

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. A. Wheelhouse entertained a number of friends at bridge on last Saturday evening at their home on north Main Street. Honors at cards went to Mrs. Chas. F. Story for the ladies and Mr. McNamer for the gentlemen. At the close of an enjoyable evening a delicious lunch was served. Those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Mahoney, Mr. and Mrs. Gay Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. George Thompson, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Clark, Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Shurtle, Mr. and Mrs. McNamer, Mrs. Chas. and Mr. Joe Kirshner all of Heppner, who motored in for the evening; Mr. and Mrs. Hurlburt, Miss Lucile Hawson, and Franklin Thomas Hurlburt of Condon and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Ames of Rock Creek; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Snell and Mr. and Mrs. Chas. F. Story and the host and hostess—Arlington Bulletin.

George A. Mansfield and wife, of Medford, were in this city over Monday, arriving here Sunday. Mr. Mansfield, who is a candidate for the democratic nomination as U. S. Senator, talked to a gathering of the citizens at Hotel Heppner on Monday evening, outlining his policies and making promises as to what will be done in case he should ultimately reach the halls of congress in Washington. He departed on Tuesday for the points on the line of his itinerary, not revealing to this paper any idea whatsoever of his chances for nomination in a field where there are at least three other very worthy and deserving brethren, so we are not able to impart any information as to just how far Mr. Mansfield thinks he will get in the race.

R. H. Quackenbush is engaging quite extensively in the chicken business on his Rhea creek farm. He is producing large numbers of White Leghorn chicks and disposing of them immediately after hatching. Several hundred day-old chicks have already been sold to his neighbors and at the present time Mr. Quackenbush has 1500 eggs in his incubators. The past season has been splendid for the chicken business, and barring some blousy weather since the first of the present month, there has been nothing to hinder successful production. Mr. Quackenbush was doing business in town on Monday, accompanied by his wife.

Marshall Phelps came in from Bend Tuesday evening and will spend a short vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Phelps. He has been granted a vacation of two weeks by the lumber company for which he works at Bend. Conditions over that way are very fair, Marshall states, though it is noticeable that there has been a slackening up in the demand for lumber and shipments are not so big as formerly. There is a reduction, also, in the number of men employed in the camps, but this has probably reached the point where it will remain fixed for some time to come.

During a trip to Boardman on Friday, Sheriff McDuffee and District Attorney Notson ran into a regular sand blizzard toward the Columbia. They report a very high wind, with the sand flying in a blinding fog and covering the highway in many places. Real estate was certainly on the move down that way. But little effect of the storm was experienced at Heppner and other points farther south.

The work of making the new grade down Cason canyon was begun on Friday by the county road crew and will be pushed along rapidly as there is a determination on the part of the county court to have the Hardman market road completed to Rhea creek in time for the coming harvest. Many of the Eight Mile farmers and those living farther out contemplate banking their wheat at Rhea creek and from that point it will be delivered into town by trucks.

T. J. Humphreys rejoices over the completion of the well on his wheat farm northeast of Lexington. At a depth of 168 feet, Mr. Edwards, the driller, got an inexhaustible flow of good water, and he thinks that an artesian flow would have been struck by going deeper. Mr. Humphreys is well satisfied, however, with the present volume of water and will put in his pump and supply the ranch with all the water that is needed.

Rev. E. L. Moore came in from Redmond Sunday evening to spend a few days here packing up household goods. He was formerly pastor of the Presbyterian church here but has accepted the pastorate there. Rev. Moore and family will leave Enterprise the first of the week as they have to be in Redmond next Sunday.—Enterprise Record-Chief.

The Frank Turner shearing crew finished with the Corrigan bands down on Butter creek the first of the week and on Tuesday moved to McDonald canyon to shear a small band when they will go to the Jim Carthy ranch at Tub Springs. They were laid off one whole day at Corrigan on account of the big wind storm of the past week.

J. O. Kincaid, Gooseberry farmer, was in Heppner Tuesday. He has just about finished with the spring plowing and states that crops are doing fine and the grain is fully a month ahead of former seasons. A little moisture right now would be appreciated, but warm weather would perhaps do just as much good to the growing grain.

E. J. Keller, auctioneer, was here from Lexington on Saturday and conducted a sale of machinery at the Peoples Hardware company store. When Ed is not blacksmithing or shearing horses or pruning up some fruit trees, he sells stuff for people at public sales, and he is not slow at the job.

