The editor and several members of the family drove over to Pendleton Tuesday and spent the day. It was noted that the drouth has hit that section very hard, this being especially true of the light land country, and crops are completely shriveled up in much of the territory from Butter creek to Echo and then on to Pendleton. Frost also did damage to the crops in the heavier land districts and altogether there is a very poor prospect for our neighboring county. The business conditions are being largely affected by this condition and much complaint was heard.

Albert Adkins, manager of Tum-A-Lum Lumber company in this city, drove to Walla Walla on Friday to look after business matters. He states the people of that section are complaining because of lack of rain, and the frosts have done very serious damage to both fruit and grain crops. He noted a lot of mighty fine grain growing along the road in both Umatilla and Walla Walla counties, however.

Theo. Anderson, who was in town on Wednesday, states that the dry weather has not affected the grain very materially in that part of the county yet, but each day the coming of rain is delayed is making the situation more precarious. As a matter of fact, thousands of acres of grain in this county are now beyond any help and there is a prospect of an exceedingly light harvest.

ably on all the citizens and would permit those able to make larger gifts to do so.

It is expected that the gifts of alumni who live in Eugene and other Eugene citizens will bring the total contribution of Lane county to a much greater figure than $600,000. Students on the campus have already subscribed $219,000 to build a Student Union as their part of the Gift Campaign.

The auditorium which is to be presented to the University by the people of Eugene will be large enough to care for the needs of the University for many years to come. It will occupy the central place in the new building scheme directly behind the War Memorial court. It is one of the buildings most urgently needed by the University as there is now no place on the campus where all the students and faculty can gather together.

The auditorium will be a structure 150 by 200 feet, designed to seat approximately 5000. It will be approached through a colonnade towering above the Memorial Court, thru the Memorial Rotunda which will be a hall of records of Oregon's service in the World War.

Sinnott Irrigation Amendment Granted

Washington, April 29.—(Special.)—Plans and estimates for the Deschutes irrigation project will be submitted at the next regular session of congress, if a bill amended upon the motion of Congressman N. J. Sinnott of Oregon, is passed by the house irrigation committee, it was learned today.

Congressman Sinnott appeared before the committee this morning and asked for an amendment of the senate bill calling for plans and specifications of the Casper Alvoa irrigation project in Wyoming, to include the Deschutes project in Oregon. The amendment was granted.

The bill provides for the submission by the secretary of the interior at the next regular session of congress of the plans and estimates for the Wyoming and Deschutes projects, the latter being a house amendment, under the Sinnott proposal, to the senate bill.
