties from within.

"The new blood" once referred to the opposite party; it would be a good slogan for every party to adopt with regard to itself. If this is what Mr. Coolidge is trying to do, good luck to him! But the practical wisdom of his selection can only be determined by the action of the appointees themselves. It would seem that the new Attorney-General could begin at once to show his mettle.—Dearborn Independent.

RADIO TALKS TO FARMERS. RADIO broadcasting stations in some states are sending out on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings of each week, talked talks on agriculture, the last word of the scientist and the scientific farmer expressed in crisp and interesting form.

When it is considered that with proper methods of agriculture and the proper preparation of the soil, the revenue from farms might be doubled, the value of the movement is quite apparent. Agents of experiment stations preaching this doctrine of scientific agriculture are making much headway, but the dissemination of such knowledge requires ceaseless effort and constant pounding. The school talks by radio thus come to the assistance of the county agent and the farmer.

The radio station will present these facts not only to the farmer, but to the boys and girls on the farm. It will aim to make the farmer acquainted to the fullest extent his investment in his acre.

WHO BLOCKS TAX REDUCTIONS? WOULD you hire a doctor to fix an automobile? Would you hire a cook to arrange for the financing of a new hotel? No, you would not.

They why is every Congressman and every Senator supposed to be capable of figuring out a better tax plan for financing our national government than are the experts in the United States Treasury who are responsible for a sound financial policy for this nation?

Men not capable of financing a corner grocery store feel more fully qualified to inflict upon the public their ideas of running a six or seven billion dollar annual government budget than the fiscal experts in the Treasury Department.

The people have been crying for tax reduction but instead of giving it to them, our rag-chewing politicians in Congress have been fighting to figure out some plan that would override the very business-like proposal of the secretary of the Treasury and his assistants, which would have lopped over $300,000,000 off the tax bill for 1923 if it had been adopted.

Politics may be all right as long as it confines itself to political matters but it is a curse to a nation when it dips into business. The tax question is a problem of business pure and simple and should not be a vote getting vehicle for Republican or Democratic politicians.—Manufacturer.

NORTHWEST FURNITURE FOR NORTHWEST HOMES! NORTHWEST Made Furniture Week April 21 to 26, in which our local furniture dealers are participating.

has a real message for every homeowner in the Northwest. It is a dual message of better homes and recognition of the Northwest's large and growing furniture industry.

For, in the inception of a Northwest Made Furniture Week by the Retail Furniture Dealers' Association, is the implied and definitely stated assurance that Northwest furniture is the equal of any made elsewhere on a purely competitive basis.

But, while the furniture manufacturers of the Northwest seek a market for their products on a business basis of price and quality comparison, it is well to consider the value of this industry to this section from an economic angle as well.

We learn, for instance, that 32,000 men, women and children, comprising the furniture workers and their families, are directly dependent on the furniture industry for support.

Consider for a moment that these figures almost equal the population of Everett, Washington—that they represent double the population of Astoria, Oregon, and one-third more than the population of Boise, Idaho, and you have a picture of a "Furniture City" that any section of the country would be glad to call its own.

From the dollar and cents standpoint the fifty furniture factories of this Northwest section, equipped during 1922, 1,751,280 pieces of furniture, valued at approximately $23,000,000. Of this sum approximately one-half remained in the Northwest, either for wages or for the purchase of supplies.

This output required 1,300 freight cars, which if placed in one train would extend a distance of 130 miles, or approximately the distance from Olympia, Washington, to Portland, Oregon.

The investment represented in the factories, equipment and the product, exceeds $12,000,000. The fifty factories occupy some 200 acres, on which are constructed factories having a total floor space of 8,712,000 square feet.

During this week our local dealers will have extensive displays of Northwest furniture. They invite and urge the attendance of every citizen of our city, assuring us that a closer acquaintance with the products of our local furniture factories will mean increased sentiment in favor of Northwest furniture for Northwest homes.

BOY HAS NARROW ESCAPE. John Kirk, Jr., young son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Kirk, residing on the Dexter ranch up Willamette creek about 9 miles southeast of Heppner, had a narrow escape from drowning one day last week.

He was riding in the field along the creek, when the bank gave way and boy and pony were thrown into the water. The creek is pretty high and runs quite swift at the point where they went over and perhaps the presence of mind of the lad was what saved him from perishing. Pony and boy were in about five feet of water and as they came up the boy grabbed the pony around the neck and was carried to the opposite side of the stream and came out safely, though much chilled by the plunge in the ice cold water.

The Mack Jengst sat in Harwood's window being reduced 50¢ each day is now $5 less. Who will get it?