J. E. Stanfield of Weston, spent a couple of days in Heppner the first of the week, enjoying a visit with his son, Oscar Edwards. He has been having a visit in different parts of the state, being absent from home since the first of February.

Paul De F. Mortimore, who is the newly located pastor with the Christian church at Ione, was a visitor in Heppner for a short time on Saturday. He is engaged in holding a meeting with the church at the present time.

Mr. and Mrs. Oliver J. Cox were among the Lexington folks in the city on Saturday, doing some shopping at the big sale and enjoying a short visit with members of their family residing here.

S. A. Pattison left on Monday for Pittsburgh, Penn., having closed up his business affairs in the city. Mrs. Pattison and Miss Dorothy will follow when school closes, Miss Pattison being in the graduating class of Heppner high school this commencement. Mr. Pattison will continue to engage in the newspaper business and will be connected with a daily paper in a small city some ten miles out from Pittsburgh.

T. H. Nichols states that he finished up his spring plowing just in time, and the last few days of his work found the ground pretty dry. His farm is located right at Lexington and while the grain is coming along well, a good rain would be a big help. Mr. Nichols was in the city for a few hours on Monday to attend to business matters.

August Liebel, who owns a large acreage of wheat lands in both Morrow and Gilliam counties, was a west end visitor here on Monday. He reports grain looking pretty well out his way, but needing rain. Mr. Liebel is somewhat indisposed and for months past has not been in good health, suffering from an ailment that does not seem to yield to medical treatment.

J. N. Pierce of Portland was doing business in Heppner Saturday. He is the head of the firm that built the concrete bridges on the highway in this city a couple of years ago, and now has the contract of constructing five bridges in Umatilla county on the Oregon-Washington highway.

Mrs. P. M. Gemmell returned home on Saturday from a visit of several weeks at her old home near Aberdeen, South Dakota. She experienced enough bad weather during her stay there to convince her that Eastern Oregon is much the better place in which to live.

W. W. Bechtoldt was down from the Hardman section Saturday. He states that it has been pretty cold and windy up that way for the past week or so. Conditions have changed for the better, however, and he looks for improvement in the appearance of vegetation.

Clean-up day in Heppner has made a marked improvement in the appearance of things. Saturday was the day, and Monday and Tuesday the draymen and Marshall Derin were quite busy in carting the rubbish to the dumping grounds south of town.

Hynd Bros. have disposed of 900 yearling ewes to W. T. Matlock of Alderdale, Wash., the price being $10 per head after shearing. Sheep sales have not been very lively so far this spring, but this sale is an indication that good prices prevail.

Mr. and Mrs. Otto Ruhl of Lexington were here on Saturday. Mr. Ruhl is one of the successful young farmers of Lexington and is engaged in wheat raising. His fields show a mighty fine stand of wheat this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. John H. Pieper, pioneer residents of Pieper's canyon, made the usual weekly visit to Heppner on Saturday. Mrs. Pieper manufactures a fine quality of butter that meets with a strong demand in this city.

Having finished the well on the Humphreys' place, A. M. Edwards this week moved to the Friedly place south of Lexington where he will put down a well for Wm. Hendrix, the present owner of the farm.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Nys are the proud parents of a 104-pound daughter, born to them on Wednesday, April 23. Mother and child are reported as doing well, while Joe has been walking on eggs since.

A. M. Moore, who has been engaged in the garage business at Ione for a number of years, has left that city, and with his family is moving to Hood River. He will have work in a garage in that place.

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Olden, Rhea creek farmers, were county seat visitors on Monday. Mr. Olden is pretty sporty these days and has taken on a new Ford touring car from the local agency.

Mr. and Mrs. Frewitt Cox were in the city on Friday. They are now located on the Clark's canyon farm of R. L. Benge and Mr. Cox will engage extensively in the wheat raising game.

Ward W. Wells was in the city the week-end in the interests of the Massachusetts Protective association, a company that writes health and accident insurance, and writes Masons only.

M. A. Frye, local Studebaker dealer this week delivered to W. H. Coffey of the Standard Oil company, a five-passenger light six coupe. The car was brought from Pendleton on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Barlow of this city are rejoicing over the arrival of a daughter at their home on Friday, April 18. Dr. Johnston reports mother and child doing well.

