MORROW COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER. Foreign Advertising Representative: THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION.

OUR NATION-WIDE PRESIDENTIAL POLL.

MUCH public interest will center in the test vote now being taken throughout the country by approximately 1,700 weekly newspaper publishers with a view to giving to their readers the political thought now prevalent in the country districts.

Politicians in the great cities will watch this result closely, for they have come to know that elections are decided not only by the cave dwellers of the metropolis but in the homes and farms on the countryside where the great majority of the American people live and have their being.

This test vote will be published by all kinds and conditions of newspapers. Readers of these 1,700 newspapers will cast the ballots and the count will be read by Republicans, Democrats and Progressives alike.

Unless all proceeded in the same way, the results are likely to cause considerable astonishment in several sections of the country where the three candidates for the Presidency are supposed to have a one hundred per cent strangle hold on public favor.

Not in years, if ever, has there been a political situation so complicated as that which exists this year. The most astute of political students are perplexed to a point where even the strong Washington amongst them freely admit they do not know what will happen in November.

Partisan newspapers naturally publish news agreeable to their cause, as there is a sufficient amount of this kind of news which is quite truthful to satisfy the needs of any newspaper, whether it favor Coolidge, Davis or La Follette. The secret ballot of the millions living in the small towns, however, is likely to give much more of an indication of the way the wind is blowing.

ABOUT AN ANGEL OF THE LA FOLLETTE CAMPAIGN.

WHEN Burton K. Wheeler, after predicting the election of John W. Davis as President in an interview published in the Washington Times, immediately following the Madison Square Garden convention, suddenly decided to accept the vice presidential nomination with La Follette, it was stated on his behalf that his decision came as the result of pressure from Frank A. Vanderlip, financier and chief of the huge agency which acted as an adjunct of the Walsh and Wheeler committees in the campaign to "ret something on" the Republican national administration last spring.

Mr. Vanderlip is evidently one of the main props and pillars, financially, at least of the La Follette campaign. It is therefore interesting to note what Senator La Follette's publication, La Follette's Magazine, said of this same Frank A. Vanderlip during the World war.

In La Follette's Magazine for April, 1918, appears the following: "Hon. William Denman, formerly chairman of the shipping board, in testimony before the Senate Committee on Commerce, tore aside the veil and showed that the only difference between him and General Goethals arose out of the hogrichness of the Vanderlip group, who desired to make great and unconscionable profits out of the government. General Goethals, who was at the head of the Emergency Fleet corporation, was willing that the Vanderlip group should have $12,000,000 of profit for supercharging $125,000,000 worth of work. The testimony shows that the Hog Island promoters first demanded $20,000,000, later they were willing to accept $12,000,000 and finally they have been hammered down to $10,000,000, which is pretty steep compensation for two years active service of a half a dozen 'know how' men."

In an editorial printed in the May, 1918, issue of La Follette's Magazine, Senator La Follette paid his respects to Mr. Vanderlip, his present political "buddy," responsible for La Follette's running mate being on the ticket. La Follette describes his richest backer, Vanderlip, in that editorial as "a plain American war hog, wallowing in war profits at the expense of the overburdened taxpayers of the country."

In this editorial La Follette quotes the New York American as charging that the Vanderlip group, known as the American International Corporation, made a contract with the government whereby the government was to advance the money to build the Hog Island plant and give the Vanderlip corporation a profit of six million dollars, and that the Vanderlip group then sublet the contract to a construction company and pocketed the six million without using a dollar of their own money, their time or their credit.

Attorney General Daugherty earned the animosity of powerful war profiteers of the Vanderlip type by instituting prosecutions in flagrant cases where there seemed to be a possibility of getting back some of the money unfairly taken from the federal treasury. Whereupon Mr. Vanderlip assailed the memory of the late President Harding and proceeded to finance a spy bureau for the manufacture of the type of "evidence" produced before the Wheeler committee, and to support certain expensive public relations activities in Washington and elsewhere in behalf of Wheeler and his associates. The methods used in manufacturing the George Remus "testimony" as revealed by him in a recent confession that he perjured himself before the Wheeler committee as a star witness against Attorney General Daugherty, were typical of the type of "evidence" produced before the Wheeler committee.

And now La Follette and Wheeler are in bed, politically, with the man La Follette's Magazine accused during the war of unconscionable profiteering. Vanderlip is responsible for manufacturing the Wheeler "testimony" as revealed by him in a recent confession that he perjured himself before the Wheeler committee as a star witness against Attorney General Daugherty, were typical of the type of "evidence" produced before the Wheeler committee.

