CONGRESS RESUMES AFTER SHORT RECESS

Speedy Action Necessary, as Less Than Ten Weeks Remain Before Adjournment.

Washington, D. C.—The Christmas week recess at an end, congress went back to the grind with house and senate facing legislative tasks that are expected to keep them working at top speed until the close of the present session March 4.

The Muscle Shoals problem, vexing as ever, still has right of way in the senate, which also faces a showdown on the question of sustaining the presidential veto of the postal salaries bill and is pledged before the windup of the session to take action on the Isle of Pines treaty.

On the house side appropriation bills will continue to have priority, with leaders planning also to dispose of the McFadden bank bill and perhaps the rivers and harbors authorization.

The house already has sent three of the dozen annual supply bills to the senate. A fourth—the treasury-postoffice measure, carrying more than three-quarters of a billion dollars and incidentally the largest peacetime appropriation bill in congressional history—will be disposed of this week, clearing the way for the army supply bill, which next will have right of way.

With less than ten weeks remaining before congress must adjourn sine die, leaders recognize the necessity of speeding action on these proposals, and it is expected that the next few weeks will see several of them on their way to the president.

Our Patrons

Our Community at large and happy Patrons—

In helping us make a success in the welfare of conducting and transacting our business throughout the past year we salute, congratulate and thank you all. You have been benefitted and satisfied with a saving on our fuel quotations this past year, at the Farmers Elevator Co. And as the approach of the 1925 New Year which is now in our existence, we realize it is a long time until spring. Duty demands of every man at the head of a family where there is a Dear Wife and Loving Children, to protect and consider their welfare as much as possible. In existence of this New Year there must be fuel to burn to keep the home comfortable and cozy. It's the duty of a Parent to think and consider for his family's welfare as well as his ownself. In conducting such a transaction in a shrewd, business-like manner, you must not be led in blindness. Use your eyes and also your head; it's there, shake it up and you will find it high time to commence your New Years resolutions by investigations in all your business transactions for the coming year. By doing so you will feel grateful to the Farmers Elevator Co., for holding down the fuel prices. We are benefitted by your patronage and we make you a saving for we are a home industry.—Hallick Stenge
