Doing Good Work.

STATEMENT made by Harold Warner, district commit teeman of the Department of Oregon, American Legion, at the conference here Monday should he of interest to every citizen of Mr. Warner said: Taking into consideration the size of the town and the size of the post, the record of Heppner Post No. 87 in community service work during the past year is the outstanding achievement of the entire Department of Ore-These words were not lightly spoken for Mr. Warner knows whereof he speaks.

Service to the community is the watchword of the American Legion, and all over the United States that organization is found at the head of every piece of work looking to community advancement. That Heppner Post is doing its part in this work, and doing it exceedingly well, is recognized by the state officers, and it is only right that local recognition be given of this service.

Heppner Post is small, yet it has to its credit achievements not equalled by many of the larger posts of the state. That this has been made possible by the cooperation of the citizens of the town is admitted, but the planning and carrying through of the many projects for community betterment have been done by the Legion boys, and to them belongs the credit for putting Heppner on the Legion map, not only of the state, but of the nation as well.

Let us suggest that the people of this community get in closer touch with the local post of the American Legion. Thir aims and ideals are absolutely unselfish, and much good can be accomplished for the community by cooperation of the citizens with this organiza-