Without explaining how the magic trick is done, Senator La Follette, during the present campaign, has charged that the predatory interests select our Presidents and Congress and dictate the appointment of judges to the federal bench. Can the Vanderlip system, by any chance, be an example of the method used by predatory interests to procure the election of a President and Vice-President?

WILL OREGON WIN THE COLLIER TROPHY?

SOME state will receive with pardonable pride the handsome trophy now being offered by Collier's, the National Weekly, to the state which records the largest proportional increase in voter at the coming presidential election. So that the world may not smile at our political apathy the trophy is not offered as a prize, but rather as a tangible recognition of concentrated good citizenship.

Obviously, however, the token is offered to stir slumbering public conscience and stimulate voters to duty on election day. No public offering in recent years has had behind it more patriotic or splendid purpose. Many platitudes have been written on the duty of voting. But the subject can not be dwelt upon too often. The very safety of American institutions rests in the interest of the governed in the manner in which they wish to be governed. The vote is all important, but not less important is the necessity for an intelligent vote, a proper comprehension of the basic character of American free government.

In the last twenty years we have been slipping rapidly from the thought and purpose of those who founded this nation. We seem to have lost sight of the fact that America is a Republic, and that prior to the establishing of the Republic under the Constitution no country in the world was in such a pitiable condition as was this, the land we love and in which we prosper.

What state will have the honor of casting the most intelligent vote as well as showing the greatest increase in the ballots dropped into the box of freedom?

"BEARDED WOMEN TOMORROW"

NEWSPAPER propaganda, covering everything from battleships to baby carriage, finally has stretched out its arms and taken in the bobbed hair American beauty. Mr. Charles Nestle, of New York, appears as sponsor for this latest assault on American intelligence.

Mr. Nestle is Vice President of the Wholesale Beauty Trade Association. Recently he appeared before an audience in Atlantic City and there boldly announced that we are on the way to evolve a race of bearded women. Think of that with Barnum no longer on the scene to bid for service.

"Bobbed hair today, bearded women tomorrow," warned the beauty trader man while his feminine listeners shivered at the thought of the future. Fortunately for the Happers and Happersettes, Mr. Nestle's tomorrow is not to appear until a couple of generations have passed.

We are told baldness will be as common among women as among men. All of this, because Mr. Nestle assures us, that every human being is a chemical laboratory that is constantly manufacturing hair, and if the hair is not permitted to grow on the head then it will grow on the face and on the body. Savage men, we are told, who never cut their hair have scant beards.

This may be sound reasoning, but it would appear that while Mr. Nestle is trying to stimulate trade in one branch of his profession another must suffer. If the girls are to avoid growing beards then it will be absolutely necessary for them to forget manicures. Then what will become of trade in finger powders, polishes, buffers, and the rest of the paraphernalia?

LA FOLLETTE AND SOCIALISM. A RECENT writer in the Saturday Evening Post points out that Karl Marx, who wrote the turgid and poorly economic fallacies on which Socialism is based, never worked a day in his life. He could not make use of hands or brain to give him a living, and yet he presumed to build an ideal economic machine that would enable everybody to get a just share of food, clothing, shelter and luxuries necessary to maintain life and happiness. Never has one of his theories proved practical when put to the test.

Bob La Follette believes in the theories of Marx. All followers of Marx in the United States who support the Socialist ticket, will vote for La Follette. He, too, has no capacity as a business builder of any sort, and yet like his aloof teacher, he presumes to tell the people of this country that he will be able to so change the business life of the nation as to bless everybody. In the next breath he mentions lower freight rates—which would reduce the revenue of the railroads, and higher wages for railroad employees, which would increase railroad expenses. Nobody but an economic idiot, or a knave, would be guilty of enthusiastically advocating plans of bankruptcy and ruin as blessings to a people already harassed and seeking a way out by a sound and sensible route.

All of which leads up to the question that ought to be put up to every man seeking public office: What do you know about business that you should set yourself up as an capable of enacting laws to reform and better business—Oregon Voter.

New Bulletin Available.

(Morrow County Extension Service News) Oregon Agricultural College Experiment Station Bulletin 204 is now available and copies can be obtained at the County Agent's office. This bulletin is entitled "Spring Crops for Eastern Oregon," by D. E. Stephens, Robert Whyburn and Orl Staluck, superintendents of the Experiment Stations at Moro, Union, and Burns respectively. This bulletin contains the results obtained in spring crops at these stations. It also has a number of maps showing the distribution of acreage of Spring and Fall crops throughout the State of Oregon and tables showing the total production, yield per acre and the average value per acre of crops in the various counties of the State.

