

BOARDMAN

MRS. A. T. HERBIM, Correspondent.

Ray Dugas and family left Friday for Astoria for Portland where they will visit Mrs. Dugas' mother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price and son Billy were dinner guests at the O. H. Warner home on Sunday at a dinner of lovely appointments.

Mrs. Ada Goodwin of Condon is here visiting. She is convalescing from a very serious operation which she underwent a few weeks ago at The Dalles.

Miss Hazel Johnson is visiting relatives at Wasco.

Mrs. Eugene Cummins is taking treatments at the La Grande hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Vaughan Keyes are parents of a fine baby boy who arrived last week at Hood River.

Lee Mead and family returned the early part of the week from a sojourn at the Tillamook beaches. Mr. Mead is back at the telegraph key at Measler.

Mrs. Laura A. Beck has returned to her home in Portland after a pleasant visit with her sister, Mrs. H. H. Weston.

J. C. Hallinger left Wednesday for the coast for a visit with his family.

E. K. Mulkey went to The Dalles Friday.

Miss Myrtle Clark of Elgin, Neb., arrived this week for a few days visit with her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Calkins on the East End. Miss Clark has been visiting in California the past few weeks and is now on her homeward journey. She is a teacher of Mathematics at the high school in Ainsworth, Neb.

Mrs. Paul M. Smith was hostess to some of the Royal Neighbors Friday at a quilling bee. A beautiful quilt was completed for Mrs. Walter Olson of Clatskanie, a gift from the Royal Neighbors. Homemade cookies and delicious Boardman watermelon were served by the hostess. Guests were Mesdames Gorman, Parker, Blayden, Bands and Chadler.

Mrs. H. C. Harrison and friend, Mrs. Johnson, of Astoria, arrived Thursday for a few days of business and pleasure. They were entertained at the John Jenkins home. Mr. Harrison is not improved in health but is more contented at his old home in Astoria.

Mrs. Hill, who keeps house for I. Skoubo, was pleased to have one of her sons arrive Friday from the East.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Price and two daughters of Roseburg, Ore., visited a few days last week at the W. A. Price home. The latter is a nephew of the former.

The Misses Edna and Ethel Broyles were Hermitian visitors Friday.

L. V. Woodard and family of The Dalles came Saturday and visited until Sunday afternoon at the Highway Inn. Dr. Woodard has returned here to visit the Woodard family after a prolonged stay in The Dalles.

A congenial neighborhood crowd enjoyed a picnic feast at the McCarter ranch Sunday. Those who feasted were the Westons, Bices, Myers, S. L. Beck, Imus and Eck Warrens. Boardman's melons are large, luscious and sweet and as fine as can be raised any place in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price and son Billy were guests at a delightful dinner at the O. H. Warner home on Sunday.

S. L. Beck and family were Hermitian visitors Saturday.

Rev. Swogger and family were guests at the S. H. Boardman home at a lovely dinner on Sunday.

Paul Parlow and family returned last week from a delightful trip to Dallas and other valley points. While down there they canned a great deal of fruit, bringing home about 700 pounds of various kinds in their car. Two of their children, John and Celia, had their tonsils and adenoids removed at Dallas.

Mrs. Sylvester and baby Stanley returned to their home after a two-week's visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. S. Calkins.

Dr. and Mrs. Parish and niece, Mrs. Parish, and Mrs. Nettie Eccles, all of Ogden, Utah, were here Monday after a trip to Camp Lewis and other north-west points. Mrs. Royal Bands accompanied them to Salt Lake and Ogden for a trip. Mrs. Eccles is a sister of Mrs. Bands.

Mrs. Gladys Gibbons and daughter Norma came home Sunday for a few days. They have been at Portland and Menmouth as Mrs. Gibbons is compelled to leave each summer because of hay fever. They will spend the winter at Menmouth. Earl Cramer and son Basil, Mrs. Gibbons and Norma left Tuesday evening. Mrs. Gibbons has rented her little home to Mr. Parlow who will have charge of the Standard Oil Station here, having been transferred from Elgin.

