Smart Aleck Magazines.
 National Republic.
THE police departments of some of the larger cities are engaged in a righteous crusade against libidinous magazines which have no merit other than their appeal to an exaggerated sex instinct and are as much of a peril to the country as the old time "red light" districts which have been banished from most American cities.
 Another class of magazines the police power, but by public sentiment, is the hypercritical periodical which makes a specialty of "razing" everything American. Edited by super-smart-alecks of certain literary skill, these perceptive journals are constantly engaged in the effort to discredit and make contemptible everything typically American.
 To the editors of these journals every American who lives in a rural community is a boob and a yokel. The truth is that there are many more greenhorns to the square inch in the big cities of the country, and especially in the biggest of our cities, than in communities where fresh air, clean living and straight thinking are more common.
 There is reason to believe that back of this effort to make everything American, especially everything rurally American, seem mean, narrow and contemptible, there is a purpose deeper than may appear on the surface. Many influences are at work to destroy the traditions, the ideals and the institutions of the American people, and among these may be catalogued the journals edited by European provincials who habitually portray the typical American as a yokel. The truth is that these graduates of East Side cellars and devotees of decadent Europeanism have not the slightest idea of what America is about.
 One of these journals of the super-smart-aleck breed has recently printed articles showing that Lincoln was a moron, and John Brown was a horse thief. The only residents of the United States either living or dead this periodical has found worthy of favorable mention have been two or three orchestra leaders from Central and Eastern Europe whose names would have to be pruned in order to give them the slightest resemblance to anything American.
 The American people should refuse to patronize journals whose stock in trade is abuse and ridicule of everything American. This business will go on only so long as it proves profitable, either thru American patronage or foreign subsidy.

Capitalizing Investment of Taxpayers.
A BUS line raising money by a sale of securities, published in a prospectus during the past year the following statement: "Motor transportation with fast freight service inherits all the advantages of the railroads without their heavy first investment costs. The motor transportation lines, using the highways already built, do not have to buy right of way. There are no ties, no rails to lay down, no valleys to fill, no bridges or trestles to erect."
 Right of way, grading, cutting down hills, filling valleys, building bridges, laying pavement and annual repairs on highways are all paid for by taxpayers.
 From the standpoint of fairness to interurban electric lines and railroads the present system of motor bus and truck taxation by the state is entirely inadequate.
