Patronize Home Industry

Medford Clarion: "People of Oregon are asleep at the Rip Van Winkle switch. What Pied Piper will awaken them? Money sent away, if spent with local dealers, would enable them to carry more goods and sell for less. Larger stocks of goods mean an increased valuation for assessment, thus mutually reducing taxes. Prosperous merchants employ more help, build better homes and purchase local products and commodities."

Ashland Tidings: "The silver dollars and paper bills that are conveyed from your community to the coffers of business in other cities and in other states are reducing the volume of sales and working capital of your city and community."

Sutherlin Sun: "The money spent with your home merchant enables him to enlarge his business, improves property and encourages new industry to locate in the city and furnish employment for many others."

Arlington Bulletin: "People of Oregon have been taught by their newspapers to prefer Oregon Made Goods which in general have earned a reputation of being superior in quality and to be fairly priced."

Higher Penalty for Speeders

The following quotation, from an editorial appearing recently in one of the principal papers of the state, carries a suggestion that is undoubtedly worthy of careful thought and consideration and is given as a matter of information in the event it may not have come to your earlier notice:

"The menace of a mere fine does not deter a speed maniac; the menace of a day in jail does deter. All law-abiding citizens will commend the new effort of Chief Inspector Rafferty, but it can not bring good results except co-operation of the committing magistrates.

"It clearly appears that there should be a general agreement among justices of the peace and police magistrates on a uniform penalty to be imposed regardless of the prominence or obscurity of the offender. A state convention, called for the purpose 'standardizing' the penalty for excessive speeding would prepare the way for permanent reform.

"The weakness of the present law is that a definite limit is set for all highways. This ignores the fact that speeding is a relative rather than an exact offence. Twenty-five miles per hour is a more hazardous speed on certain highways than is forty miles on others. As finally evolved our speed laws should take into consideration conditions and should be aimed to curb careless drivers."—Secretary of State.

The names of LaFollette and Wheeler will appear on the Oregon ballot opposite the names of the electors whose certificates of nomination have been filed with the Secretary of State. This is for the guidance of voters who may not be familiar with the names of all the men selected by the LaFollette forces for electors for the state. This information is given to the state committee by B. A. Green, Portland attorney who prepared the certificates of nomination for the LaFollette electors.—LaFollette Campaign Committee.

Portland Shipping Report

Portland, Ore.—According to the figures compiled by the Traffic Department of the Port of Portland, Oregon, exports of canned goods from Portland during this month of July were particularly heavy for this time of the year. In fact were heavier than for any month during the past two years with the exception of November, 1923.

On July 21st the "Dominion Miller" of the Furness (Pacific) Line cleared from Portland with a cargo of 26,423 cases of canned goods destined for various ports in the United Kingdom. The weight of these canned goods amounted to more than a million pounds which makes it one of the largest cargoes of this commodity ever to leave Portland.

An interesting fact in connection with this cargo was that there were 20,811 cases of canned loganberries included. This is a berry which is peculiar to the Northwest. The demand in the United Kingdom is becoming heavier year by year as the merits of this fruit are becoming known. Besides the loganberries the balance of the canned goods cargo was made up of strawberries and raspberries.

This is the start of the new season pack and space for the United Kingdom for canned goods is scarce. The total movement of canned goods during the month amounted to 2,123,893 pounds of which the entire amount with the exception of 5,000 pounds was delivered to ports in the United Kingdom.

A comparison of this year's business with last year's shows that for the first seven months of 1924 there were shipped nearly 2800 tons compared with 1300 tons during the same period of 1923.

Shipments of all lines of general cargo were heavier from Portland during July, 1924, than

Gas Tax Total Large

To date the motor vehicle fuels tax measures have brought to the state treasury $6,225,681.75

Of the amount collected under the law of 1921 there has been returned up to July 31, 1924, the sum of $171,010.93 to operators of farm tractors, motor boats, commercial cleaning establishments, etc., pursuant to that provision authorizing refunds of taxes on such motor vehicle fuels as are used for purposes other than in the operation of motor vehicles upon the public highways. For the first six months of 1924, gasoline sales reported aggregate 37,823,085 gallons. The total tax paid the state thereon amounts to $1,175,416.93. Motor vehicle fuels taxes are credited to the State Highway Fund, becoming available for expenditure for the construction and maintenance of state highways.—Secretary of State.

Wheat shipments from the Port of Portland during the month of July amounted to 573,179 bushels valued at $656,338. Japan was the heavy buyer taking 233,332 bushels with 209,064 bushels to the United Kingdom and 172,000 bushels to Colon for orders and the balance sent to Belgium and Brazil. Shipments for the first seven months of 1924 amount to 10,499,233 bushels compared with 4,188,805 bushels for the same period in 1923.—Traffic Dept., Port of Portland.

for the same month 1923. Among the items shown is one of doors which shows 527 tons this year compared with 15 tons for the same month of 1923.

Cascara bark shows 216 tons July, 1924, compared with 28 tons for July 1923. The movement of cascara (medicinal bark) is a steady movement from this port to the ports of the United Kingdom, the Continent and Australia.—Traffic Dept., Port of Portland.
