

This Week's Cross Word Puzzle

By DENZEL BAKER.

HOW TO SOLVE A CROSS-WORD PUZZLE

The first letter of each word is indicated by a number placed in the blank white squares, and by referring to the list of words given below, you will find the definition. For instance, number one horizontal gives the definition of a word which will fill in all the white squares in the first black space at the right. Number one vertical gives the definition for a word which will fill in all the white squares in the first black space below. The black squares indicate the end of a word, and no letter is placed in them. When completed, the puzzle must read both horizontally and vertically or across and down.

Numbers 14 and 16 vertical are the big ones in this puzzle. They are both nine letter words—but find them and you have keys to work out every other word in the clever arrangement. Virtually all of the words are easy—and of the 25 in the brain teaser only a very small percent of them will cause you to thumb the leaves of a dictionary. There's an evening of brain pleasure wrapped up in this small package. Try it out.

Answer to last week's puzzle.

This Week

By Arthur Brisbane

The Sun's Radium. He Believes in God. Our Guns Stay Down. Stabilizing Banditry.

Scientists studied the earth's magnetic currents, as affected by the eclipse. Every ship's captain noticed that the eclipse had an effect on the compass. Science does not know why. Possibly some scientist got from this eclipse the most important information of all, which has to do with the amount of radium in the sun. The sun's length of life and the lives of this and other planets depend on the sun's radio-active force. If the sun were merely burning up, as was once supposed, the life of human beings here might be cut down a few million years, whereas it will probably go on for several hundred million years, aided by radium energy in the sun.

Bishop the Right Rev. William Montgomery Brown, of Cleveland, is put out of the church. Accused of being unorthodox, he protested, "I believe in God." But that was not enough, and he is out. Bishop Brown's exact description of God in which he believes would be interesting. One small boy, asked to describe God, replied instantly, "He's got a long white beard, and high-top boots." That was perfectly respectful. It described the boy's highest ideal.

Many human beings imagine a God somewhat as that little boy imagined Him, with a beard that might need trimming, boots to be mended, etc. What is the Right Reverend Bishop's idea of a Supreme Being managing such a universe as this, with time and space unlimited, millions of suns and planets, constant change everywhere, with everything whirling and flying around and nowhere any comfortable stability?

Can any human mind really have any but a childish conception of such a being?

Our Navy heads might give the country information on a statement recently published by English papers. The British have arranged their ships so that they can take in water ballast on one side or the other, and thus by making the ship tip over, raise the guns to the desired elevation and increase their range without actually changing the mechanical adjustment of the guns.

That seems to be highly ingenious, but of course, we can't do it in this country because probably somebody in Europe would object.

A great surety company advertises $100,000 reward for the return of a million dollars' worth of bonds stolen. It says it will pay ten per cent of the face value of any bond stolen, whenever it is obliged to make good insurance on such bonds.

That's interesting news to bond bandits and holdup men. It stabilizes their industry. It guarantees them $100,000 of good safe cash on a million dollar bond robbery. But what about the laws against compounding

It is proposed to create an "airport" for New York by roofing over the yards of the Pennsylvania Railroad. Temporary landing and leaving places for fliers might thus be provided in many cities. That ought to be done. Automobile roads, without grade crossings, could also easily be provided, making a roadway above railroad tracks running out through city suburbs. Railroads should be properly compensated, of course.

Makeshift airports will soon be outgrown, however. Before you see, in every big city, the week end will see thousands of flying "club cars," each with its load of passengers, flying off to mountains, or seaside, in Summer; to Florida, California, etc., in Winter.

The Philadelphia Mint begins coining 5,000,000 half-dollar coins to commemorate the courage of General Robert E. Lee, Stonewall Jackson and others, and the carving of the great memorial on Stone Mountain, near Atlanta. These coins have a meaning even more important than their meaning as memorials of courage and artistic enterprise. They establish even more firmly the fact that the Civil War belongs to an age that is past. And they will be prized in the North even more highly than in the South.

Annual Newspaper Directory Is Issued

Statistics Concerning Fourth Estate in Oregon Given; State Has 251 Publications.

University of Oregon, Eugene, Feb. 3.—Newspapers and magazines of general circulation are published in 134 communities of Oregon, according to the annual survey of the state press made by Prof. George S. Turnbull of the University of Oregon school of Journalism. The total number of periodical publications listed in Prof. Turnbull's directory of the Oregon press is 251, or approximately the same as in 1923, when the number was 253.

This year's total excludes all publications issued at educational institutions, but includes the various communities in Portland, of which there are 17. Only one of these was listed in the directory compiled last year. The addition of publications issued by educational institutions would send the total periodical publications past 300.

