MORROW COUNTY OFFICIAL PAPER
 Foreign Advertising Representative THE AMERICAN PRESS ASSOCIATION

Where the Whole Theory of Charity is Wrong.

THE present policy of American industry of helping employees with their personal problems is based upon the assumption that eventually they will surely "go broke," according to William G. Knox, President of the American Bankers Association. To correct this condition, Mr. Knox says, we provide old age pensions and other forms of charitable compensation, which he contends is commendable, but contrary to the purposes of democracy. Of course the whole theory of charity is wrong. At best it is a palliative existing purely because it provides the best stop gap we know until justice is established. Of late there have been encouraging evidences that a better order of things is on the way, not the least of which is open recognition by bankers that some change in our economic system must be provided that will permit of independence to those who have worked industriously according to their abilities during the years of normal labor.

Unfortunately Mr. Knox follows pretty much in the beaten path of pointing to an evil without pointing very clearly to its possible cure. "There must be injected into our industrial policy an additional economic element," says Mr. Knox, "one of mutual benefit and permanent value to both labor and capital, concerned not alone with the amount of wages that are earned, but with how these earnings shall be used."

Mr. Knox says he argues for the elimination of waste and for an industrial savings policy based upon the principle of independence, a policy that will give the average American a greater incentive to help himself. All of this spells the elimination of the unearned increment and the financial bonus pattering middlemen or the waste must continue, which looks like financial Harkness.

Last Friday those who traveled up and down the highway near

Umatilla saw Sam Boardman at work when the thermometer registered 98 in the shade and there was no shade where Sam was. He was tending his baby trees with the loving care of a young mother with her first child. Future generations will bless genial Sam Boardman and his alanthus arbor.—Hermiston Herald.

Democratic Public Schools.

ONE of the greatest issues before the American people is whether our public school system shall remain democratic, or whether it shall be used more and more in the direction of equipping a professional class.

The newspapers are full of protests that high schools, colleges and universities emphasize too much academic and professional equipment, when about nine-tenths of the citizenry of our country must work for a living in industries, in homes and on farms.

A remarkable union high school in California—the San Mateo-Burlingame districts—is attracting wide attention of educators by giving employment to more than half the high school boys outside of school hours at good wages, doing all the work of maintaining the school plant.

For about 15 years, several hundred high school boys have built new buildings, maintained all repairs and kept the grounds in a model condition—doing actual manual labor and learning the ordinary trades that make community life possible—Principal Glasscock has accomplished this and the community likes it.

His ideal is a useful, contented, self-respecting citizen, who can earn an honest living, build a home and support himself and family.

The July term of county court convened yesterday at the court house, with Judge Benge and Commissioners Davidson and Bleakman in attendance. Besides the usual grind of business the court had up for consideration the petitions presented calling for a road bond election.