John T. Kirk and wife were down from the Willie creek ranch Saturday. Everything is looking up well along the creek and the hay harvest should be abundant.

M. A. Frye drove to Pendleton on Monday to attend to business affairs. He was accompanied by B. G. Sigbee and his daughters, the Misses Bernice and Elaine.

Ben F. Morgan and sons were in Heppner from Morgan Saturday. He is a wheat raiser of that section and has no complaint to make of the present crop outlook.

Mr. and Mrs. James Warfield, residing near Morgan, are the proud parents of a 10-pound son, born to them at their home on Monday, April 21st.

Mrs. Phill Cohn and daughter, Miss Eleanor, spent the week-end in the city, returning to their Portland home on Saturday.

Gurdane & Son request all persons holding trade checks against the firm to present them for payment before Monday, April 29.

Lawrence Palmer, wheat raiser residing west of Lexington, was doing business in this city on Tuesday.

Cleve Adkins, a farmer located on the Irrigon project, was a Heppner visitor the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown and children of Lena were visitors in Heppner on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Howard were lone people in this city on Saturday.

Gay Huston, Eight Mile farmer, was doing business here on Saturday.

Billy Schwarz, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Schwarz, who has been sick for a couple of weeks with measles, has developed a serious case of pneumonia and is now a very sick lad. There is much sickness of this nature among the children just now and complications arising from measles and flu seems to prevail.

W. P. Mahoney made a trip into Grant county during the past week, looking after interests of the First National Bank over that way. He returned home on Saturday.

E. L. Padberg, prominent lone citizen, was doing business here on Tuesday. He was accompanied by P. P. Hassler, publisher of the Lone Independent.

Dr. Don Hayler, eye specialist of Portland, spent a couple of days in this city looking after his clients the first of the week.

The Mah Jongg set in Harwood's window being reduced 50c each day is now $5 less. Who will get it?

For Sale—Two good stoves and some other household furniture. Phone 10F4, Heppner.

Chas. McElligott and wife of Gooseberry were visitors in this city on Sunday.

FARM POINTERS

A good grazing practice on Oregon pasture lands is to keep the stock off the grass in the spring until it has a start. Rotating grazing on different pastures each year to allow for this growth is most desirable, says the Oregon station. Overstocking on grazing lands is "killing the goose that lays the golden egg." Profit in beef or mutton production depends upon ample grass. An important step in good grazing practices is to allow some grass to go to seed every third or fourth year.

For this year's potato crop successful Oregon growers select tracts as far as possible that have not been in potatoes for three years. They give this part of the operation great care, explains H. P. Basse, plant pathologist of the experiment station. Potato diseases accumulate rapidly in the soil where crop rotation is not practiced.

Meat consumption can be best stabilized if producers will pay closer attention to the quality of stock they produce. Off grade animals produce off grade meat, which is not readily consumed as good quality stuff.

Dipping the sheep soon after shearing is recommended as good Oregon practice by the state college extension service. It reduces the cost of dipping, keeps ticks off the lambs and increases the size and quality of the next season's clip.

Summer pasture for young pigs is being arranged by forward-looking Oregon growers. Rape or grain for pasture is recommended by the college extension service where alfalfa is not grown.

The Del Monte Properties Company, Hotel Del Monte, Calif., use Zerolene oils and greases exclusively in their 23 pieces of automotive equipment.

At DEL MONTE

service counts too

Equally important with the quality of Zerolene, which we believe to be the best oil made for the lubrication of the modern automobile, whether of eastern or western origin and irrespective of price, is the service offered by over 700 Standard Oil Company Service Stations and thousands of Zerolene dealers throughout the Pacific Coast states.

A recent letter from the Del Monte Properties Company, Del Monte, Calif., makes this point:

"We operate a fleet of twelve Winton cars in the guest passenger service in addition to quite a fleet of commercial type vehicles, ranging all the way from Fords to five-ton Packard trucks, all of which are lubricated with the Zerolene oils and greases supplied by your company.

"The uniformly prompt and courteous treatment which we have received in connection with this service is a credit to your organization and it is putting it mildly indeed to state that our experience both with your products and service has been highly satisfactory."

Big users don't pay tribute to the superstition that there is something mysteriously "better" about "eastern" oils just because they cost more — why should you? Insist on Zerolene, even if it does cost less.