Prof. Turnbull's annual survey shows that two new daily papers were started in the state in the past year, the Central Oregon Press, at Bend, and the Klamath News, at Klamath Falls. Both of these advanced from twice-a-weeks, bringing the total number of dailies in Oregon to 33, an increase of two in the year, since there were no fatalities in this field.

New weekly papers totaled 8, exceeding by 1 the number of deaths in this field. One of the 7 weeklies that expired, however, was a paper printed in a nearby town of larger size, and one was an exclusively farm news paper, reducing to 5 the total number of actual home-town weeklies that failed.

In the twice-a-week and weekly field no paper is counted which is a part of a daily newspaper. Thus the reduction of twice-a-weeks from 7 to 4 is not a loss of independent weeklies, which have held their own at 4, with the additions of the Cottage Grove Sentinel and the St. Helens as compared with 23 in the preceding twelve-month period. Two more changes in editors-in-chief, however, are reported, with 29 as against 27. Women appear to be holding their own, approximately, in the editorial and publishing ends of the newspapers, with 11 women editors and 7 women publishers reported. Lack of detailed returns from a considerable number of composing rooms makes it impossible to say how the women are getting along in the back shops. One of the women publishers retired from the field during the year, when Mrs. Jeannine E. Morrison turned over the Maupin Times to A. Y. Zeller, of the Dufur Dispatch.

Among the notable journalists who died during 1924 were Charles H. Fisher, editor of the Eugene Evening News-Times, Forest Grove; Addison Bennett, veteran reporter on the staff of the Morning Oregonian; E. P. Cronmiller, publisher of the Lake County Examiner, at Lakeview; William E. Johnson, editor and publisher of the Madras Pioneer, who has been succeeded in that capacity by his wife; E. (Jack) Guyton, city editor of the Coos Bay Times, at Marshfield; and C. S. Jackson, founder and publisher of the Oregon Journal.

Following are the newspapers started during the year: Anity Star, Banks Tribune, Benton Independent, Corvallis, Oakridge Review, Eastern Oregon Scout, La Grande; Tigard Sentinel, the Southern Oregon Sportsman, Grants Pass; and the Poor Fish, Astoria.

Papers that gave up the ghost were Bay City Chronicle, Amity, Range and Valley, Heppner Herald, Lebanon Criterion, Monroe News, St. Helens Columbian and Marshfield Timber Topics.

LEXINGTON BRIEFS

Karl Miller and Ed Cummings met with a very painful accident Monday night when the auto they were driving ran off the road near the Cecil Warner home, turning over and pinning Mr. Cummings underneath. Mr. Miller was thrown from the car but was badly hurt in the fall. He managed to stagger to the Warner home for help. Mr. Warner, with a party of friends that were visiting him, immediately rushed to the scene of the accident and rescued Cummings from his perilous position. Dr. Walker was called and found both men quite badly hurt. Mr. Miller sustained broken ribs and bruises and Mr. Cummings with a crushed shoulder and broken hand.

Mr. and Mrs. Alvah Jones, entertained at their home on Monday evening with a five hundred party of four tables. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. B. H. Grady, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald White, Mrs. Leif Paquin, Miss M. McNell, Miss Lavelle Leathers, Mrs. Laura Scott, Miss Eloise Upson, Messrs. Lester White, Ralph Jackson, George White, Harry Schriver, Tom Barnett and Mr. and Mrs. Jones. First prize was won by Lester White and Mrs. Paquin and the booby prize was awarded to Miss Leathers and Gerald

Your Income Tax.

THE revenue act of 1924 provides that the status of a taxpayer relative to the amount of his personal exemptions shall be determined by apportionment in accordance with the number of months the taxpayer was single, married, or the head of a family. Under the preceding act the amount of the exemption to which the taxpayer was entitled was determined by his status as a single person, a married person, or the head of a family on the last day of the taxable year. December 31, if the return was made on the calendar year basis, as most are.

For example, a taxpayer married on September 30, 1924, would be entitled to an exemption of $1,375. For the first nine months he is classified as a single man entitling him to an exemption of $750—three-fourths of the $1,000 exemption allowed a single person—and for the last three months he is entitled to an exemption of $625—one-fourth of the $2,500 exemption allowed a married person.

If on June 30, a taxpayer ceased being the head of a family—the support in one household of a relative or relatives being discontinued—he is allowed an exemption of $1,750—one-half of the exemption of $1,000 granted a single person plus one-half of the exemption of $2,500 granted the head of a family. With regard to the $400 credit for a dependent, the taxpayer's status is determined as of the last day of the taxable year. If, during the year, his support of such dependent ceased, he is not entitled to this credit.

White. Tom Barnett is building a new fence around the auto camp ground so that tourists will be assured a nice clean place in which to camp. The grounds are maintained by the town and Mr. Barnett has been a very enthusiastic supporter of the enterprise. He deserves much credit for the interest he has taken in the grounds, and his efforts should be appreciated.
