IT ISN'T YOUR TOWN, IT'S YOU.

SUMMER vacations should bring the folks back home with a broader vision, greater health, and a firmer appreciation of the old home town. Every man and woman secretly nurses in the mind the vision of a town that would be most desirable. They work through the winter months and then when holiday time comes around they make a dash for what they hope will prove their ideal surrounding, only to find as a rule that they have found nothing particularly new. Right then they should realize that the kind of town they really want can be had right where they have their real estate investment if they only set to work to make it so. As the good verse says, "It's a knock at your town when you knock your town; it isn't your town IT'S YOU."

Real towns are not made by apathetic existence in them. They are not built by jealousies nor by ruinous competition. Prosperity and happiness are fruits of a constructive spirit, the result of every one working for the same end, no one dodging responsibility. The persistent activity of a half dozen unselfish men, backed by ideas, can raise a town from the dead. Snap and life in any community simply reflect the character of its residents. Inefficiency is the besetting sin of American community life. You and your neighbor can make this town the best little town on earth if you put yourselves into it. Remember it isn't your town IT'S YOU.

CALL THE SOCIALIST TICKET BY ITS RIGHT NAME.

ONE of the most successful tricks of the political demagogue is to put in the mouths of the people through the newspapers his own nomenclature misrepresenting the real issues. This is being attempted in behalf of La Follette and Wheeler, the 100 per cent lawyer combination of political adventurers and professional office holders. They are endeavoring to have themselves called the progressive ticket, and are making good progress toward getting away with it in the metropolitan press.

These worthies are not progressive, but radical. There is nothing progressive about war-time sedition or peace-time bolshevism. Whenever that phrase is used in connection with the La Follette ticket it is a phraseological falsehood.

The only political party behind La Follette and Wheeler is the socialist party. The Cleveland ticket is the socialist ticket. It should be called the socialist ticket throughout this campaign by every Republican speaker and in the news and editorial columns of every Republican newspaper—and indeed by everyone having a decent respect for accuracy of statement.

The Cleveland ticket is the socialist party ticket. It is that and nothing else. It should be called what it is.—National Republican.

AMERICANIZATION—WHAT IS IT?

THE process of Americanization consists of something more than saluting the flag, learning English, memorizing the Constitution, forgetting one's Racial heritage, renouncing allegiance to a foreign sovereign, or doing something to the immigrant.

In essence, it is developing in the immigrant a spirit and desire to cooperate in making the Principles of Democracy effective, producing a civilization that shall be the best possible for every individual. It does not begin and end with specific treatment or instruction of the alien. Most things looked upon as constituting the process of Americanization are only means to an end, and not the thing itself.

The immigrant should not get the impression that Americanization means legal forms and ability to pass an examination in a Naturalization Court, followed by bestowal of a formal document. Unless he imbues the spirit of American institutions he is not in any sense Americanized. Technical knowledge is important. The immigrant should be encouraged to acquire all he can, but its possession does not automatically make a loyal American citizen. During the World War it was found some of the most dangerous foreign-born citizens were those able to pass a most creditable examination in essential requisites for naturalization. It was not lack of knowledge that prevented them from being real Americans. They had simply missed the spirit and genius of this government.

Many theories have been advanced regarding methods of Americanization but the biggest mistake we have made has been regarding form rather than spirit in the process of making American Citizens. One thing is sure, we have discovered the futility of turning immigrants loose to shift for themselves, allowing them to follow natural inclinations in congregating, using their native language, reading only foreign-language newspapers, having little or no contact with native stock. So long as such conditions are permitted to exist it will be impossible to make loyal American Citizens out of our alien population.—The Masonic Analyst.

Agricultural Council Has Meeting; Milk Producers Combine.

The National Agricultural Council recently held at St. Paul, was held for the purpose of furthering national legislation and embodying the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill. Representatives from national organizations from all parts of the country attended. C. E. Spence, state market agent, represented Oregon.

The resolution committee stated the condition of agriculture favored a policy of protective tariff; showed the unfairness in its operation as applied to farm products when there is an export surplus; the world price and world-wide competition forcing the price to a level of foreign markets, and that agriculture should have the same measure of protection as is given to the industries and labor. A resolution was adopted favoring the election of congressmen who will stand by legislation along the line of the McNary-Haugen bill, and defeat of those opposed. The council will meet again at Washington, D. C., on the second Tuesday of February.

 Milk Producers Get Results.

A few years ago the milk producers around St. Paul and Minneapolis became dissatisfied with the prices paid them by the distributors, so they combined to deal with the distributors collectively as an organization. The results are that they receive more for their milk; they no longer "dump" their milk on the market, and the trade gets only what it wants. The producers have their own creameries, cheese and ice cream factories, and the surplus milk is taken care of through these. The producers are constantly taking in more dairies, as the independent dairymen find it necessary to protect themselves.

Dairy Co-Operation Wins.

State Market Agent C. E. Spence who recently visited the Minnesota Creamery Association, gives the following facts regarding this large co-operation: There are 650 creameries in the association. The independent or corporation creameries do only a small part of the creamery business of the state. Of the 650 co-operative creameries, 100 are in the state; the product from the central association; about one hundred million pounds of butter were handled for the co-operative creameries by the association last year. The manager estimates that an increase of 1 1/2 cents a pound was netted the creameries through the association. This was accomplished by carload shipments and consequent lower freight charges over small shipments; by bringing up the grade of butter thru a system of inspection; and by marketing thru one central agency.

The association has an adequate cold storage and refrigerator system at St. Paul and the creameries are being equipped in like manner. No second grade is used by the association, all such being shipped to other companies, and the producer gets the net receipts from same. Standardization has been the big thing gained by the central organization. The Tillamook system of inspection, organization and management was followed closely.

A Heavy Overhead.

The Department of Agriculture states that one distributor, or middle man, is supported by every one and three-fourths farms in the United States and it is also stated that there is one traveling salesman to every forty families, and that at an average expense of $12 per day for salaries and expenses that it costs six million dollars per day to support the 600,000 salesmen. And this six million dollars is added to the price the consumer pays, after the product has left the producers' hands.

Taking Up of Estrayed Animals—I have taken up and now hold at my farm, 4 1/2 miles southwest of Boardman, the following described animals: one sorrel horse, branded reversed LD on left hip, age about 8 years, weight about 750 pounds; one brown mare, age about 3 years, weight about 1000 lbs., no visible brands. FRANK PARTLOW, Boardman, Ore.
