

Tuning Up

Representative Theodore Burton of Ohio will be temporary chairman and "keynote" of the G. O. P. National Convention.

Stands on Record of Service to State

Salem, Ore., May 1.—(Special.)—With years of experience to his credit, Attorney-General I. H. Van Winkle is a candidate for re-nomination in the Republican primary on his record of service to the state of Oregon, and his people.

He is completing his fourth year as attorney general, having been appointed to the office in October, 1920, to succeed Judge George M. Brown, and elected to succeed himself in the November general election of the same year.

Prior to becoming attorney general Mr. Van Winkle had served as first assistant under former Attorney General A. M. Crawford and in the same capacity under former Attorney General George M. Brown, who in re-appointing him to the position said, "Mr. Van Winkle was chosen on account of his special fitness and qualifications."

During his term as attorney general Mr. Van Winkle has successfully conducted many prosecutions of violations of the criminal laws, and is now personally directing the grand jury investigation of Multnomah county's bridge and insurance scandals.

He investigated, and made final application, and proof for thousands of acres of lands accruing to the state through federal grants, the title to which had never been fully vested in the state.

He mapped out the procedure for the simultaneous submission of the soldiers bonus constitutional amendment and law, thereby putting this legislation into operation two years sooner than would have been otherwise possible, and after its enactment he successfully defended it when attacked in the supreme court. Since the law became operative he has liberally construed its provisions for the benefit of the war veterans, and his opinions have uniformly been sustained by the supreme court.

He has rigidly enforced the law relating to the taking of sand and gravel from the beds of the state's navigable streams with the result that the school fund has been augmented by thousands of dollars.

He has firmly enforced the workmen's compensation law with the result that workmen injured in hazardous occupations have been protected and compensated to the fullest possible extent.

As a member of the state irrigation and drainage district securities commission he has carefully passed on all bond issues with special reference to protecting the interest of the state, and settlers.

Mr. Van Winkle was born on a farm in Linn county 53 years ago. After securing his early education in the common schools he worked his way through Willamette University, a Methodist institution, graduating in both liberal arts, and law. He has been a member of the board of trustees of the University since 1906, and the dean of its law school since 1913.

JAMES D. BURNS.

James D. Burns, one of the candidates for Delegate at Large to the Democratic National Convention, was born in Midland, Michigan, in 1881. In 1898 he left the East and came to Condon, where he was first engaged as book-keeper for Dunn Bros., Inc., a corporation of which he is now president. He was elected first a councilman and ultimately mayor of the city of Condon, and during his regime many beneficial schemes were inaugurated and completed, more especially a water system and the paving of Main street. He is a director of the First National Bank of Condon and for the past three years has been, and now is president of the Condon Commercial club. He has also been central committeeman for Gilliam county for the past ten years.

Mr. Burns has always taken a leading part in anything pertaining to the advancement and welfare of Gilliam county and every worthy cause always finds him willing to respond, both actively and financially, irrespective of party. He is an energetic booster for good roads, and he has given much of his time and attention towards the proposal of the completion of the John Day highway. He stands high in the community as a man of the strictest integrity and a loyal citizen, not only to the state of Oregon, but also to the United States, and the people of Oregon could make no better choice among the aspirants now seeking to be elected, than to choose him as one of the state's delegates to the democratic national convention, more especially as he is the only candidate from eastern Oregon whose interests are large and important enough to be represented at the convention. (From Condon Globe-Times.)

Bryan Pays Tribute To This Newspaper

Wm. Jennings Bryan says he would rather speak to the American people through Autocaster News Service than through any other medium, because it reaches the small town and country folks. This newspaper is served exclusively in this town by Autocaster Service.

States, and the people of Oregon could make no better choice among the aspirants now seeking to be elected, than to choose him as one of the state's delegates to the democratic national convention, more especially as he is the only candidate from eastern Oregon whose interests are large and important enough to be represented at the convention. Selecting Candidates—The Ideal of Freedom Bidding Against Ford—One Rockefeller Year

Everybody knows that in printing money by the new process an appropriation of $4,447,500 necessary under the old methods would be reduced to $1,050,000.

If you are interested, write W. P. Leech at No. 229 West Twenty-eighth street, New York.

What are "America's ideals?" The Declaration of Independence expresses some of them, the Constitution expresses others. The most important of all ideals is the ideal of freedom.

And as regards freedom, FREE SPEECH and a FREE PRESS, which mean free expression of thought, whether in books, newspapers, moving pictures or speeches, are most important.

Napoleon knew it, when he said that if he granted complete freedom of the press, he would not be able to maintain his power—which was that of a dictator—for three weeks.

Various "interests" not discouraged by recent Washington revelations are bidding, on what may be called a "Fall-Sinclair" basis, for Muscle Shoals.

The difference between Ford and the others is this: Ford knows how to produce the power and how to use it after he produces it. Ford would do the work with his own money. He has the money, honestly and usefully made, to do it and he is interested in public service and water power development, not in adding to his fortune.

Professor MacAlister reports the discovery in Jerusalem of a trench built before Abraham was born, and used three thousand years before the birth of Christ for the defense of the city.

Such antiquity is not surprising. Jerusalem, located on the route that camels and merchants took on their journeys from Egypt to the head of the Persian Gulf, and to the rich lands between the Tigris and the Euphrates, must always have been an important spot, commercially and historically.

We know it only as Jerusalem after it had become the "holy town" of the Jewish people, originally Bedouins of unusual intelligence and fighting ability. But it had a long, interesting history before that.

Better Homes In America Movement Specializing on Homes for Families Having Small or Moderate Incomes

Advertisement for Better Homes in America Movement featuring a house, floor plans, and portraits of Dr. James Ford and Herbert Hoover.

The picture above shows one of the small house plans in the booklet published by Better Homes in America, which is specializing this year in demonstrating how the family of small or moderate means can get the most out of the family income for the home, from the standpoint of comfort, economy, and beauty. Herbert Hoover, Secretary of Commerce, has been identified with the Better Homes movement since its inception, and is president of the organization. Active direction of the campaign is in the hands of Dr. James Ford, whose picture is shown above. Dr. Ford, who is a member of the faculty of Harvard University, was granted special leave of absence in order that he might take up the direction of Better Homes in America. The first year of the movement—1922—about five hundred communities demonstrated "better homes," and the last year the movement was extended to about double that number. This year many hundreds of additional communities will hold demonstrations. Special efforts are being made to extend the educational movement to the rural sections of the country. Special stress is being laid, also, on homes for American families of small or moderate means. Most persons spend the greater part of their lives in their homes. Making the world a better place to live in must mean to a large extent making homes better places to live in. This is the aim of Better Homes in America, the educational move-
