Wilkins Champion Peanut Roller

Bill Wilkins recently paid a freak election bet lost to J. D. Weed, when he rolled a peanut with his nose, along the sidewalk the width of Weed's law office. Wilkins bet John W. Davis would win the presidency, but it was not "in the cards."

Some of the onlookers accuse Bill of working the peanut behind his glasses before he made the start. But others say he fulfilled the terms of the wager with both eyes open, and his nose hitting on all four—Condon Globe-Times.

Origin of the Editor

A little boy was requested to write an essay the other day and "The Newspapers" was his subject. Here is the result: "I don't know how newspapers came to be in the world. I don't think God does either. He ain't got nothin' to say about them, and the editor ain't in the Bible. I think the editor is one of the missing links you hear about, and stayed into the brush until after the flood, then stepped out and wrote it up, and has been here ever since. I don't think he ever dies. I never saw a dead one, and never heard of one getting licked. Our paper is a mighty poor 'un. The editor goes without underclothes all winter, don't wear no sox, and paw hain't paid his subscription in five years and don't expect to.—Exchange.

Church Notes

A coat of plaster has been applied to the walls and ceiling in the basement of the Christian church and has added much to its appearance. Repairs to the plaster of the main auditorium were made at the same time.

The meetings under the direction of pastors Jones and Mortimore have continued through the week with good attendance and marked interest. An interesting feature of these meetings is the answering each evening of questions submitted the evening before. Wednesday evening a short Thanksgiving program was rendered by a group of children under the direction of Miss Mortimore.

Pastor Head of the Congregational church returned Friday from The Dalles where he was in attendance on a fellowship meeting attended by pastors and laymen of Congregational churches in this part of Oregon. He reports a well attended and enthusiastic meeting.

The Dorcas Society of the Congregational church held no meeting this week but are making active preparations for the annual Christmas sale which will be held on the 6th of December in the McMurray building on Main street.

Rev. W. O. Livingstone, wife and daughter were in Ione visiting friends over Thanksgiving.

On Sunday, November 30, an all-day meeting will be held at the Christian church. The Social Committee of the Christian Endeavor Society will be in charge of the fellowship dinner at noon. Members and friends of the church are expected from Heppner and Lexington as well as Ione and vicinity. An afternoon service will be held at 2:30.

Finish carpenters working on the school house have donated several evenings work in fitting the door and window casings in the newly plastered Christian church basement.

Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Mortimore of Echo, Mrs. Grace Dubois and daughter Genevieve, of Adams, and Miss Huldah Tucker were Thanksgiving guests of Paul Mortimore.