Mrs. Olive M. Wilson of Milton, the primary teacher for the coming year, was here last week looking for a location for the winter. She has a son 16 years of age, who will enter school here.

Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Lewis spent the week end in The Dalles, returning Monday on 21. They visited Mrs. Lewis' parents at The Dalles.

Mrs. Mary Hilt of Freewater visited her daughter, Mrs. Royal Bands, last week.

Briece Dillahaugh took a load of produce over to the west country again last Friday.

Mrs. Amanda Chase and daughter Liene of Ogden, Utah, visited at the Royal Bands home last week. They were on their way to Portland.

Sophie Melford returned home after a week's visit at Olex with her sister, Mrs. Albert Macomber. Russell Melford returned to Olex with the Macomers to spend a week.

Jean Montgomery has returned to her home at Mt. Hood after a visit at the E. Bands home.

A new register was purchased for the Highway Inn and is rapidly being filled with hieroglyphics which an Egyptologist would have difficulty in deciphering. Some of the cognomens which we were able to interpret were Capt. and Mrs. T. E. Stone of Austin, Texas, Captain Stover is a World War veteran still in active service at the Texas barracks.

The Misses Dorothy and Helen Boardman and Grace Rasmussen of Hillsboro were dinner guests at the O. H. Warner home on Tuesday evening.

A. B. McDole, who sells McCannons' Remedies, was a visitor at the Inn, as was C. Harrison and C. L. Lave, both of Entropy, W. A. Higgins and James Fuller of Moro had a breakdown and were forced to remain over night. J. A. Hunter and family of Diamondville, Wyo., were registered, as were C. Porter and family of Lewiston, Ida. Salt Lake was repre-ented by Mr. and Mrs. Clarence McCannan and Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Latham were on a fishing trip. H. A. Richards, who was in the jewelry business for a long time at Castle Rock, Wash., and who retired to enjoy farm life in Idaho, was a guest. Grace Elsie Broyles is at the Walter Knauft home until her mother's return.

Prof. C. M. Beardsley arrived Monday to get things in shape for the opening of school. He is from Waverly, Wash. He is a man of pleasing personality and we are hoping for an excellent school year.

Ralph Davis left Wednesday for Portland, where he will remain for a day and then go on to Denver and East Portland, Col., to visit his wife and family and an aunt and uncle. Mrs. Davis and son will accompany him home the early part of September, as Junior will enter the primary room this fall.

Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Price and son and Mrs. O. H. Warner motored to Hermitian Thursday.

Messrs. Farnsworth and Wells of Hermitian, the latter county assessor, and Mr. Walpole of Irrigon, were Boardman visitors Tuesday.

Mrs. Frank Doney, sister of Mrs. Bob Wilson, has rented the Fred Edwards house.

A demonstration for poultry culling was held Wednesday at the Chas. Dillon ranch for the benefit of those interested in raising poultry, by H. E. Crosby of O. A. C. The proper method of culling, the way to tell which pullet will pay for her board and room and which one would be merely a "star boarder" were explained. The birds separated into the various pens according to their laying propensities, by Mr. Crosby.

The Ladies Aid met at the church Wednesday afternoon. Routine business was transacted. It was missionary day and the topics were of interest and ably handled by the leaders.

Mr. Wheelhouse and Mr. Storey of the Arlington bank, and Mr. Snell of the garage at Arlington, were Boardman visitors Tuesday, looking things over and sizing up business conditions.

We are very glad to report that Ray Brown who has been ill with typhoid at The Dalles hospital is convalescing and it is thought the crisis is past. His temperature has remained normal since Sunday. Mrs. Brown was down Sunday to see her husband and also to take another shot of serum as a preventative of typhoid.

If we were to give the entire list of tourists who are at the camp grounds these balmy evenings it would fill a column, but selected at random from the greatest distances were the following: C. G. Mahgrim of Chicago, who was on his way to the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

CECIL

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mrs. O. H. Warner received a box of fresh figs from her daughter, Mrs. John Beck of Redding, Calif., last week which she generously distributed among her friends. Many had never seen a fresh fig before and nearly everyone thought they were prunes.

