Are brains or "buttons" to control in the selection for important offices this year? Are we going to size up the good a man can accomplish for his community and for the state of Oregon, or are we to measure him by the lodge he belongs to? Isn't it really about time that brains and character should be estimated rather than badges and grips?

Strong indignation is expressed by many in Ione over the appointment of the new road master by the county court. Especially is it bad in view of the forthcoming primaries. C. H. Erwin is the appointee. We are reliably informed that he flew into a rage and left Ione because of the passage of a city traffic ordinance which complies with the state law, and moved to Heppner where he said he could park when and where he wished, and turn around whenever he wished. It is said he went to Washington and purchased his auto license and then came back to Oregon and traded his Hudson for a Studebaker and used the Washington tags thru the entire year, and that he swore vengeance against all business men of Ione.

The death of ex-President Wilson takes from the scene one of the most gifted statesmen ever produced in the United States; gifted in historical knowledge, in the ideals underlying the best popular government, in the power of expressing statesmanlike thoughts in classic language, in the ability to impress himself with force upon all policies and agencies that came within his immediate influence. His state papers will be reckoned by historians and by students of all time as some of the ablest ever written. His conduct throughout the war was brilliant and challenged the admiration of the world. His ideals for world peace were grand in conception and purpose, yet he failed through the weakness from which even the greatest suffer—an unwillingness to give subordinates or co-workers any voice in the rounding out of his great schemes. It must be his and his only. This stubbornness proved his political downfall which destroyed his health and ended in his death.

Time will proclaim Mr. Wilson one of the truly great men of the world, but will also recognize his failures and their cause.

Morgan Life

Bob Harbison is again able to attend school since recovering from his sore throat.

Bert Palmetter and F. Ely are engaged on road work.

Kermit and Hazel Edwards of Hood River, are here on a visit to their father and friends.

Bert Palmetter and a crew of men moved and fixed the phone line this week.

The sick folks around Morgan are on the road to good health.

The surprise birthday party given on Fred Pettyjohn last Saturday night was well attended. A midnight lunch was served after which all left wishing him many returns of the day.

The nutrition meeting held in Odd Fellows hall here Feb. 6th, by Miss Smith of O. A. C., was well attended.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Miggelworths and children from The Dalles, are here to visit their relatives, the Pettyjohns, for a few days.

Martin Bauernfiend and Mr. Edwards are sawing wood today.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Ganger spent last Sunday at Pendleton.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express appreciation and gratitude to our friends and neighbors for kindly assistance and sympathy extended at the time of the illness, death and burial of our beloved wife, mother, daughter and sister. Especially do we remember the kindly offices of those who ministered to her during her illness. Words are weak and we can only thank you.

An old maids leap year dance was held near Arlington last week which resulted in several matches being made. It would not be a bad stunt to pull off at Ione in view of the lonesome ones we have with us. It's now or never, with some.
