Named From Wreckers' Trick

Nags Head, N. C. is a historical and romantic spot on the Atlantic ocean, abreast of Roanoke island and 45 miles southeast of Elizabeth City. Nags Head got its name from the tricks of the wreckers of the olden days. One of these practical people conceived the idea of tying a lantern to the head of a horse whose legs were fettered with hobbles. And as he limped up and down the beach, the storm-tossed mariner out at sea, taking the light for that of a ship, sailing in safety, would hold up his helm for what he thought the calmer waters inside, and would eventually find himself upon the treacherous sands of the coast.—Detroit News.

How Times Change

A good story was told by Rev. Dr. Black at the Edinburgh section of the Scottish Burns club on the occasion of the annual dinner. Doctor Black, on going to the punch in a country Kirk, was asked by the beadle, "Ha' ye your sermon written?" When the reverend gentleman replied that he had, the beadle exclaimed, "I'm rale glad, because when thae folk come w' a paper, ye ken they'll stop when that stops; but when they ha'e nae paper ava' the Almichty Himsel' dlena ken when they're likely tae feenish." Not so long ago the written sermon was a stigma to the Scotchman.—London Post.

Land of Thirst

The Bechuanaland protectorate of South Africa lies principally in the Kalahari desert—the "Great Thirst Land." Very little of this huge area has been explored, although the rail way from Kimberley to Rhodesia skirts its eastern edge. There is no "housing question" in Bechuanaland. A native hut is often merely a few boughs pushed into the ground and bent at the top, over which old sacks and rags are thrown. Cooking is a simple matter. Meat is cooked over an open fire and meal cakes are baked on hot stones.

LEXINGTON ECHOES

A surprise planned and carried out in honor of the birth day of Mr. T. H. Nichols was the happy occasion for the reunion of a number of friends and relatives on Thursday evening, November the fifth.

About seven o'clock guests to the number of twenty bearing a handsome birth day cake in their midst; took possession of the Nichols home and in memory of "Days O' Auld Lang Syne" gave Mr. Nichols a never to be forgotten evening. Mrs. Nichols served dainty refreshments to the guests and they departing at a late hour voiced their appreciation for the gracious reception tendered by Mr. and Mrs. Nichols and Grandma Thompson, mother of Mrs. Nichols.

Karl Beach was a Heppner visitor on Monday. He was accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Ira Lewis.

Miss Zella Hughs of Heppner spent Wednesday in Lexington with Miss Mabel Wright.

Been So a Long Time

The popularity of June as a month for marriage is inherited from the Greeks and Romans. The goddess Juno, to whom the month was dedicated, was the patroness of marriage.

Lexington vs Athens

It was a stubborn fight last Sunday when Lexington's town team met Athens's town team on Athenas field, Lexington's jaw was set, Athens's jaw was set. A battle of the strong it was, clean and fair from start to finish with not a chance for either eleven to make a score. Russell Wright, Lexington's full-back met with a painful injury to his ankle. He expects however to be able to play a final game with Athens at Pendleton next Sunday.

Lexington's lineup at Athens is as follows:

Right end	Loyal Parker
... tackle	Carl Allen
... guard	Ted McMillen
Center	Juege Carmichael
Left end	Max Muller
... tackle	Unc McMillen
... guard	Clarence Bowman
Quarter back	Paul Wright
Full back	Russell Nichols
Right half	Lewis Alley
Left half	Lester White
Subs.	Paul Morey, John Miller and Phil Guyer.

Boost the Bank that Boosts HOME INTERESTS

When it comes to a choice between home-folks and outsiders home folks come first. Isn't that the way you feel about it?

This is a home institution. We are working for the good of our community, for the prosperity and development of this section, and for the individual welfare of our friends and neighbors. That has always been our policy and always will be our policy.

For that reason we like to see the money that's earned here, spent here and circulated here for the benefit of local interests.

The resources of this bank represent the deposits of those who transact business with us. And the more use they make of our facilities and the more they cooperate with us the greater service we are enabled to render them in return.