J. Skoubo received word from his wife that her father, having passed away at his home in Denmark after many months of illness. Mrs. Skoubo has been visiting at her home since early this spring.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Krebs and sons and John Krebs of the Last Camp, Mrs. F. Lindsey of Ione, Marcellus Van Schoick of Arlington, Mr. and Mrs. L. L. Park and daughter Miss Geraldine of the Curtis outside, Mr. and Mrs. Roy E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona, were all picnicking in Irrigon on Sunday. They all declared there is no place on earth so good as Irrigon for fine tasting watermelons.

Cecil has been visited from August 9 to August 11 with all kinds of variations of weather. Early part of the week had registered 95 degrees. For several days an almost impenetrable blanket of smoke covered the Mecca of all tourists, Los Angeles, E. Burton and family of Belingham, were overnight visitors as were G. Kayette of Winnipeg, Can., Leland Trueblood of Bradish, Neb., J. S. Hadsbeck or Midwest, Wyo., P. F. Wray from Fairfield, Mo., Mervin Branton of Erskine, Md., Geo. Moriarity of Detroit, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Stauffer in a Harley-Davidson motorcycle were there one evening.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Dunson and family were calling in Cecil on Wednesday. R. E. has no time to satisfy those days especially while exhibiting his new honey signs on his truck.

Miss Gladys Medlock of Rockville left on Saturday with her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Webb, for their home in Walla Walla where Miss Gladys will visit for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Stender and daughter Miss Gloria of Sedwona and Mr. and Mrs. Wate Crawford and children of Ella were Hermitian visitors during the week.

C. W. Troobson and party of friends of Ella were doing the sights of Cecil on Sunday after shipping cream on the local to the Portland cannery.

Mrs. Jack Hynd arrived at Buttery Flats on Tuesday after spending several days with friends in Portland and other valley points.

E. C. Hertinger, district manager of the Northern Life Assurance Co. of La Grande, was calling in Cecil vicinity on Wednesday.

Frances Sherrard and party of friends from Pleasant View ranch near the hills were calling in Cecil on Thursday.

E. Cool of Athlone cottage, accompanied by Miss Dolores Crowell of the Sullivan ranch, was calling in Cecil on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Strecher and family of Cecil spent Saturday with Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardisty at Morgan.

Mrs. Roy Scott and daughter Miss Cora of Freewater, spent Saturday with Mrs. T. H. Lowe at Cecil.

Head of University Answers Summons

(Continued from First Page)

In poetry, and contributed to the Boston Transcript. This literary interest led him to seek a place as a reporter on the Kansas City Star, and as an interim in his college course he spent a year on the staff before his return to Harvard for his last year.

On the Star he wrote a good deal of promotional material for the creation of boulevards and parks, a work in which the newspaper always had been interested. He covered assignments ranging all the way from police reporting to grand opera. Returning to Menmouth after obtaining his Harvard degree in 1896, he became a member of the faculty.

His marriage to Miss Eugenia J. Zieher, daughter of A. Zieher and Mrs. Charlotte Zieher of Forest Grove, took place in September, 1897. The daughter of this marriage, Mrs. Lucia Henderson is a resident of Baxter Springs, Kansas. Mrs. Eugenia Campbell died four years after her marriage. President Campbell married Susan A. Church of San Francisco, the present Mrs. Campbell, August 23, 1900.

In 1891, a year following the election of Prince L. Campbell to the presidency, the school and property were deeded to the state free of all debt by the trustees, and the life of the institution as a state normal school began with more than a hundred students enrolled. By 1899 the number of students had increased to 200, and the state made its first appropriation to the normal, the legislature voting funds for the construction of a new building at a cost of $10,000. He was called to the presidency of the University of Oregon in 1901.

Since the year Dr. Campbell became president of the University of Oregon he had made steady gains, both in student enrollment, equipment, and character of teaching personnel. Never has the enrollment shown a falling off in the last twenty-three years, each year showing an advance over the previous year. Notable achievements scholastically have been made by the university under his regime, until now it is recognized as among the leading state institutions in the country.

