IONE BALL TEAM LOSES CLOSE GAME

Boardman Wins Fast Contest
By a Narrow Margin

The Ione team went to Boardman last Sunday and landed that team a big surprise by holding them to the low score of 3 to 1. The local tossers really played as good a game as their opponents and the fact that they did not return with a victory can be attributed directly to their inability to hit.

One run in on three hits on three fourth on three more bunched hits. Ione scored its tally in the fifth on two safe hits and a scratch.

The Ione club this year is made up mostly of high school boys but nevertheless plays a good brand of ball as is shown by the fact that Boardman defeated the strong Heppner team the week previous by the score of 5 to 4.

Ione is considering a game with Lexington on next Sunday on the local field.

REAL ESTATE CHANGING OWNERS

Another exchange of property involving a valuable Morrow county wheat ranch, took place this week. H. C. Wood local earth merchant, negotiated a trade between A. L. Emmons, of Vancouver, Washington, and H. C. Witzel, of Ione. The Emmons ranch is situated near Vancouver, and is a very valuable piece of property being mostly beaver dam land. Mr. Witzel's ranch consists of 1015 acres is situated two miles east of Morgan, and is considered one of the best ranches in the county.

Mr. Witzel will move his family to their new home about the first of May, but he will stay with us until fall and take the 1925 crop off the ranch.

W. W. Head, Ione, Oregon.
Dear Mr. Head:
Regarding your inquiry last week, will say that up to April 5 $78,404.37 had been received in this County from the State Board of Control on seed loans. Applications that are pending are expected to bring this amount to more than $100,000.00.
Very truly yours,
Roger W. Morse,
County Agent.

NO REASON FOR WHEAT PRICE DROP

H. W. Collins returns from European tour full of Confidence

No reason for such a great decline in the wheat market as has been experienced recently is seen by Henry W. Collins, Pendleton grain man, who after a visit to the leading grain markets of the world, including London, Paris, Liverpool, New York and Chicago says that a 35 cent decline would be explainable but that a 70 cent drop seems unwarranted.

"Some decline was to be expected," said Mr. Collins. "The price was so high that it curtailed consumption. Another contributing cause which had much bearing on the wheat market was found in the heavy shipments afloat, from Australia and Argentina, going to Europe and the continent. This undoubtedly had a bearish effect on the market."

In speaking of world crop prospects, Mr. Collins said that they are not so good. Drouth in India will make the crop poor and the Russian and English prospects are not good.

It is evident that the adjustment will be very close," said Mr. Collins, "and that the carry over will be small. Judging from foreign wheat prospects, early wheat should bring a fair price. But I am speaking of conditions at the present time; they may be much different at harvest time. Canada's crop has a great bearing on the price and what their crop will be is not to be estimated. The estimate for the United States at present is 73 per cent, as compared with the 83 per cent crop prospect at this time last year. The ten year average 83.5 per cent."—East Oregonian.
