

Local Happenings

Ruth Chapter No. 22, O. E. S., enjoyed a mighty pleasant evening at the regular meeting Friday night. Following the business meeting a good social time was had in solving cross word puzzles and playing "travel," and dainty refreshments were served. The cross word puzzle, worked out in the shape of a star, was the work of Mrs. Shurtle and Mrs. Missidine, and C. L. Sweek was the winner of the prize offered for the one solving the puzzle correctly the quickest. The contest excited a lot of interest and no small amount of amusement. A. L. Ayers carried off the prize for the game of "travel!"

A. M. Markham was over from his freshwater home for two or three days this week, looking after his land interests in Morrow county. While he noted some complaint here regarding the backwardness of the season, Mr. Markham thought things looked pretty good and could see no serious reason for complaints. We should not expect to see vegetation as far along this season of the year as it should be the last of April or first of May, and he thinks things will come out O. K. with Morrow county. Mr. Markham is a mighty loyal friend of his old home community.

In response to a telegram announcing the death of her sister-in-law, Mrs. P. E. Burke of Klamath Falls, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Nys departed on Monday of last week to make the trip to that city by auto. They go as far as Bend where they learned that the road was not open to Klamath Falls, so they turned about and returned home. Mrs. Burke passed away rather suddenly, leaving her husband and a number of small children. Mr. and Mrs. Nys returned home on Friday.

Frank Elder made a business trip to Walla Walla the past week, where he found everything moving along well. In some of the big orchards there, however, it was found necessary to "smoke up" for several nights owing to the heavy frosts. Grain in that section seemed to be coming along well.

The well known and successful Minneapolis rupture expert, Mr. C. F. Redlich, will be in The Dalles on Monday and Tuesday, April 13 and 14, at the Dalles Hotel. Ruptured people come many miles to see him. Consultation is free. Watch The Dalles papers for special announcement.

W. G. Palmateer was in the city Tuesday from his home near Margan. He is leaving with his family this week for Jasper, Lane county, where they expect to reside for the summer at least. Mr. Palmateer having secured employment there.

Raymond Crowder, editor of Hermiston Herald, was among the Legion boys in Heppner on Monday for the district conference. Mr. Crowder is an enthusiastic booster for the Legion. We acknowledge a pleasant call from him.

W. E. Mikessell states that his son Loren has been transferred from the Standard Oil station at Stanfield to Mabton, Wash., where he will now have charge of the station. The transfer was made the past week.

Services will be held at the Episcopal church on Easter Sunday at 11 o'clock a. m. Rev. Wood of Ontario will be present and conduct the services to which the public of Heppner is cordially invited.

T. J. Humphreys, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Huston, returned from the Willamette valley Friday evening. They spent an enjoyable week visiting at Eugene and Albany.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adkins at their home in this city on Saturday, March 29th. Mother and child are reported to be getting along fine.

Postmaster Smead has been laid up at his home for the past week or more, suffering an attack of the flu.

Irrigated Pastures.

(Morrow County Farm Bureau News.) Irrigated pastures will on the whole pay as good returns as having the land in any other crop. The custom of using alfalfa for pasture is on the whole not to be recommended as there is too much danger from bloating. In numerous instances farmers have used alfalfa pasture for years successfully and then suddenly lost a large number of stock from bloating. The irrigated pastures should contain a number of grasses but should not be needlessly complicated. A sod forming grass and a legume should be included with such other grasses as local conditions warrant. In general, Kentucky Bluegrass, and smooth Brome Grass are very desirable in any mixture. White Clover, Ladino Clover, and Sweet Clover are good legumes for the mixture. Seedings of from 17 to as high of 50 pounds per acre have been successful, depending on the mixtures used and the soil and climatic conditions. These mixtures have cost from three to seven dollars per acre, and in general should not cost more than five dollars per acre. Local conditions will determine in many cases the mixture to be used. For instance, the shallow rooted grasses such as Bluegrass, should not be made the basis of a pasture, where there a short water supply as it requires frequent watering to get maximum results. Where water is irregular and short the latter part of the season, sweet clover alone will give as good results as many of the mixtures. The drawback to sweet clover is that it is a biennial and in using it for pasture it should be used as part of a rotation, seeding certain plots to sweet clover each year and pasturing them the year following. Some objection has been made to sweet clover as to causing bloating, but where detailed studies have been made of bloating caused by sweet clover it has been found in general stock will not bloat on sweet clover any more than they will when fed a high quality of alfalfa hay.

A pasture mixture that has worked out well at the Unatilla Experiment Station is as follows: Orchard grass is as follows: This mixture is recommended to be sown at the rate of 22 pounds per acre.

Orchard Grass 6 pounds
Kentucky Bluegrass 6 pounds
Meadow Fescue 4 pounds
Smooth Brome Grass 4 pounds
Alaska Clover 2 pounds

Mixtures recommended by the Idaho Experiment Station as having done well in Southern Idaho, are as follows:

Kentucky Bluegrass 8
Orchard Grass 5
Smooth Brome Grass 5
Meadow Fescue 4
Timothy 2
White Clover 2

It is rather unsafe to make definite recommendations as to the exact amounts of each variety because of the wide difference in germination of different lots seed. It is best to get a germination test of each variety made and determine the mixture accordingly.

Dates of seeding where moisture conditions are favorable, are around the first of April either with or without a nurse crop, or the latter part of August, seeding in grain stubble and irrigating immediately afterwards. The spring seeding usually will give a little heavier crop of grass the following year.

What's back of this shift in cigarette popularity?

Is it only a desire for change?

Is it a matter of price?

Or is it all a question of taste?

No—mere desire for change will not explain why so many thousands of smokers all over the country are changing from other cigarettes to Chesterfield.

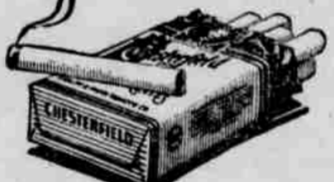

It's something more fundamental.

No—price does not account for this sweeping turn-about in cigarette popularity, for Chesterfield is sold at the popular price—it costs the same as any of the largest selling brands.

Yes—that's the answer. It is taste and taste alone that explains Chesterfield's sweeping gains. And taste is a matter of tobacco quality.

We state it as our honest belief that the tobaccos used in Chesterfield are of finer quality (and hence of better taste) than in any other cigarette at the price.