President Campbell came to the University following a period of administrative strife and turmoil. The two persons who had preceded him were Frank Strong and Charles H. Chapman. In 1902 the University made an appeal for consistency in the state and President Campbell was better qualified for the responsibility than an outsider. An outside world would have been under obvious disadvantages, and the board of regents naturally would have been executive at Menmouth who had already made his mark as an educator.

President Campbell was thoroughly acquainted with educational conditions in the state. In fact, the chair in education had been filled by Dr. H. D. Sheldon, now chairman of the University administrative committee and dean of the school of education.

There were fewer than 250 students enrolled when President Campbell took up the executive duties at Eugene. There were approximately 3,000 regular students. Externals, correspondence-study, and summer students bring the total well above 6,000.

"During the first years of his service to the University the institution faced many problems and solved many difficulties," said Dean John Straub, in commenting on President Campbell's early work.

"Unquestionably, the University would not be where it is today had it not been for the valiant service Dr. Campbell gave as President.

"By his tact and foresight, he overcame all obstacles which hindered the growth and progress of the university. He was a man of sterling integrity and the highest sense of duty. He steadily refused to justify the means by the end, preferring at all times to fight honestly for the progress of the university. No man in the state was more beloved by the students and by the children of Prince L. Campbell.

When President Strong resigned in 1902 to become chancellor of the University of Kansas, the University of Oregon consisted of the liberal arts college, the school of engineering in Eugene, and the schools of law and medicine in Portland. Under President Campbell's administration strong schools and departments were added. The school of music was created in 1905, the school of education in 1910, the school of journalism, 1912, architecture and allied arts, and business administration, 1914, sociology, 1920, and physical education, 1921. In response to a demand from all over the state for extension work and for metropolitan classes, the extension division, including the department of Correspondence, was established in 1907.

President Campbell organized the Portland Center in 1917, and established the school which has been operating as a night school since 1884 in Portland, was discontinued there and established on a regular academic basis at Eugene. The school of medicine and its work was always close to his heart, and he sought always to develop and strengthen it. He viewed health as a state problem, with the schools of medicine and physical education contributing to better general health of Oregon citizens and to advanced scientific research looking toward the conquest of specific diseases. The school of physical education is his particular contribution envisaged as a part of a general health movement.

In the spring and summer of 1918, after the officers training corps had been established at Eugene, President Campbell assisted in organizing the emergency council on education, which brought together in one working unit the leading national associations of education. This has since been the American Council of Education, while in Washington he came into close contact with important researches undertaken by many of the federal branches.

President Campbell returned to Eugene imbued with the feeling that the higher institutions of learning must make further contributions to the special lines, particularly in the sciences. Scientific research by faculty and advanced students received an impetus, and the graduate school became more prominent.

By his tact and foresight, he overcame all obstacles which hindered the growth and progress of the university. He was a man of sterling integrity and the highest sense of duty. He steadily refused to justify the means by the end, preferring at all times to fight honestly for the progress of the university. No man in the state was more beloved by the students and by the children of Prince L. Campbell.

When President Strong resigned in 1902 to become chancellor of the University of Kansas, the University of Oregon consisted of the liberal arts college, the school of engineering in Eugene, and the schools of law and medicine in Portland. Under President Campbell's administration strong schools and departments were added. The school of music was created in 1905, the school of education in 1910, the school of journalism, 1912, architecture and allied arts, and business administration, 1914, sociology, 1920, and physical education, 1921. In response to a demand from all over the state for extension work and for metropolitan classes, the extension division, including the department of Correspondence, was established in 1907.

President Campbell organized the Portland Center in 1917, and established the school which has been operating as a night school since 1884 in Portland, was discontinued there and established on a regular academic basis at Eugene. The school of medicine and its work was always close to his heart, and he sought always to develop and strengthen it. He viewed health as a state problem, with the schools of medicine and physical education contributing to better general health of Oregon citizens and to advanced scientific research looking toward the conquest of specific diseases. The school of physical education is his particular contribution envisaged as a part of a general health movement.

In the spring and summer of 1918, after the officers training corps had been established at Eugene, President Campbell assisted in organizing the emergency council on education, which brought together in one working unit the leading national associations of education. This has since been the American Council of Education, while in Washington he came into close contact with important researches undertaken by many of the federal branches.