PREDATORY AND RODENT PETITIONS BEING FILED.

Petitions to the County Court to place a local initiative measure on the November ballot providing for a 1/2 mill tax levy in 1925 are being filed with the County Clerk this week. This levy carried two years ago and provided money that has been used to buy poison for rodents and for the Morrow county share of the predatory animal work the past two years. To carry on the predatory animal and rodent work satisfactorily in the next two years, it will be necessary to secure a majority vote on this question at the election in November.

The Real New Year. What is "Well Born?" The Taftful Prince. Labor Must Save Itself.

Men and women, young or old, with ambition left, should remember that a new year has begun. The new year of SUCCESS does not begin on January 1, in the middle of Winter. It begins now, with Summer ended, vacations over, schools open, everything under way.

He who begins carrying out his good resolutions and working hard now, instead of waiting until next January 1, will have a start of four months on the others, and that's a good start.

Flying from Greenland to Labrador, the American fliers get back to the American mainland in five months and fourteen days after their start around the world.

Children of the future will be amazed at this slow trip around the world. A feature of public school education in future ages will be a flying trip around the world during Summer vacation. The child of twelve will know the principal mountain ranges, rivers and capitals of the world by having actually seen them.

Statistics show that the month of marriage is changing from June to August, and that's a good thing. June is the month from the romantic point of view, August from the practical point of view.

The first baby of an August wedding comes along in the Spring with the flowers of May and can be put outdoors at once to get fresh air. In addition, the mother can nurse the baby all through the hot months of the first Summer, when the right artificial food is hardest to find.

Scientists, students of Eugenics, welfare workers and others, during the brilliant author of the "New Dealogue of Science" are much worried about human breeding, and in the future of the race. "The well please to breed and the ill born insist on breeding too much," say these anxious worriers.

It all depends on what you call well born. The fortunate child is born of a mother that wants children, and the ill born comes from a mother that does NOT want children.

Time, evolution, gradual lifting up of the frontal angle, and public schools will take care of the human race, if the babies get the right start. The right start begins in a mother's dream for a healthy child. Without that, pity the child. With that, everything else can be straightened out. What heat is in the making of steel, affection is in the creation of children.

Farmer should be interested to know that the Argentine Republic spends $5,000,000 for 39,000 tons of galvanized iron sheets to keep back devouring locusts. The sheets will be given to the farmers free and that is what we should do with them up, digging a ditch where the locusts will accumulate and be destroyed.

The United States Steel Products Company supplies the steel. Here we'd call free steel for farmers' socialism.

The young Prince of Wales might have made a successful career on his own hook. He has tact, the key to success in any business. Reporters wired from the ship that he had danced with a young St. Louis girl whom he had never met. When the news was sent back to the ship by wireless, the Prince requested an introduction to the young woman and danced with her twice.

That reminds you of Abraham Lincoln's tactful treatment of a reporter who had written about Lincoln's life and the books he had read, few enough in number. Lincoln told him that some of the books he had never read, but to read everything he could, right, he would read it, and he did.

Labor is one cog in the machine of modern industry, the most important cog, although the machine doesn't admit it. Labor's destiny depends on labor, not benevolent speeches in public campaigns. When men know more they will have more. When they stick together, free of religious and race hatreds and prejudices, they will have power.

Prosperity and power they must get for themselves; they will not be handed to them.

T. B. TESTS TO BE MADE IN OCTOBER.

(Morrow County Farm Bureau News) Arrangements are being completed with the Bureau of Animal Industry for testing dairy animals in Morrow county for tuberculosis, early in October. As soon as arrangements are completed farmers will be notified through the papers and by circular letters as to the approximate time the tester can be expected at their place.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

I hereby announce myself as a candidate for the office of county commissioner, made vacant by the resignation of R. L. Bengt. This step is being taken only after mature consideration against the most urgent requests of my friends, and should I receive the endorsement of the voters at the November election, I promise a faithful performance of duty. JEFF JONES.

FOR COUNTY COMMISSIONER.

A vacancy having been created in the office of county commissioner by the resignation of R. L. Bengt, I hereby announce myself as a candidate for that office as an Independent Republican, and shall appreciate the support of the people of Morrow county at the polls in the general election this fall. G. A. BLEAKMAN, Hardman.
