MORROW COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER. Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Will Stay on the Job.

WHILE the County Court of Morrow county feel that to date they have not secured from the state highway commission just recognition in the completion of the Lena-Vinson gap of the Oregon-Washington highway, they are determined to keep up the fight and hope to succeed. They are wise to the fact that it is necessary to keep everlastingly at it if they get this short piece of road built and the connection completed and they will stay on the job. There is no doubt, according to the statement of Judge Bengt, but that there was a slip somewhere in the proceedings at the last session of the state highway commission, for the understanding with the chairman was plain, and the consideration of the proposition of our judge and commissioners was to have been had. Just why this was not given, is a point that our officials are going to look into, and they will be at the next meeting prepared to get a hearing that will place the proposition squarely before the commissioners and all parties interested will know "where they are at."

In the final analysis, if Morrow county's road program is put over, the market road projects completed, and some of these trunk lines finished, it will be necessary to vote a bond issue. This is the rub at the present time, but a situation, nevertheless, that will have to be met, and that will ultimately be put over. While in the city some time since, Chairman Doby of the state highway commission made it clear that it was hard for that body to turn down the claims of counties for the completion of state highways within their boundaries who were present at the meetings of the commission with strong claims and had their money on the table; these could hardly be refused the cooperation from the state road funds and the aid given other counties who had nothing but their credit to put up, and this on a rather indefinite basis as to repayment. So the result is that the counties with the necessary money in hand are getting what they want right now while the others are compelled to wait. There is no question but that right now the people of this county would oppose a bond issue, and this is one of the problems that our county court are trying to get away from, yet they fully realize that it must come if the road program is carried out and the people get the full benefit from the money already spent. This is no sufficient reason, however, for letting up on the fight, for the credit of the county is good with the state highway commission and there is very little owing that body on former understandings where the pledge of the county was made to secure the completion of certain portions of the state highway within our borders.

ACCORDING to a news item from Salem, published in Monday's Oregonian, Governor Pierce is considering a pardon for Alvin Strait, sent up from this county for seven years on a conviction of assault with a dangerous weapon. So far as we are advised, the governor has not consulted with Morrow county officials in regard to this matter; he may do so, however, before he goes so far as to release Strait from the penitentiary. It would appear that this leniency on the part of the governor is asked for through Scout Young Camp, Spanish-American War Veterans, of Portland. Strait was a veteran of that war, and so was the man, T. E. Chidsey, whom he took a shot at with a high powered rifle when confronted down in Juniper canyon by District Attorney Notson and Deputy Sheriffs Chidsey and Paul McDuffee, who were after Strait and a moonshine outfit. Law officers of this county, and all good citizens as well, would not be very well pleased over the release of Alvin Strait at this time; his full term in the pen would not appear to be more than he justly deserves.

No Reason for Wheat Drop.

HENRY W. COLLINS, extensive wheat buyer and warehouseman of Pendleton, has just returned home from a visit to the leading grain markets of the world, including London, Paris, Liverpool, New York and Chicago, and states that while a 35-cent decline in the price of wheat would be explicable, that a 70-cent drop seems unwarranted. In an interview with the Pendleton East Oregonian, Mr. Collins states: "Some decline was to be expected. The price was so high that it curtailed consumption. Another contributing cause which had much bearing on the market was found in the heavy shipments afloat, from Australia and Argentina, going to England and the continent. This undoubtedly had a bearish effect on the market." In speaking of world crop prospects, Mr. Collins said that they are not so good. Drouth in India will make the crop poor and the Russian and English prospects are not good.

"It is evident that the adjustment will be very close, and that the carry-over will be small. Judging from foreign wheat prospects, early wheat should bring a fair price. But I am speaking of conditions at the present time; they may be much different at harvest time. Canada's crop has a great bearing on the price and what their crop will be is not to be estimated. The estimate for the United States at the present is 73 per cent, as compared with 83 per cent crop prospect at this time last year. The ten year average is 83.5 per cent."

Clean-up day for Heppner is set for Monday, April 20th. The general Spring clean-up has already been going on in this city and much improvement in this line is noted. The final showing on the 20th, however, should put us in the "Spotless Town" class.

BY THE market reports for live stock on the Portland markets we note the rise and fall of the price of beef. And we note a price for tops, and another for average, and for grass fed, etc., all depending on the alleged state of fat. Now fat on a beef may be all right, but who in the name of Heck ever heard of a man going into a fancy butcher shop and saying that he wanted a dollar's worth of fat with a little lean on it? Only few people eat fat at all. Tallow is all right to grease boots, make mince pie or soap but it makes a poor piece of good beefsteak. And yet it is on the fat basis that the price is made to the producer and yet the consumer does not eat the fat. We have eaten fat beef that was just as tough as the village bad man and we have eaten beef without any fat on it that was tender, juicy and good. There is a lot of bunk to this fat steer and top price stuff. It is a pretext to skin the producer, and again, we ask, who in the Heck wants to eat a hunk of fat—Canyon City Eagle.

EUGENE Register, which swallowed state income tax without a gulp, regardless of its effect upon state prosperity and development, weeps over the cigarette tax. Smokers can order by mail from California. Portlanders can buy cigarettes in Vancouver. For the sake of two cents a package profit, a bootlegging business will be organized by peddlers who will run all the risk of conviction, fine and jail. How horrible! The fact that the cigarette tax weighs neither upon industry, property nor prosperity has no weight with the Register. The fact that it brings the sale of cigarettes under licensed control, thereby making it easier to catch cigarette dealers who sell to minors and thus put them out of business by license revocation, has no weight with this university city daily. But these are considerations which ought to have weight. Thank goodness, the editor of the Register has a conscience. Very likely his conscience will prod him until he discovers there are redeeming merits to the cigarette tax.—Oregon Voter.

PETITIONS for the recall of Senator Bruce Dennis of Union and Willowa counties are being circulated at the instance of Pomona grange. Mr. Denn's recall simply the situation by resigning. As author of the resolution to bar any income tax for 15 years and to repeal the inheritance tax law he is plainly out of touch with his constituents. If he retains his seat he will be a holdover senator at the next session and the Union county people will have a right to protest at such representation. Holding the views he now sets forth Senator Dennis should not expect to sit again as their senator," states Pendleton East Oregonian. It occurs to us, however, that all of the constituents in Senator Dennis' district may not feel just the way the grange does about this question.