President Campbell returned to Eugene imbued with the feeling that the higher institutions of learning must make further contributions to the special lines, particularly in the sciences. Scientific research by faculty and advanced students received an impetus, and the graduate school became more prominent.

By his tact and foresight, he overcame all obstacles which hindered the growth and progress of the university. He was a man of sterling integrity and the highest sense of duty. He steadily refused to justify the means by the end, preferring at all times to fight honestly for the progress of the university. No man in the state was more beloved by the students and by the children of Prince L. Campbell.

When President Strong resigned in 1902 to become chancellor of the University of Kansas, the University of Oregon consisted of the liberal arts college, the school of engineering in Eugene, and the schools of law and medicine in Portland. Under President Campbell's administration strong schools and departments were added. The school of music was created in 1905, the school of education in 1910, the school of journalism, 1912, architecture and allied arts, and business administration, 1914, sociology, 1920, and physical education, 1921. In response to a demand from all over the state for extension work and for metropolitan classes, the extension division, including the department of Correspondence, was established in 1907.

President Campbell organized the Portland Center in 1917, and established the school which has been operating as a night school since 1884 in Portland, was discontinued there and established on a regular academic basis at Eugene. The school of medicine and its work was always close to his heart, and he sought always to develop and strengthen it. He viewed health as a state problem, with the schools of medicine and physical education contributing to better general health of Oregon citizens and to advanced scientific research looking toward the conquest of specific diseases. The school of physical education is his particular contribution envisaged as a part of a general health movement.

In the spring and summer of 1918, after the officers training corps had been established at Eugene, President Campbell assisted in organizing the emergency council on education, which brought together in one working unit the leading national associations of education. This has since been the American Council of Education, while in Washington he came into close contact with important researches undertaken by many of the federal branches.

President Campbell returned to Eugene imbued with the feeling that the higher institutions of learning must make further contributions to the special lines, particularly in the sciences. Scientific research by faculty and advanced students received an impetus, and the graduate school became more prominent.

By his tact and foresight, he overcame all obstacles which hindered the growth and progress of the university. He was a man of sterling integrity and the highest sense of duty. He steadily refused to justify the means by the end, preferring at all times to fight honestly for the progress of the university. No man in the state was more beloved by the students and by the children of Prince L. Campbell.

When President Strong resigned in 1902 to become chancellor of the University of Kansas, the University of Oregon consisted of the liberal arts college, the school of engineering in Eugene, and the schools of law and medicine in Portland. Under President Campbell's administration strong schools and departments were added. The school of music was created in 1905, the school of education in 1910, the school of journalism, 1912, architecture and allied arts, and business administration, 1914, sociology, 1920, and physical education, 1921. In response to a demand from all over the state for extension work and for metropolitan classes, the extension division, including the department of Correspondence, was established in 1907.

President Campbell organized the Portland Center in 1917, and established the school which has been operating as a night school since 1884 in Portland, was discontinued there and established on a regular academic basis at Eugene. The school of medicine and its work was always close to his heart, and he sought always to develop and strengthen it. He viewed health as a state problem, with the schools of medicine and physical education contributing to better general health of Oregon citizens and to advanced scientific research looking toward the conquest of specific diseases. The school of physical education is his particular contribution envisaged as a part of a general health movement.

In the spring and summer of 1918, after the officers training corps had been established at Eugene, President Campbell assisted in organizing the emergency council on education, which brought together in one working unit the leading national associations of education. This has since been the American Council of Education, while in Washington he came into close contact with important researches undertaken by many of the federal branches.

President Campbell returned to Eugene imbued with the feeling that the higher institutions of learning must make further contributions to the special lines, particularly in the sciences. Scientific research by faculty and advanced students received an impetus, and the graduate school became more prominent.

By his tact and foresight, he overcame all obstacles which hindered the growth and progress of the university. He was a man of sterling integrity and the highest sense of duty. He steadily refused to justify the means by the end, preferring at all times to fight honestly for the progress of the university. No man in the state was more