

If Results Are Desired

Two Portland policemen were arrested near Cape Horn, Wash., a few days ago on a charge of hijacking. The story is interesting for several reasons. The men were trapped through use of two federal officers who had been asked to join in on the enterprise. They were instructed to feign acquiescence in the plan and to go along. They did so and the erring policeman were caught red handed.

In other words the officers used two federal operatives as "stool pigeons," one might say. What was wrong about that? Nothing that we know of. If law violators are to be caught then officers must be able to use such methods as will suffice, be they after bootleggers, bank robbers or what not. If we expect results we must permit officers to work effectively.

The Cape Horn incident proves the case. Yet, when the same methods are followed in apprehending bootleggers or moonshiners there is often loud complaint. There are newspapers that openly object to the use of "stool pigeons" to catch a booze runner. How do they get that way? Why is the booze runner any better than any other violator?—East Oregonian.

OUR WALTER Respected by Foe, Worshipped by Friend.

Eastern Oregon is proud of Governor Pierce, especially since he lamed the tar out of a bunch of damphool tricksters who tried to job him and the people during the last legislature. Every time you turn Walter loose to himself he rips up the sod tears down the fences, charges headlong into the red flivver and gets himself in bad generally. But whenever a bunch of amateur legislators, or even a bunch of old time cow hands in the political game make an attempt to rope, tie and brand Walter, they simply make a concentrated target for this abundant energy, and Old Walter emerges from the statehouse corral, unbranded, victorious and with the cheers from the gallery.—Arlington Bulletin.

Cut Machinery Cost In Half

The man who leaves his machines in the fields is paying, by depreciation, for an implement shed, but not getting the shed.

You can cut your machinery cost in half by prolonging its life and usefulness. You can double the life of an implement by putting it under cover as soon as you are through using it.

The cost of an implement shed to protect $2,000.00 worth of machinery is only a fraction of that sum.

We have many excellent implement shed plans to show you, and we have the right material to build just the kind and size building you require. Do not make the mistake of building before you examine our up-to-date implement shed plans, we will be glad to have you call and examine them, whether you are building now or later.
