

Local Happenings

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Miller arrived home this week from a visit to Albany and other points in the Willamette valley. Their little grandsons, Kenneth Jones, who was badly cut by being thrown into the windshield of the car when the machine was struck by another auto on the highway in the vicinity of Albany, is reported to be getting along all right. The little fellow had an eye penetrated by glass and an ear nearly severed from his head. It was feared that the sight of the eye was destroyed, but this proved not to be the case and he will recover from the effects of the cuts without permanent injury. The accident somewhat delayed the return of Mr. and Mrs. Miller.

Grand Chancellor Jay Upton, who was to have made Doris Lodge No. 20 of this city an official visit on Tuesday evening, was unable to reach Heppner in time to meet with the Knights. He was traveling by car from Bend and had all kinds of tire trouble on the way, and he reached Heppner about ten o'clock, after the lodge had adjourned. This was a keen disappointment to the members of Doris lodge as they had looked forward to this visit of the grand chancellor with a good deal of pleasure. Mr. Upton went on to other points Wednesday.

Wilbur Browning and wife of Wallville, Wash., and Mr. and Mrs. Roy Furnish of Corvallis, Ore., were here on Friday on their return from a visit to the Round-Up at Pendleton. Mr. Furnish is a brother of Mrs. Browning. Mr. Browning was formerly in the garage business at Heppner, but for the past couple of years has been living at Wallville where he is working for a big lumbering company and caring for their engines in the mills.

Mr. and Mrs. James Warden of Redfield, South Dakota, old-time friends in that state of Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mahoney, spent several days visiting with the Mahoney family here last week, and with them went to Pendleton on Saturday to take in the Round-Up. Mr. and Mrs. Warden are on their way to southern California to spend the winter.

Three boys down from Heppner for the final days of the Round-Up are Wesley Brookhouser, Marvin Brown and Eldon Gregg. Upon having trouble with the light on their car last night, they left it on the highway between Pilot Rock and Pendleton, and had the misfortune of having a new tire stolen off one wheel.—Pendleton E. O.

Andrew Olsen, Lester Doolittle and Martin Reid went into the timber on Saturday night in quest of their portion of the buck deer herd. Olsen was the successful hunter and landed a buck, making his quota for the season. Mr. Reid and Pete Shively went out on Monday, returning Tuesday. We did not hear what success they had.

Charles Cox, young son of Mr. and Mrs. W. Claude Cox, who underwent an operation at the Heppner surgical hospital some ten days ago for appendicitis, is reported by his physician, Dr. Johnston, to be getting along fine and should be able to return home in a day or two.

Mrs. W. P. Mahoney and son Kenneth arrived home on Thursday evening last from their visit to Spokane and Bonners Ferry, Idaho. They were accompanied by Mrs. Florine Ruddle of Bonners Ferry who has been visiting here during the week.

Jasper Crawford is spending the weeks with relatives and friends in from Eugene on Thursday evening last. He expects to return to the college city and resume his studies at the University in the department of journalism.

Pat Riley, extensive flockmaster of Antelope, has been spending several days in Heppner awaiting the arrival here of a bunch of sheep that he will deliver for shipment on the 28th. Mr. Riley has been ranging his sheep on the Umatilla forest south of Parkers Mill for the summer.

Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Olden spent a few hours in the city on Monday from their home near Fairview. Relatives of Mrs. Olden were visitors at their home during the past week, these being Mrs. I. T. Wood, a sister from Gresham, and W. H. Hayden, a brother from Portland.

Mrs. Dossa Copenhaver departed on Friday for Portland and from there she will go on to Monmouth this week to enter the State Normal for the fall and winter terms. Mrs. Copenhaver was a successful teacher in this county during the past school year.

Elra Hayes, who now makes his home in Portland, was a visitor here yesterday, being on his return home from taking in the Round-Up at Pendleton the end of the past week. It has been several years since Elra visited the old home town.

Phillip Mahoney spent the past week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. P. Mahoney in this city. He departed on Sunday on his return to Seattle where he will continue his studies as a student at the University of Washington.

Troy Bogard, who for a number of years past has been farming about three miles northeast of Ione, has given up that place and removed to Eight Mile, where he will have charge of the Claus Johnson place in Democrat Gulch.

D. C. Gurdane and son Berl drove in from Pendleton on Tuesday evening where they spent a week or ten days. From here they will drive on to Portland.

Misses Elizabeth Huston and Evelyn Humphreys departed on Friday to resume their studies as students at the University of Oregon.

C. N. Jones and family have returned home from a visit of a couple of weeks with relatives and friends in the Willamette valley.

Roy Her, wife and daughter drove in from Portland on Tuesday and are enjoying a visit with the home folks this week-end.

Mrs. Chester Darbee departed on Monday for Portland, expecting to spend several days this week in the city.

Oscar Edwards is in Portland this week to take in the big doings of the supreme assembly of Odd Fellows, an occasion he will enjoy to the limit.

LEXINGTON

Miss Stella Roule, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mike Roule who live in the vicinity of Ione, was married recently at Oregon City to Aubrey Cutsforth, son of T. W. Cutsforth. Miss Roule is known to all of her acquaintances for her many pleasing capabilities and Mr. Cutsforth is recognized as one of Lexington's most industrious young ranchers. They will make their home on the Cutsforth ranch near Morgan. The many friends of Mr. and Mrs. Cutsforth extend sincere wishes for their future prosperity.

Misses Wilma and Opal Leach, accompanied by their guests, Misses Clyne of Boise, Idaho, and Wilcox of Enterprise, Ore., also by Misses Maxine Gentry and Valle Ward of Lexington, drove Friday to Pendleton where they enjoyed the Round-Up on Saturday. The Misses Leach, Ward and Gentry returned to Lexington by way of Heppner on Sunday evening. Misses Clyne and Wilcox left for their homes by rail from Pendleton.

Married, at Eugene, Ore., on Sept. 14th, Miss Cieta Palmateer of near Ione to Ralph McCormick, formerly of Lexington. Miss Palmateer, who attended Lexington high school, was very popular among her classmates. Mr. McCormick is well known in and around Lexington for his many worthy qualities. These young people take with them to their ranch home near Ione the good wishes of a host of Lexington friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Adkins and children, Mrs. Wm. French and daughters were Sunday visitors in Lexington.

Neil White is in Lexington from Ukiah to visit at the home of his mother, Mrs. Sarah White, and to see the Rodeo.

Mrs. Ed Burchell left Friday of the past week for a visit with relatives at Wenatchee, Wash.

MR. BLEAKMAN IS THANKFUL.
Having been a booster for good roads ever since the program for permanent highways was undertaken in Morrow county some six years ago, I desire to thank the voters who so loyally backed the bond issue, which will make it possible to now continue the program along lines that will before many years more give our county one of the best market road systems of any county in the state. To those who opposed the issue, will say that I know they believe in the rule of the majority, and we can look for them, too, to get behind the program for the betterment of our county, and join heartily with the county court in its efforts to carry out the expressed desire of the majority of the citizens who have expressed themselves in favor of this progressive step. Again thanking you all, I am at your service.

G. A. BLEAKMAN,
County Commissioner, Hardman, Ore.

FORMER HEPPNER WOMAN WEDS.
At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Cooley in Pendleton on Wednesday of last week occurred the marriage of Mrs. Anna Spencer, formerly of Heppner to Dr. Virgil C. Belknap of Nampa, Idaho. Rev. Ralph V. Hinkle, rector of the Church of the Redeemer, performed the ceremony. After a short wedding trip to Portland, Mr. and Mrs. Belknap will return to Nampa, where the doctor is a practicing physician.
